EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said act cannot be served, the deposit specified in rule 55 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws had employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury for which he is detained by the immigration officer in charge at the port of debarkation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board any vessel after it has been ordered by such immigration officer to remain on board for further examination by the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the time remains subject, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been duly admitted to the United States on board any vessel as a member thereof, shall be primâ facie evidence of a failure to detain on board such vessel such alien seaman if he was reported by the master of such vessel as a member, shall be primâ facie evidence of a failure to detain such alien seaman if he was reported on manifest required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, but such shall not be conclusive.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be assessed against the vessel if the expense of the deportation is defrayed by such transportation officer or the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 583) shall not be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, their nationality, last permanent residence, and destination, whether they have been in the United States before the date of such arrival, and if so, how long and where they have been employed, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they have been previously refused admission to the United States or deported, and if so, why, whether they are coming to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, whether they have been in contact with any contagious disease, and if so, what disease, whether they have been in a hospital or institution for the insane, and if so, which, whether they are deformed or crippled, and if so, how deformed or crippled, whether they are polygamists, whether they believe in the practice of polygamy, whether they are in possession of $50 and if less than $50 the amount they have in their possession up to but not exceeding $50, and whether they have a ticket through to their destination, and whether they have been assisted in coming by any person or corporation, society, or government, and if so, what person or corporation, society, or government, and such other questions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The said lists shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure for the United States as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to the approval of the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose, and shall be kept in such form and manner as may be prescribed by him, and shall contain such additional information pertaining to each alien listed therein as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; and a true copy of said lists certified by the master, commanding officer, first officer, or purser of the vessel shall be delivered by the master, commanding officer, first officer, or purser of the vessel to the immigration officer at each port in the United States at which the vessel shall touch, and another true copy of said lists certified as aforesaid shall be delivered by the master, commanding officer, first officer, or purser of the vessel to the immigration officer at the port last touched before departure from the foreign port for the United States. The failure to comply with the provisions of this section by the master, commanding officer, first officer, or purser of the vessel shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true copy is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, but in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid: not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 528) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel, arranged in the manner and form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, as to the aliens entitled to admission to the United States and those not entitled to admission, and specifying those who are to be landed at the port of arrival; to report to the proper immigration officer, at such port, the illness or injury of any alien member of the crew occurring while in port; to detain on board or at quarantine all aliens who are ill with any contagious disease; to report the sickness or death of any alien member of the crew occurring while in port or while en route to the first port of arrival in the United States; to deliver to the proper immigration officer at such port a complete list containing the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from the vessel at that port, and the cause or causes for such discharge; and to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a complete list containing the names of all alien members of the crew who have been employed from the time of the arrival of the vessel at the last port before the departure of such vessel from the United States, together with such other information concerning the same as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States a complete list containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel at the time of departure, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel at any port in the United States a complete list containing the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from such vessel at any port or place in the United States, or who refuses or fails to report, detain, or deliver any alien member of the crew as required by the provisions of this section, or who refuses or fails to pay the tax imposed by this section, or who refuses or fails to comply with the provisions of this section relating to the manifesting and reporting of alien members of the crew, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deposit on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every such fine or alien seaman who may not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from which he is to depart, or who may have been discharged from such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be finally chargeable against such vessel until such expense has been paid to its payment ascertained to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deposit on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every such fine or alien seaman who may not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from which he is to depart, or who may have been discharged from such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be finally chargeable against such vessel until such expense has been paid to its payment ascertained to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the fine provided by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been paid, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said act, namely, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 598) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival their counterpart certificates of registry and the crew list, and to report to such officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who are still employed thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of the cause or reason for each departure. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, or who shall make, knowingly or negligently, any false statement in any such list, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such false statement is made, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and in the event such alien is landed, while it remains during his stay in the United States, in addition to the penalty above provided, a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, to be recovered as hereinafter provided.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and no fees shall be charged for such lists. Provided, That clearance may be granted upon receipt of the deposit specified in rule 53 para 2 when:

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shore leave granted solely for humane reasons or for such period as may be necessary to secure the departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has investigated such seaman (which investigation in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who lands or deports such seaman on board other such vessel without having secured a permit so to do from such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Fact that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, is prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman in a case in which he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seamen by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of new cause not in existence at the time of the vessel's last departure from the United States, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for the inspection of the vessel by the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest must be delivered to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, or, if no inspector boards the vessel, to the collector of customs at the port of arrival. Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who refuses to deliver the list or manifest required by this section to the proper officer shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year.

Any master or commanding officer who fails to deliver the list or manifest within the time prescribed by this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each day such list or manifest is delayed after the time prescribed for its delivery, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the master or commanding officer has used due diligence in complying with the requirements of this section.

Any master or commanding officer who knowingly and willfully delivers to the immigrant inspector a false list or manifest, or who knowingly and willfully refuses to deliver a list or manifest when required so to do, or who knowingly and willfully refuses to allow the immigrant inspector to board the vessel for the purpose of inspection, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe, and after the arrival of such vessel it employs by such immigration officer at the port of arrival and the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment or such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment or such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the deposit with the collector of customs of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(b) Proof shall be considered sufficient to cover such fine, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, when the certificate of the master of such vessel as to the shipping and discharge of alien seamen has been indorsed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States from a foreign contiguous territory by the immigration officer at the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived will be unduly expensive or impracticable, such alien seamen may be permitted to land temporarily pending arrangements for their deportation, but such permission to land shall not relieve the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel from the payment of the fine provided for in this section, and no vessel upon which any alien seaman has been permitted to land temporarily shall be granted clearance until such fine has been paid or sufficient bond given to insure payment thereof.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members of crews (Form 598) shall not be examined on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "motorman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged or shipped, and specifying those who do not have a bona fide intention to become citizens of the United States, and also the names of those who are in possession of valid passports issued from the Department of State or the diplomatic representative of the country to which they belong, and the purposes for which they were issued. Such lists shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival in duplicate, and shall be sworn to before a United States immigration officer or other officer authorized to administer oaths by the master, purser, or other officer of the vessel, and shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses to deliver to such officer a true list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, or who knowingly lands or permits to be landed from any such vessel, before the examination of such aliens, except as provided by this section, any alien employed thereon at the time of the vessel's departure from any foreign port or place, or who knowingly lands or permits to be landed from any such vessel any alien employed thereon who were not employed thereon at the time of the vessel's arrival, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was employed on board such vessel under force of circumstances over which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer had no control, or that such alien entered the service of such vessel in good faith before the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place, or who knowingly conceals, harbors, or secretes on board such vessel any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, upon the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel, cancel the lists required by this section in respect of any alien employed on board such vessel at the time of her departure from a foreign port or place, and such alien shall not be entitled to demand or receive from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel any sum of money or other consideration whatsoever in addition to the regular wages agreed upon between such alien and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and any such sum of money or other consideration so demanded or received shall be recoverable by suit or action from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, one-half of the amount so recovered to be paid to the person bringing such suit or action and the remaining one-half to be paid into the Treasury of the United States: Provided further, That the master of any such vessel shall have the right to demand and receive from any such alien, before the payment of any such extra wages, the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a true report is not made as above required, and the payment of such sum to the master shall be a full discharge to the person making the same from any claim or demand on account of the wages of such alien: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall not be entitled to the benefit of the provisions of this section unless he shall, at the time of the departure of such vessel from any foreign port or place, have on board such vessel, in addition to the crew, destined for the United States, at least one seaman for every fifteen persons, other than cabin passengers, carried on such vessel: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, exempt vessels carrying passengers only, touching at ports in the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to foreign ports, from the provisions of this section requiring seamen to be carried in addition to the crew.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 3. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines required by section 35 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been paid, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 36 of said Act, and not then if a fine has been imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for such other reasons as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor from time to time, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the administration of this section.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall, before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such seaman (which immunity in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), furnish and have inspected such seaman on board the vessel such immunity certificate or bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such seaman has been treated in accordance with the provisions of the medical certificate, removed, or otherwise disposed of in accordance with the provisions of this section, or that adequate provision has been made therefor, or that such seaman is not a member of the crew, and has been approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that such an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on board such vessel for departure.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman in respect of time, the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is hereby authorized to permit the landing temporarily of such alien seaman upon the giving of a suitable bond, with sufficient surety, in such sum and upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien seaman on board such vessel for departure.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman in respect of time, the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is hereby authorized to permit the landing temporarily of such alien seaman upon the giving of a suitable bond, with sufficient surety, in such sum and upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(f) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of arrival any such alien seaman, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any such alien seaman when ordered so to do by such officer, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the fine imposed by this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(g) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall land or permit to be landed any alien seaman, except in case of sickness, injury, or accident, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(h) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(i) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(j) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(k) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(l) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(m) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(n) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(o) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(p) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(q) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(r) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(s) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(t) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(u) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(v) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(w) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(x) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States any alien seaman duly entered on the vessel's articles, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness. Any alien seaman (whether in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien shall have given his written permission to such alien seaman to land for temporary medical treatment or because of illness.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than in transit across the Canadian or Mexican borders in immediate and continuous passage for the purpose of leaving the United States) who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10.12,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall depart after redetainment by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be limited clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list checked below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delayed upon the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 257) shall not be destroyed or delayed, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens, including the members of the crew, on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each such alien, and where any such alien has been examined and admitted to a visa, the number and place of issuance of the immigration visa; and it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel to deliver to each such alien, before leaving the vessel, a card containing a legible statement of the name of such alien, the date of his admission, the name of the vessel in which he arrived, and such other information regarding his admission as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and before the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to each immigration officer in whose district it is intended to land any alien not shown in the lists required by this section to be delivered to such officer, the additional number of such aliens, and the reasons for their detention. Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to the payment of the fine imposed by this section, or while any such fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(b) Every alien in addition to the aliens described in subdivision (a) of this section who may be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be subject to a head tax of $8, to be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located (or to any person designated by him to collect such tax) at the time of the arrival of the vessel bringing such alien, except that no such tax shall be collected in respect of any alien who is in transit through the United States to a foreign country, and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has actually gone in transit to such foreign country, and that he entered the United States solely for the purpose of such transit, and who has been in the United States not more than ten days prior to the commencement of his journey in transit. Every such alien shall be deported in the same manner as provided by law for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after their entry into the United States, unless the payment of the tax imposed by this section was required at the time of the entry of such alien, or unless such alien entered the United States under the terms of a bond given as provided in subdivision (c) of this section. Nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting the admission of any alien who would be excluded under any other provision of this Act. Any head tax erroneously collected and paid under this section shall be refunded if application therefor is made to the Secretary of Labor within one year from the date of payment. All head taxes collected under this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and be used in defraying the expenses of the administration of the immigration laws, including the administration of the provisions relating to the deportation of aliens, under the supervision of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) Any alien who has been admitted to the United States under a bond conditioned for the payment of a head tax imposed by this section, or who has been granted an extension of time within which to depart voluntarily from the United States without the payment of such tax, and who shall fail to depart from the United States within the time limited, or any extension thereof, shall be deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and the bond shall be prosecuted for the amount of the head tax. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a warrant for the deportation of any alien who has been granted an extension of time within which to depart voluntarily from the United States, upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such amount and form and for such time not exceeding six months as he may prescribe, conditioned upon the departure of such alien from the United States within the time allowed and upon such other conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all offenses, rights, penalties, conditions, and matters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 have been furnished, and not then unless, unless of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by section 35 have been satisfied, the deposit specified in Rule 55 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman otherwise admissible from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and to the extent and for the period specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, but no alien seaman shall be permitted to land at any port in the United States from any vessel which has previously been reported by the immigration officer at a contiguous territory port as having deserted such seaman (whether hospitalized or not) unless such seaman is specifically found by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival not to have deserted his vessel at such contiguous territory port. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1917. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1917. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1917.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers is often delivered (Form 513) shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arrival assumes it is "otherwise" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the cabin's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board for examination; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed as aforesaid on the first of the month next following the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists above required in the case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report any case of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if convicted by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or the deputy of the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine; and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been [illegible], and the collector customs officer is satisfied by the administrative officer fines prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act unless notice of intention to the contrary has been given as provided in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman, certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of debarkation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall not allow any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to allow [illegible] to depart from the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof or of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien on board such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is ready to depart after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

[illegible] to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or it is determined by the Secretary of Labor.

[illegible]

I, [illegible] of the [illegible], do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from application B, rule 7, and copy of sections 21 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or hospitalization as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alleviate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport such alien seaman employed on such vessel shall, upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspected such seaman (or upon the inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination of the medical examiner), or to any alien seaman who was not required by the immigration officer at the time of inspection to be detained, upon the immigration officer at the port of departure of such vessel, a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman so refused a permit to land. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was detained by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman by such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is about to depart from any port in the United States without having first delivered such alien seaman to the Secretary of Labor for deportation, the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be refunded otherwise than upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that such expenses have been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain foolscap approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the scene at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of cabin passengers of alien nationality carried (Form 583) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board the vessel on her arrival; to furnish such information in regard to the movements of such aliens as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel at a port of the United States to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and any officer of the immigration service or master of a vessel is hereby authorized to board any such vessel at any time for the purpose of inspecting the same and the certificates and lists of passengers therein required, and for the purpose of detaining such vessel at the port of arrival until such inspection is completed and the certificates delivered, and to take such other measures as he may deem necessary to prevent the violation of the provisions of this section; and any master who refuses to comply with the provisions of this section or with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor thereunder, or who conceals therein any material fact with respect to the matters required to be stated therein, or who makes any false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention for hospital treatment, or on account of the vessel on which he arrived being detained, or for the purpose of obtaining other employment to replace that of the master, who shall be responsible for the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or for the payment of the cost of his maintenance while detained, or for the payment of the cost of his passage to the port of his original departure, or for the deposit with the Secretary of Labor of such sum of money as may be necessary for any of the foregoing purposes.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such alien seaman on board such vessel upon such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Fines shall be so remitted as shall not appear upon the evidence submitted on the vessel on which the seaman arrived in the United States from which such seaman deserted, or to the vessel on which he may have been employed on board the vessel from a foreign port to the United States, or to any vessel on which he may be employed to return to his native country, or to the vessel on which a substitute is shipped.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman because of the relationship of such alien to persons residing in the United States, or for any other reason, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens mentioned in the list described below shall not be taken on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no alien is to be listed "NONE" is a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like manifests and lists of all aliens employed on such vessel, whether the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and description of those to be had on board the vessel at the port of arrival; or like information as to those intending to leave the vessel at such port; and no such vessel shall depart from any port of the United States for any foreign port or place until the master thereof shall have delivered to the principal immigration officer, in writing, as good as records, all cases in which any such alien has been refused a landing from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed upon any vessel not employed thereon at the time of the arrival and list upon which such aliens were last employed; and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind at any foreign port or place on the way, and the reasons therefor, so far as the same can be ascertained by the master, and shall furnish such immigration officer with such other information in regard to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act, and to employ such additional inspectors, clerks, and other employees of the Bureau of Immigration as may be necessary for the proper enforcement thereof, and for which purpose there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be immediately available.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall before such entry deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a correct list, certified by the master of such vessel, containing a separate item for each alien on board such vessel, stating his name in full, his age, sex, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country from which he last came, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, the final destination if any beyond, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has in his possession $50 and if not how much less, whether he is in possession of a railroad or steamship ticket or other through transportation document, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he has any friends or relatives in the United States, and if so what friends or relatives and their addresses, whether he is coming to join friends or relatives and what friends or relatives, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity within five years, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of any organization entertaining such belief or advocating such overthrow, whether he has ever been deported, and if so, when and why, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the contract or agreement is, whether he has ever been in contract labor, whether he is a skilled laborer or farm laborer, and if so what his occupation is, whether he is a professional person, and if so what his profession is, whether he is married or single, the age, sex, nationality, and last residence of each of his relatives who intend to immigrate to the United States, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, the height and complete personal description of each alien, whether deformed or crippled, and if so how, the nature and location of any distinctive mark of identification he may have on his body, and whether he has been assisted to come by any society or person.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of at least $50 shall pay a head tax of $8 to the collector of customs, which shall be refunded if the alien is admitted to the United States, but not otherwise.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port who is found to be unable to meet the requirements of this section may be temporarily detained and given a special inquiry examination by the medical examiners, and if, in the opinion of the medical examiners, such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be certified to the immigrant inspector in charge, and shall be detained and deported in the same manner as aliens certified by the medical examiners at the port of arrival.

(e) Every alien who shall come by water to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such aliens shall be subject to the same inspection and examination as aliens arriving at the seaports: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by special rules except from the operation of this section aliens who are accustomed to cross the borders frequently in the vicinity of their homes and who are found by him to be not likely to become a public charge.

SEC. 39. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 40. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall before such entry deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list certified by the master of such vessel, containing a separate item for each alien on board such vessel, stating his name in full, his age, sex, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country from which he last came, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, the final destination if any beyond, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has in his possession $50 and if not how much less, whether he is in possession of a railroad or steamship ticket or other through transportation document, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he has any friends or relatives in the United States, and if so what friends or relatives and their addresses, whether he is coming to join friends or relatives and what friends or relatives, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity within five years, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of any organization entertaining such belief or advocating such overthrow, whether he has ever been deported, and if so, when and why, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the contract or agreement is, whether he has ever been in contract labor, whether he is a skilled laborer or farm laborer, and if so what his occupation is, whether he is a professional person, and if so what his profession is, whether he is married or single, the age, sex, nationality, and last residence of each of his relatives who intend to immigrate to the United States, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, the height and complete personal description of each alien, whether deformed or crippled, and if so how, the nature and location of any distinctive mark of identification he may have on his body, and whether he has been assisted to come by any society or person.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of at least $50 shall pay a head tax of $8 to the collector of customs, which shall be refunded if the alien is admitted to the United States, but not otherwise.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port who is found to be unable to meet the requirements of this section may be temporarily detained and given a special inquiry examination by the medical examiners, and if, in the opinion of the medical examiners, such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be certified to the immigrant inspector in charge, and shall be detained and deported in the same manner as aliens certified by the medical examiners at the port of arrival in pursuance of the provisions of this section.

(e) Every alien who shall come by water to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such aliens shall be subject to the same inspection and examination as aliens arriving at the seaports: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by special rules except from the operation of this section aliens who are accustomed to cross the borders frequently in the vicinity of their homes and who are found by him to be not likely to become a public charge.

SEC. 41. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the medical examiners at the port of arrival, and no such alien shall be admitted to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 42. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall before such entry deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list certified by the master of such vessel, containing a separate item for each alien on board such vessel, stating his name in full, his age, sex, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country from which he last came, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, the final destination if any beyond, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has in his possession $50 and if not how much less, whether he is in possession of a railroad or steamship ticket or other through transportation document, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he has any friends or relatives in the United States, and if so what friends or relatives and their addresses, whether he is coming to join friends or relatives and what friends or relatives, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity within five years, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of any organization entertaining such belief or advocating such overthrow, whether he has ever been deported, and if so, when and why, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the contract or agreement is, whether he has ever been in contract labor, whether he is a skilled laborer or farm laborer, and if so what his occupation is, whether he is a professional person, and if so what his profession is, whether he is married or single, the age, sex, nationality, and last residence of each of his relatives who intend to immigrate to the United States, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, the height and complete personal description of each alien, whether deformed or crippled, and if so how, the nature and location of any distinctive mark of identification he may have on his body, and whether he has been assisted to come by any society or person.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of at least $50 shall pay a head tax of $8 to the collector of customs, which shall be refunded if the alien is admitted to the United States, but not otherwise.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port who is found to be unable to meet the requirements of this section may be temporarily detained and given a special inquiry examination by the medical examiners, and if, in the opinion of the medical examiners, such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be certified to the immigrant inspector in charge, and shall be detained and deported in the same manner as aliens certified by the medical examiners at the port of arrival in pursuance of the provisions of this section.

(e) Every alien who shall come by water to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such aliens shall be subject to the same inspection and examination as aliens arriving at the seaports: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by special rules except from the operation of this section aliens who are accustomed to cross the borders frequently in the vicinity of their homes and who are found by him to be not likely to become a public charge.

SEC. 43. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the medical examiners at the port of arrival, and no such alien shall be admitted to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 44. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall before such entry deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list certified by the master of such vessel, containing a separate item for each alien on board such vessel, stating his name in full, his age, sex, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country from which he last came, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, the final destination if any beyond, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has in his possession $50 and if not how much less, whether he is in possession of a railroad or steamship ticket or other through transportation document, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he has any friends or relatives in the United States, and if so what friends or relatives and their addresses, whether he is coming to join friends or relatives and what friends or relatives, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity within five years, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of any organization entertaining such belief or advocating such overthrow, whether he has ever been deported, and if so, when and why, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the contract or agreement is, whether he has ever been in contract labor, whether he is a skilled laborer or farm laborer, and if so what his occupation is, whether he is a professional person, and if so what his profession is, whether he is married or single, the age, sex, nationality, and last residence of each of his relatives who intend to immigrate to the United States, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, the height and complete personal description of each alien, whether deformed or crippled, and if so how, the nature and location of any distinctive mark of identification he may have on his body, and whether he has been assisted to come by any society or person.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of at least $50 shall pay a head tax of $8 to the collector of customs, which shall be refunded if the alien is admitted to the United States, but not otherwise.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port who is found to be unable to meet the requirements of this section may be temporarily detained and given a special inquiry examination by the medical examiners, and if, in the opinion of the medical examiners, such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be certified to the immigrant inspector in charge, and shall be detained and deported in the same manner as aliens certified by the medical examiners at the port of arrival in pursuance of the provisions of this section.

(e) Every alien who shall come by water to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such aliens shall be subject to the same inspection and examination as aliens arriving at the seaports: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by special rules except from the operation of this section aliens who are accustomed to cross the borders frequently in the vicinity of their homes and who are found by him to be not likely to become a public charge.

SEC. 45. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the United States (except foreign vessels touching only at ports in the insular possessions of the United States and not touching at any port of the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the medical examiners at the port of arrival, and no such alien shall be admitted to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the immediate departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, and then only under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival a sum equal to the cost of the transportation of such alien to the port whence he came to the United States, or if such cost can not be ascertained, a sum equal to the cost of the transportation of such alien from the last port in which he has resided for a period of one year or more to the port of arrival in the United States, except that no sum in excess of $181 shall be required under this section. The Secretary of Labor shall have a lien upon the vessel for the sum required by this section, which lien shall continue until the sum is paid or the vessel has been released under bond as provided by law. The Secretary of Labor is authorized to remit, refund, or cancel any liability for such sum or any part thereof.

(b) Any person, corporation, or association (which term shall include a person, partnership, or corporation operating a vessel) who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of persons of alien nationality in the steerage (from USA) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is at the "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be landed in the port of arrival; to make corrections on such lists as may be required by the Secretary of Labor and to deliver to the proper officer such lists as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to deliver to the officer in charge of the immigration service who may go on board for the purpose of boarding the vessel on her arrival at the port all aliens employed on the vessel, and to report the sickness or death of any such alien, the cause thereof, and the destination of the effects of any alien dying on board. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question affecting the right of any alien to land, upon the deposit of such sum of money as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the payment of the head tax and such other charges as may be imposed against such alien by the determination of the question upon a hearing, or upon the production of a certificate showing that a bond has been duly executed as required by section 25 of the Act of February 20, 1907, and amendments thereto, and that no appeal has been taken from the decision within the time allowed by law or regulations.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

No vessel shall be granted clearance or shall depart from any port of the United States unless and until the master thereof shall have delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure lists of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which lists shall be verified by the master in writing in the following form:

I, ... master of the ..... do depart from the port of ..... on the ..... day of ....., 19.., that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew who have been employed on board said vessel at any time during the period of her stay in port, and that I have not, nor has any officer of said vessel, to my knowledge or belief, employed any alien whose name is not contained in said list, or knowingly or willfully concealed or harbored, or caused to be concealed or harbored, on board said vessel any alien not included in said list, and that I will not, nor will any officer of said vessel, to my knowledge or belief, land at any port in the United States any alien employed on board said vessel, except as provided by law.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or entering any port thereof from any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, during the period the vessel remains in port, or for deportation in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or entering any port thereof from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the physical examination by the medical examiners, of all aliens employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have granted such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or such alien to depart from such port, when seaman employed on such vessel shall have been certified by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $17,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the time remains pending, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who has not applied for and obtained the certificate of the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be given a special inquiry examination by the immigration officer at the United States port to which such seaman may arrive, and no penalty shall be imposed on account of the failure of such seaman to remain on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or to depart therein, if such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such failure was occasioned by cruelty practiced upon him or by reasonable fear of bodily injury.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pending the arrival of the boat at which time it shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port or, when an attorney (Form 436) shall be in charge, to such attorney. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 436) shall be prepared and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival; or, if such communication be unable to reach such officer, then to the nearest immigration officer. All cases in which any alien member of the crew has been left behind at the request of the master or agent, consignee, or owner, shall be reported by the master to the Secretary of Labor, giving the name, nationality, last known address, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien member of the crew who has been left behind at the request of the master or agent, consignee, or owner, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien member of the crew who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien member of the crew who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That after the 1st day of July 1917 no person over sixteen years of age, hereafter born or brought to the United States from any foreign port or place, if able to read, shall be admitted into the United States unless such alien has in his possession a ticket or passport issued by the proper authorities of the country of which he is a subject or from which he comes, showing that he can read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish. Nothing contained in this section shall apply to the wife, parent, grandparent, child over sixteen years of age, or unmarried or widowed daughter of any alien admissible under this section who is in possession of an unexpired ticket or passport as herein provided, nor to any person coming to the United States who shall prove to the satisfaction of the proper immigrant inspector that he is seeking admission to the United States solely to escape religious persecution, such proof to include a declaration that he is not coming for any of the purposes mentioned in section 3 of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

That a clearance shall not be granted to a vessel with a list containing the name of any alien required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to have been read, unless such alien has previously been accorded the privilege of landing in the United States, or has been specially exempted from the operation of the said section or to that prescribed by section 23 of the Act of May 26, 1924.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

SEC. 12. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving in the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel clearing from a port in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because detained by the immigration officers, shall be permitted to land in the United States unless such alien shall be in possession of a valid passport and unless he is admissible under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States at the port of arrival and who shall not depart on a vessel clearing from a port in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

(a) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States as a result of the failure of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to deport him, or who shall land temporarily for medical treatment or because detained by the immigration officers, and any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port and who shall not depart on a vessel clearing from a port in the United States, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States as a result of the failure of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to deport him, or who shall land temporarily for medical treatment or because detained by the immigration officers, and any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port and who shall not depart on a vessel clearing from a port in the United States, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States will not be practicable within a reasonable time, except that deportation may be effected at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States as a result of the failure of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to deport him, or who shall land temporarily for medical treatment or because detained by the immigration officers, and any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port and who shall not depart on a vessel clearing from a port in the United States, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or is not subject to deportation under the immigration laws.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be delayed upon the vessel. The list of persons of alien immigrant class (Form 524) shall not be corrected or added to by the master to the manifest of the vessel, but a supplemental manifest, Form 524, shall be prepared by the master, commencing with the number next following the last number appearing on the original manifest, and shall contain the names of all persons not mentioned in the list prepared at the port of arrival; or in case conditions so arise as to necessitate the preparation of such supplemental manifest at a port other than the port of arrival, the master shall report the facts to the immigration officer at the port where the vessel is first inspected by the immigration officer after the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, and shall prepare such supplemental manifest at the direction of such immigration officer. Any person who fails to report for special inquiry any alien required so to report, or who refuses to permit any such alien to land, or who lands any such alien from the vessel, except as provided by the rules, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed or attempted to be landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master of a vessel bringing an alien who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, other than those mentioned in section 20 of the act of February 20, 1907, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant immigration officer at the port. When an arriving steamer is a "motorship," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked or taken on board such vessel, showing the final destination of each such alien, whether he has in his possession money and how much, whether he has been previously in the United States or has ever been refused admission thereto, whether he has been in prison or in almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, and whether in possession of a ticket to his final destination. Such lists shall be prepared in the order and shall contain the following additional information as to each alien specified therein: Full name, age, sex, married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination if known, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend and their complete address, whether in possession of railroad ticket or other through transportation, whether the expenses of the alien are paid for by others, whether in possession of $50 and if less than that amount how much, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever before refused admission to the United States and if so when and where, whether coming for any particular employer and if so what employer, whether coming to join any relative and if so what relative and complete address of such relative, whether a ticket has been purchased to the place he intends to go in the United States and whether the cost of the passage was paid by himself or by others, whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is coming pursuant to previous promise or agreement to perform labor in the United States and if so what kind, whether he has a ticket or sufficient money to pay his way to his ultimate destination, whether he is deformed or crippled and if so how long and from what cause, whether he has ever been in a penal institution or at any time supported himself by begging, whether he is coming to the United States to escape religious persecution, and whether he has a relative or friend in the country whose name he intends to give and if so what relative or friend and the name and complete address of such relative or friend, and such other facts as may be useful in determining the admissibility of such alien into the United States. Such lists shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and shall be sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such lists to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or who refuses to answer truthfully as to the information required by this section to be given as to each alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom such information is required, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and may also be refused clearance from any port of the United States during the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel to deliver the lists required, or any part thereof, the Secretary of Labor may refuse clearance of the vessel

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens in quadruplicate, prepared on such forms and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and before any passenger is landed or any baggage is removed from the vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge has delivered to such officer a separate report, signed in duplicate, stating the number of aliens on board the vessel who have been admitted to the United States after inspection by a United States immigration officer at some other port, but who are destined to the port at which such report is required to be made, and the names, ages, sex, and last permanent residence of such aliens. Such report shall be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel before any of such aliens are landed, and shall be subject to such changes or additions as may be found necessary upon the inspection of the aliens. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list or report, or who shall fail to include therein all aliens on board such vessel, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien contrary to any of the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to allow any immigration officer to enter the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or to detain such vessel for such inspection, or who shall refuse to deliver to any immigration officer any and all information in his possession concerning any alien who may be found on board such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such violation, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to detain any alien on board thereof when ordered so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to prevent any alien on board thereof from disembarking at any port in the United States, except as provided by the immigration laws and regulations, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, or who shall conceal or attempt to conceal, or who shall aid or abet any alien to conceal himself on board such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any such alien upon demand of any immigration officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any such alien when ordered so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such violation, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board, which lists shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such additional information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such changes or additions as may be made thereto by the Secretary of Labor. Before the vessel shall be admitted to entry the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall make oath to such lists before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, which oath may be administered by any such inspector, and shall deliver to the inspector such certificates, manifests, and other documents in relation to the persons on board as may be required by rules or regulations made by the Secretary of Labor. Upon the refusal of any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel to deliver to any immigrant inspector any list required by this section, or any part thereof, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom information is withheld. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master of which refuses or neglects to deliver lists as required by this section, or pay the penalties imposed by this section, until such lists are delivered or such penalties paid. Such penalties may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor if it appears that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel acted without intent to evade the provisions of this section and that every reasonable effort was made by him to secure the detention and delivery of such alien. Upon the refusal of any master to deliver to any immigrant inspector any alien who is a member of the crew or other person employed upon the vessel, the master shall forfeit and pay $1,000 for each such alien, and may be arrested and imprisoned in the discretion of the court for a period not exceeding six months. Upon the refusal of any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of this Act for each alien who may be found on board his vessel when she departs from a port of the United States, such vessel shall be liable for the amount of such tax, and may be seized and proceeded against through the courts by way of libel for the recovery of the same.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished by section 32 of the Act, and the immigrant inspector has indicated by such action or in such manner as may be prescribed by rule or regulation of the Secretary of Labor that the immigration laws and regulations have been complied with as to the aliens on board.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or any port in the possessions of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and solely for medical treatment, or treatment to which he may be subjected by the Secretary of Labor, except for burial, or unless specially permitted by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and then only under such conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section, or who fails to remain on board his vessel when she departs from a port of the United States, or who fails to report on board such vessel when ordered so to do by the master or other officer, or who fails to obtain such permission or to report on board within such time before the departure of his vessel as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any alien seaman who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within three years after landing in the United States, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing an alien seaman to the United States who fails to report and deliver such alien seaman on board his vessel when she departs from a port of the United States, or who fails to detain such alien seaman on board when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who fails to obtain such permission or to report such alien seaman if required by such immigration officer or to the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located of such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place outside thereof, or from a possession of the United States to which the immigration laws do not apply, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with such vessel, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for the failure of such alien seaman to depart.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be detained on such vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described before shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry, and shall in no instance be turned by the master to the immigrant passengers. The act of February 20, 1907, provides that the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who shall not have been lawfully admitted thereto shall pay a tax of $100 for each such alien, and no such alien shall be admitted to the United States unless such tax be paid. Section 23 of the act of February 5, 1917, provides that the master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in the law, or who is found to belong to any of the excluded classes enumerated in the law, shall be required to detain such alien on board the vessel at such time as the immigrant inspector shall require, and such alien shall not be allowed to land except temporarily for examination at Ellis Island or such other place as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration, unless and until the master shall have given a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, in the sum of $300 for each such alien, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States Government, its officers, and agents from any and all claims that may be brought against them on account of the admission of such alien and to pay all costs and expenses that may be incurred in connection with the proceedings relating to the deportation of such alien. Such bond shall be in addition to any other bond required by law. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in the law, or who is found to belong to any of the excluded classes enumerated in the law, shall report the fact to the commissioner in charge at the port of entry, and such alien shall not be allowed to land from the vessel except temporarily for examination at Ellis Island or such other place as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration, unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the Commissioner in charge at the port, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States Government, its officers, and agents from any and all claims that may be brought against them on account of the admission of such alien and to pay all costs and expenses that may be incurred in connection with the proceedings relating to the deportation of such alien. Such bond shall be in addition to any other bond required by law. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any person who shall not be admissible thereto under the provisions of the law shall report the fact and the name, nationality, last residence, and intended destination of such person to the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of entry, and such person shall not be allowed to land from the vessel except temporarily for examination at Ellis Island or such other place as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration, unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the Commissioner in charge at the port, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States Government, its officers, and agents from any and all claims that may be brought against them on account of the admission of such person and to pay all costs and expenses that may be incurred in connection with the proceedings relating to the deportation of such person. Any vessel shall be detained by the collector of customs for the payment of any fine, or expenses of maintenance, or hospital dues, or any head tax accruing on account of any person on board, or for the return of any rejected person, or for the bringing of any person to the United States in violation of the immigration laws, or for the payment of any judgment, or any part thereof, which may be rendered in any suit brought for the collection of any such fine, head tax, hospital dues, or expenses of maintenance or return, or any part thereof, until a certificate shall be issued by the Secretary of Labor, or by such officer as he may designate for the purpose, stating that the case has been finally disposed of, or that sufficient security has been given for the payment of such judgment, or any part thereof, which may be rendered in any such suit, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers while detained for any of the purposes herein mentioned.

SEC. 16. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in the case of vessels arriving at ports where there are no immigrant inspectors, and in the case of vessels arriving at ports where there are immigrant inspectors, before the inspection of the vessel by the immigrant inspectors, to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at each such port a list or manifest of all the persons on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such additional information relative to such persons and their transportation as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to deliver to such immigrant inspector such additional lists or manifests of the persons on board such vessel as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in such form and manner as he may prescribe; and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel, or the representative of any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, who refuses or fails to deliver such list or manifest, or any additional list or manifest required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, in accordance with the provisions of this section, or who refuses or fails to exercise diligence to ascertain the correctness of any such list or manifest, or to report any omission therefrom or any incorrect statement therein which may be subsequently discovered, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector any such additional information in his possession relative to any person mentioned in any such list or manifest, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning in respect of whom such failure occurs: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine, or any part thereof, imposed by the provisions of this section.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or any person in charge of any railway train arriving from any foreign country, or any person in charge of any vessel plying between ports of the United States and foreign contiguous territory, before any alien is admitted into the United States or into foreign contiguous territory, as the case may be, shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry a list or manifest of all such aliens on board such vessel or railway train, in such form and containing such information as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe, and shall make oath to such list or manifest before the immigrant inspector, which oath may be administered by such inspector. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or person in charge of any railway train shall also furnish such additional information relative to such aliens and their transportation as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and such oath shall be made in quadruplicate, and three copies thereof delivered to the immigrant inspector. Any person who knowingly violates or refuses or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was refused by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry in the United States, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or cause to be delivered such seaman to the immigrant inspector at the time of his departure from the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such hardship, the collector of customs may grant clearance upon the deposit of the sum required by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival to cover the cost of the return of such alien seaman, or upon the filing of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was refused by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry in the United States, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or cause to be delivered such seaman to the immigrant inspector at the time of his departure from the United States.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such hardship, the collector of customs may grant clearance upon the deposit of the sum required by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival to cover the cost of the return of such alien seaman, or upon the filing of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment or hospital treatment or both, and when ordered deported to the contiguous territory or adjacent island from which he came, or to the country in which the vessel shall have embarked him, shall be deported on the vessel bringing him to the United States or on the vessel on which he was employed or on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he was employed or on which he arrived, and such expenses shall be a lien against such vessel, which lien may be enforced by libel and seizure by any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the port at which such vessel may be found. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel violating the provisions of this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

The Commissioner shall not be required and vessel until the last mentioned in section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been complied with, and shall not clear unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of section 16 of said Act, as amended by the Act of February 20, 1907, relating to the payment of the head tax, and with the provisions of section 23 of said Act, as amended by the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the removal of aliens afflicted with certain mental or physical defects or diseases, or who belong to the excluded classes enumerated in said Act, and has paid the hospital dues and expenses of maintenance, if any, provided for by section 32 of said Act, as amended by the Act of February 5, 1917, and has complied with the provisions of section 34 of said Act, as amended by the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the deportation of aliens, or whether such alien has been granted a temporary admission into the United States under bond or has been granted a temporary admission into the United States under bond or has been granted a temporary admission into the United States under bond or

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be delivered to the immigrant inspector. The list of persons of alien immigrant (Form 103) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

Any master or attorney assuming to sign a "MONTGOMERY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the additional duty respectively performed by each in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be landed at the port of arrival; or place contiguous to such port of arrival; or place contiguous to the port of arrival, as the case may be, and the intended destination of each such alien, together with such information likely to lead to its apprehension; and the master, owner, consignee, or agent of each such vessel shall be fined for the use of the United States the sum of $10 for each alien employed on such vessel who may not be entered on such list, and in addition thereto the sum of $10 for each alien not specified in such list who may be found on board such vessel after the same has departed from the last port at which such vessel shall have been lawfully entered and cleared: Provided, That the penalty shall not attach in the case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver such list of the aliens employed on such vessel if it shall be shown that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel had no reasonable grounds for believing that any such alien was an alien, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel has caused diligent search to be made for such alien: And provided further, That no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the liens provided by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been satisfied, and no fine unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act, namely, been served, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except from Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central or South America, or adjacent islands) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, during the period such vessel remains in port, but any such seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a sum sufficient to pay the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and his return to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he shall have embarked as a seaman, whenever in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor such deposit is necessary to assure compliance with this provision. The decision of the Secretary of Labor as to the necessity for any such deposit and the sufficiency of the amount thereof shall be final. Any such deposit shall be returned to the depositor when the seaman has complied with the conditions upon the performance of which he was permitted to land, or when the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that the seaman has been returned to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he shall have embarked as a seaman, or that the deposit is no longer necessary to assure compliance with this provision.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after requirement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense may be sued for and recovered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in any court of competent jurisdiction. Any such seaman who shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the master to the primary immigration officer at the port of Chewa (Point Gen) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the primary immigration officer at the port. When an alternate examination is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, even but where they were respectively applied to embark, and specifying those to be landed at the port of arrival; the last country of which they are severally citizens or subjects, as the same are known to the master, agent, consignee, or charterer, and the final destination of each alien for whom a ticket has been sold or contracted for; and such other information in regard to each alien employed as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such master, consignee, or charterer shall furnish to each immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been permitted to land from the vessel, and shall produce any such alien for examination by such officer at any time before the vessel shall have been granted clearance, and shall furnish to each immigration officer at the time of port departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind in the hospital, and such information in regard to the sick and injured on board as may be required by such officer. Any master, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, or who refuses or neglects to furnish such information in regard to the sick and injured on board as may be required by such officer, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to each alien any certificate which may be required by section 19 of this Act, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board any vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to comply with any of the provisions of this section or with any rule made in pursuance thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs. The vessel shall be cleared if the master deposits with the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien, as the Secretary of Labor may require, conditioned upon the delivery of such alien to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's departure, or upon the payment of the penalty imposed by this section for such failure. Clearance may be withheld in the case of any alien employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has taken such other action in regard to the detention or the discharge of such seaman as he may deem necessary. Upon the certificate of the medical examiner that any seaman employed on such vessel is suffering from any dangerous contagious disease, the Secretary of Labor is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary to prevent the introduction into the United States from such vessel of such contagious disease, and for the temporary detention on board or elsewhere, for such length of time as may be necessary, of any such seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, or charterer who violates any such rule or regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

SEC. 39. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who deserts any such vessel while in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as to render his removal from the United States by the vessel on which he arrived inadvisable, shall be permitted to land

When an arriving seaman is a "crewmaster", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port at a place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying from what ports the aliens last came to the United States. Such lists shall be delivered in the port of arrival; or if there conveniently be no such officer in such port, then to such officer as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe. And after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been unlawfully landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed when such vessel arrived at the port, and specifying the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company. When any such alien has been discharged, and the cause of his discharge, and also the name of the vessel, if any, who may have need him and discharged, and the cause of his discharge, and also the name of the vessel, if any, who may have need him and discharged him, and the destination of such alien, so far as known. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required by this section, or who shall refuse to furnish any information in his power to furnish which may be demanded of him by any immigrant inspector, shall pay to the collector of customs for the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of the district in which the port of departure is located until the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a true report is not made as above required; and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such fine be remitted or refunded. Upon clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been paid, unless notice of appeal to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to final prescribed by section 35 of said act thereof been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien seaman, under the provisions of section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands from which such alien seaman came to the United States, or to the country in which was born, or to such other country as may consent to his admission thereto. Such deportation shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel failing to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while any penalty under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the application for remission or mitigation of such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Front that an alien seaman did not obtain room the authority manifest of the vessel on which the seaman arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or detain alien seamen, and shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived has been unduly delayed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, the cost of maintenance of such seamen while detained on shore, not to exceed $3 per day for each seaman, may be paid out of appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws upon certificate of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of crew (Form 523) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 524) shall be furnished on board and delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival full and complete lists and manifests of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the additional information required by section 12 of this Act as to aliens entering the United States, which lists and manifests shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the time of the vessel's entry into port, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the customs service until such lists and manifests have been delivered as aforesaid, and a certificate duly issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival stating that the provisions of this section have been complied with, which certificate shall be delivered by the master to the collector or other customs officer authorized to grant clearance papers before such papers are issued: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit in writing to any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to depart before the inspection of such vessel is completed and certificate issued, upon the deposit of such sum of money as he may deem sufficient to cover the cost of such inspection and the expenses and maintenance of any alien who may be detained for further examination, and upon the filing of a bond or undertaking with sufficient surety, in such form and amount as he may prescribe, conditioned for the production of such alien when required for further examination and for the payment of such expenses as may be assessed therefor: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit the unloading in the United States of specified aliens specially inspected at a foreign port, under such conditions as he may prescribe, without detention at the port of arrival: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any bond given under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board when discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more information than the names of all members of the crew, and specifying those to be held on board when discharged in the port of arrival. Such lists and manifests shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or from any insular possession of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained by such officials as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such vessel, and have ready for inspection by the proper immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival [and inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who does not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who is refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form 632) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the intended final destination of such aliens, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at intervals, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of such alien members of the crew as have died or been hospitalized, with the facts in connection therewith, and the intended final destination of each alien employee who ceases to be employed on such vessel, whether by reason of discharge, desertion, or otherwise, and the cause of such severance. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered at a time before it is duly made as above provided: And provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the listing required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been fulfilled, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative thus prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act, having been waived, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman, certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of debarkation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board any such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has interviewed such seaman (which interview in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such interview or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every such an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily in the United States at the time of the arrival of such vessel as a seaman, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after requirement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by such cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—1. Great care should be taken not to place on this list the name of any passenger who was not born in the United States or who has not taken out final naturalization papers.

2. Where one or more members of a family are aliens, the names of all such members should be recorded upon the alien manifest. Suitable notation may be made upon such manifest opposite the names of those members who claim citizenship.

3. Failure to observe the terms of this notice may result in delay to passengers at the port of arrival.

4. List on this form only United States citizens or citizens of an insular possession of the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pointing the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens on board of every vessel (Form 950) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival unless otherwise directed by the Commissioner of Immigration, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 20. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of those of the said aliens who are destined to the United States, and such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and such lists shall be produced in the port of arrival or such other port as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation direct, and the said aliens shall be subject to such examination and inspection at the time of their arrival and from time to time thereafter, at such place or places, and in such manner, as the Secretary of Labor may by regulation prescribe, and any such alien who shall refuse to be so examined or inspected shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at the cost of the vessel on which he arrived. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver lists containing the information required by this section, or who shall refuse to allow the said aliens or any of them to be examined as herein provided, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such refusal or neglect, and no clearance shall be granted to any such vessel while in port or while within the jurisdiction of the United States, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance papers in such case from any collector or other officer of the United States authorized to grant clearance papers to any vessel bound from a port in the United States to a port in a foreign country until the said penalty has been paid or until the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States in the penal sum of $600 for each such alien, conditioned that a list of such alien, containing the information required by this section, shall be delivered as herein provided. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to deliver to any such alien the certificate provided for by section 19 of this Act, or the equivalent thereof, such alien shall be entitled to demand and receive from such master, agent, consignee, or owner the sum of $10, which shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be sued for and recovered in any court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district into which she may first enter or depart, and clearance may be withheld or granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman entering the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, or for the purpose of rendering assistance to the vessel on which he arrived, or to another vessel in distress, as certified by the master of the vessel on which he arrived, to the Secretary of Labor, upon the departure of such vessel, unless such alien seaman shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence or shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is in good faith a bona fide resident of the United States and intends to return thereto and is not destined to any country other than the United States. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving therein from any place outside thereof, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel for the purpose of rendering assistance to another vessel in distress, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to any form of relief from deportation provided by this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States for the purpose of rendering assistance to another vessel in distress shall, in addition to the penalty provided by section 19 of this Act, be liable to a penalty of $100 to be collected by the collector of customs of the customs district in which such vessel shall arrive, which penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be sued for and recovered in any court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district into which she may first enter or depart, and clearance may be withheld or granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall bring to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien not in possession of a valid immigration visa and unless such alien is in transit through the United States and has been given a sealed permit by the consul who issued the immigration visa, or is a member of the crew of such vessel who is to be employed on board such vessel during her stay in port, shall be fined $1,000 for each such alien so brought, and may be arrested upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor and taken on board such vessel or other vessel or vehicle about to depart from the United States and detained thereon pending the payment of such fine, or may be arrested upon the institution of civil proceedings by the United States attorney in the district in which such vessel may be found, and detained in his custody

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, commander, or agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, another list containing the names of all aliens employed in the engine and fire rooms of such vessel, and another list containing the names of all aliens employed in any capacity whatsoever on such vessel, which lists shall be prepared and delivered before the vessel shall be admitted to entry, or in case of vessels carrying no passengers, before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall have authority to prescribe such additional information to be furnished by masters of vessels concerning the persons on board thereof as he may deem necessary, and shall have authority to make such changes in the form of said lists from time to time as he may deem best to secure the information required by this section or by any other law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States. Such lists shall be signed and sworn to before an immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the master, commander, or agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and shall contain such information and be in such form as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe. Any master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector any list required by this section, or who fails to include therein the name of any alien employed on such vessel in the service or capacity and in the part of the vessel specified in such list, or who refuses to disclose any information required by this section or by any other law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States concerning any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to permit any immigrant inspector to make such examination of such vessel and the employees thereon as is provided for by this section or by any other law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States, or who refuses to detain such vessel for examination or for the performance of any other duty required by this section or by any other law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States, or who refuses to pay the tax imposed by this section, or any master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of any such vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser may be arrested either before or after the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival and before the payment of the tax imposed by this section, and may be prosecuted and punished under the provisions of this section in the district in which he may be found or in the district in which the port of arrival is located; but clearance shall not be withheld from such vessel by reason of the failure of the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser thereof to comply with the provisions of this section. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may in his discretion refuse to permit the entry of any alien crewman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States if he shall be satisfied that such alien crewman is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made in this section, or that such alien crewman belongs to any of the classes excluded by this section, and may cause any such alien crewman to be returned on the vessel bringing him to the port of arrival, the cost of such return to be borne by the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel bringing such alien crewman to the port of arrival. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may in his discretion refuse to permit the entry of any alien crewman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States if he shall be satisfied that such alien crewman intends to enter the United States solely for the purpose of performing labor if such labor is to be performed after the departure of the vessel upon which the alien crewman arrived at the port of arrival, and may cause any such alien crewman to be returned on the vessel bringing him to the port of arrival, the cost of such return to be borne by the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel upon which the alien crewman arrived at the port of arrival. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to amend, modify, or repeal any of the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 20, 1907, or any of the provisions of the Act of March 26, 1910, entitled "An Act to prevent the importation of prostitutes and other immoral women for immoral purposes; to amend the Act entitled 'An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States,' approved February twentieth, nineteen hundred and seven; and for other purposes," or any of the provisions of the Act of February 14, 1903, entitled "An Act to establish the Department of Commerce and Labor," as amended.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 9

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by Section 36 thereof has been furnished, and not then unless, before or simultaneously with the delivery of the list, the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the tax imposed by section 36 hereof, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such sum if the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to the master, commander, agent, owner, consignee, or purser of the vessel, he may, in his discretion, permit the alien seaman to remain in the United States for such time as he may specify, not exceeding the period allowed such seaman on shore leave, and may require a bond in such sum as he may deem necessary, with sufficient surety, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived, and that such vessel shall not be cleared from the port of arrival until such alien seaman has departed from the United States on such vessel or on some other vessel, unless such alien seaman shall sooner die or be taken from the United States by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all seamen, their masters, agents, consignees, and owners, and as to all persons, arriving at the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list furnished below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Any list or manifest of persons in addition to the crew shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the transportation company and shall be subject to the same requirements as the crew's list. The list or manifest must be delivered from the vessel, during a period of not more than one hour before the vessel is docked, to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any person who fails to comply with the requirements of this section shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each such offense. Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, by general rules, waive the requirements of this section with respect to any vessel touching at ports of the United States solely as a ferry, when no passengers are carried on the trip across the boundary line between the United States and a foreign country contiguous thereto, and with respect to any vessel touching at ports of the United States solely during the period of change of the vessel's route between ports of the United States or between ports of the United States and contiguous foreign territory, and with respect to any vessel which has been certified by the Secretary of Labor as carrying only persons who have been in the United States for a period of more than one year prior to the date of such certification, and who are returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of inspection the list required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question touching the matters specified in such list asked by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board or at quarantine any alien who has been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel arrives a penalty of $1,000 for each alien as to whom any such default occurs: Provided, That if any such alien shall escape before the completion of the inspection of the vessel by the immigration officer or the departure of the vessel from the port, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall not be liable to the payment of the penalty imposed by this subdivision (b) in respect of such alien if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such escape was not due to any fault or negligence on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has been unlawfully brought to the United States by any vessel, such vessel shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each such alien, to be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel arrives at the United States, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment, or the payment, of such penalty. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or of a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Except that no alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who is destined to a place outside thereof, or who is in transit through the United States, shall be allowed to enter the United States without an immigration visa, if such alien is within one of the classes enumerated as excluded by section 3 of this Act, or by section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended, but shall be detained in the custody of the master of the vessel on board or at quarantine pending the final determination of his case. The cost of detention on board or at quarantine shall be borne by the master of the vessel. The cost of detention at a "contract station" shall be borne by the United States.

(e) The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors at ports of the United States as may be necessary to prevent the landing of any alien in violation of this section.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That alien seamen employed upon any vessel arriving at a port of the United States shall be deemed and treated as immigrants for the purposes of the head tax and the collection thereof, except alien seamen employed on vessels which touch at ports of the United States solely during the period of change of the vessel's route between ports of the United States or between ports of the United States and contiguous foreign territory, and except alien seamen employed on vessels which have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as carrying only persons who have been in the United States for a period of more than one year prior to the date of such certification, and who are returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad; but all such seamen shall be subject to such rules and regulations governing their admission and residence in the United States as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and to the payment of the head tax upon any subsequent entry into the United States unless they shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that they have been in transit through, or visitors for a temporary period to, the United States, or that they have been forced by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause to enter the United States, or that they entered and were lawfully admitted to the United States and have since maintained a lawful residence therein, and are returning thereto after a temporary absence, or that they are seamen employed in the service of a railway company arriving from foreign contiguous territory, and are destined to and depart upon the same vessel upon which they arrive within a period of thirty days

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list or manifest shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens required by section 12 of the act of February 20, 1907, to be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port (698) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Words in parentheses may be used at the master's option.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in addition to the persons now by law excluded from admission into the United States, the following persons shall also be excluded from admission into the United States, namely: All persons physically capable and over sixteen years of age, illiterate, who can not read and write the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided, That for the purpose of ascertaining whether such illiterate persons may come within one of the classes enumerated in this section, but not otherwise, there shall be excluded from admission into the United States such number of persons of each race or kind as may be determined, relative to the population of such race or kind within the United States, in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, which shall not exceed 2 per centum of such population, and for this purpose there shall be included in the count of such population persons admitted to the United States during the five years next preceding the last year for which the population figures are available, and there shall be excluded from admission a number of such illiterate persons equal to the number of such persons of the same race or kind who were admitted into the United States during the five years next preceding the year in which they seek admission but who have departed therefrom during such period.

That the following classes of persons shall be exempt from the operation of the illiteracy test and may be admitted if otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, namely: All persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who return to this country after a temporary visit abroad; all persons who are citizens of the United States or who have resided therein for five years and who have been absent therefrom for less than two years and who have a certificate from the proper authorities certifying that they have been employed by the Government of the United States or by the government of the Philippine Islands, or by the municipal government of the District of Columbia, or by the government of any Territory of the United States, or by the government of any State, county, or municipal government, or by any railroad company in the United States engaged in the transportation of passengers or freight between the United States and contiguous territory, or by any duly incorporated steamship company which shall have been engaged for at least one year in the transportation of passengers between the United States and ports in Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, or the Republic of Panama, and the wife, family, or children under sixteen years of age of any such person who shall himself be admissible under this section, and who shall arrive in the United States accompanying or subsequently joining such person; and all persons who have been previously lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for a period of not less than five years, and who are returning from a temporary visit abroad; and all persons who have lawfully resided continuously in the United States for five years next preceding the time of their application for admission to the United States, and who are found and certified by the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to be returning to an unrelinquished United States domicile after a temporary absence; and all persons who have resided continuously in the United States for five years next preceding the time of their application for admission to the United States, and who are found and certified by the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to be seeking admission to the United States solely for the purpose of escaping religious persecution, such certification to be made before the sailing of the vessel in which they shall embark for the United States: Provided, That nothing in this section shall exempt any person seeking admission to the United States in any capacity whatsoever, except as a seaman regularly employed on a vessel arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port, who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa and who is not exempted by the Secretary of Labor from the application of section 10 of this act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

PAR. 6. Certificate shall not be granted any alien under sixteen years of age, unless in a case of special hardship, and not then unless the alien is in possession of a valid immigration visa. Notice of application for certificate in behalf of any alien under sixteen years of age shall be given to the Secretary of Labor, who may, in his discretion, refer the case to a special inquiry officer for investigation before the certificate is granted or refused.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, unless such alien seaman shall be in possession of a valid immigration visa and a valid seaman's identification certificate issued to him by the Secretary of Labor, or by such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or by a consular officer, or unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and shall establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he is not a member of any class of aliens ineligible to citizenship.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer to enter such vessel for the purpose of examining the crew, or who shall refuse to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse to detain such seaman on board such vessel after inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, or who shall refuse to pay the expenses of such seaman's detention or deportation, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman shall not depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board any vessel which shall have received on board such alien seaman from any vessel, except in case of shipwreck, without the consent of the Secretary of Labor, and every master of such vessel who shall refuse to detain such alien seaman on board his vessel when ordered so to do by an immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall order the detention of any alien seaman on board any vessel on which he arrived, such alien seaman shall not be landed in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment pending the final disposition of the case, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 if he refuses to detain such alien seaman on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and such penalty shall constitute a lien upon the vessel to be recovered by proceedings in the United States district court for the district within which the vessel may be found. Clearance may be withheld pending the decision as to the imposition and amount of the penalty, but shall not be withheld longer than forty-eight hours after the owner, master, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel shall have notified the Secretary of Labor that the question of imposing the penalty is ready for decision, unless the vessel shall be sooner cleared by the payment of the penalty or the deposit of security as provided in this section.

(d) Section 22 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all seamen shall arrive, depart, or remain in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Axel Alexandersen, of the S.S. "Bogota Maru", do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, promptly in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the United States Immigration Law and of paragraph 2, subdivision (b), Immigration Rule 6, which appears below.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form 588) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien member is at sea "motwithstanding" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied to engage, and the capacity in which they intend to land in the United States, and such further information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor shall from time to time prescribe; and failure to deliver such lists or any of them, or to furnish the information required thereby within the time fixed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a penalty of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom information is not furnished. The master, agent, owner, consignee, or consignor of every vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien brought in such vessel, whether or not application for the visa of such alien has been made, or such visa issued, before the departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place, or, if such application has been made and such visa issued before the departure of such vessel, whether or not such alien has embarked or attempted to embark on such vessel, or, if such alien has embarked on such vessel, whether or not such alien has actually departed from the United States on such vessel, which penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or consignor of such vessel to the payment of any penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the giving of such bond. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of any penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien member of the crew employed on the vessel on which he arrives in the United States who is refused a permit to land in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be returned to such foreign port or place from which he came to the port of arrival, and the master, agent, owner, consignee, or consignor of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien so refused a permit to land, which penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any alien member of the crew of any vessel has been permitted to land in the United States from such vessel in violation of the provisions of this section, such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, and the cost of such deportation shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such cost of deportation shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such cost of deportation, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost.

SEC. 41. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to and in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the adjudication of claims of such alien seamen to remain in the United States for permanent residence.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, duly qualified to obtain an immigration visa, who shall refuse to allow any immigrant, for whom the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has been refused a visa by the United States consular officer, to depart on such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such immigrant, unless such immigrant shall have been (after inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by one medical examiner), certified by the principal immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be suffering only from a disease or defect not known to such consular officer to have existed prior to the departure of such vessel from the last port, or to be a member of the crew of such vessel who is destined to return and will be employed on board thereof during her next voyage, or to be in possession of a bona fide ticket entitling him to transportation on board some vessel regularly scheduled to depart within ten days of the departure of the vessel on which he arrives, and to have sufficient money or security for money to pay his expenses while in transit, or to be in charge of or to be destined to join his family who have such ticket, money, or security, or to be entitled to admission as a returning resident or citizen of the United States after a temporary visit abroad. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien member of the crew employed on the vessel on which he arrives in the United States who is refused a permit to land in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be returned to such foreign port or place from which he came to the port of arrival, and the master, agent, owner, consignee, or consignor of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien so refused a permit to land, which penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any alien member of the crew of any vessel has been permitted to land in the United States from such vessel in violation of the provisions of this section, such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, and the cost of such deportation shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such cost of deportation shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such cost of deportation, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished to and approved by the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel on board the vessel, and not from shore unless notice of inability to do the administrative duty prescribed by section 37 or that prescribed by section 38 of said act, shall not be given, but the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to and in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the adjudication of claims of such alien seamen to remain in the United States for permanent residence.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, duly qualified to obtain an immigration visa, who shall refuse to allow any immigrant, for whom the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has been refused a visa by the United States consular officer, to depart on such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such immigrant, unless such immigrant shall have been (after inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by one medical examiner), certified by the principal immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be suffering only from a disease or defect not known to such consular officer to have existed prior to the departure of such vessel from the last port, or to be a member of the crew of such vessel who is destined to return and will be employed on board thereof during her next voyage, or to be in possession of a bona fide ticket entitling him to transportation on board some vessel regularly scheduled to depart within ten days of the departure of the vessel on which he arrives, and to have sufficient money or security for money to pay his expenses while in transit, or to be in charge of or to be destined to join his family who have such ticket, money, or security, or to be entitled to admission as a returning resident or citizen of the United States after a temporary visit abroad. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien member of the crew employed on the vessel on which he arrives in the United States who is refused a permit to land in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be returned to such foreign port or place from which he came to the port of arrival, and the master, agent, owner, consignee, or consignor of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien so refused a permit to land, which penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such penalty shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any alien member of the crew of any vessel has been permitted to land in the United States from such vessel in violation of the provisions of this section, such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, and the cost of such deportation shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart. The payment of such cost of deportation shall not relieve such vessel from any other penalty or forfeiture imposed by the immigration laws or by any other law or treaty. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such cost of deportation, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, unless clearance is demanded before the question of such liability is submitted to the Secretary of Labor, in which case clearance may be granted pending such determination upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arriving at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like continuous and accurate lists or manifests of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship or other vessel, the name and nationality of the last country of which they severally became subjects, the country of which they are citizens or subjects, their last permanent residence, whether they have been previously in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether they have been naturalized, their ability to read and write, their age, sex, marital condition, and calling or occupation, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence they came, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend to whom they are going in the United States, whether they have a ticket through to their ultimate destination, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepaid or other transportation, whether they have been deported, and if so, how many times and the cause therefor, whether they have a contract or promise of employment, and if so, the nature thereof, the amount of money in their possession, and whether they are in possession of a through ticket, and if so, whether it is paid in full, and by whom, and such other information pertaining to each alien as may be required by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, which said lists or manifests shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of the vessel, or the first or second officer, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the passengers have landed, and a like list shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at each subsequent port in the United States at which the vessel may touch before finally leaving: Provided, That the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in his discretion, authorize the delivery of such lists at the port of departure instead of at the port of arrival in the case of any vessel carrying only cabin passengers who embark at a port in the United States and who have been previously examined by the United States immigrant inspector at the port of departure, and in the case of any vessel touching at a port in Canada, Cuba, or Mexico for the purpose of taking on passengers destined to the United States, who have been previously examined by the United States immigrant inspector at such port, and in the case of any vessel touching at a port in the United States from any place outside thereof, only such of the provisions of this section as may be prescribed by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall be complied with at such ports: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing any alien who is not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter the United States under the laws thereof, or who is afflicted with any contagious disease, or who has been deported within one year prior to the date of the sailing of such vessel, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien so brought, and may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding one year: Provided further, That no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, if the owner, agent, master, or consignee of such vessel shall fail to pay such fine within ten days after the same has been finally determined by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, the vessel may be seized and sold to pay the same: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof to the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place, whether entering the United States for the first time or returning after a temporary absence, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(2) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(3) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(f) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(h) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(i) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(j) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(l) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(m) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(n) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(o) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(p) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of his application for admission, and the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted as follows: (1) All aliens shall be first examined at the port of arrival by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, who shall certify in writing any physical or mental defect or disease observed by him in any such alien, except that aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who, after a temporary absence, seek readmission to the United States within one year from the date of their last examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at a port of entry shall not be required to be examined by such medical officer unless examination is deemed necessary by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a mental defect, insanity, constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, shall be certified also whether in his opinion such alien is likely to become a public charge, and his certificate shall specify the cause or causes of such defect, disease, or disability with all available information bearing thereon. Such alien shall not be admitted to the United States unless and until he shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not affected with any such defect, disease, or disability, except by special warrant of the Secretary of Labor in cases arising under the contract labor laws. Any alien who may become a public charge within three years after his entry from causes existing prior thereto shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being mentally defective, as above defined, shall be given a mental examination by a medical officer of the Bureau of Immigration before he shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a dangerous contagious disease shall be detained in hospital until he is no longer certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being so affected, and a certificate to that effect by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service shall be necessary before any such alien shall be admitted to the United States. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry. Any alien who has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease and who is detained for that reason shall be deported if found to be unable to show that he was not so affected when he entered the United States, or that the disease was contracted after entry.

(q) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien assigned or the cause of the disease to be deported on account of any physical or mental defect or disease which may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living, such alien may be admitted at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien crewman) bringing a seaman who has been employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfactorily advised that such seaman has been discharged from such vessel, or has been granted a temporary permit to land, or has been permitted to land temporarily under bond, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof to the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States shall be deported as a condition of granting to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived a permit to land temporarily or to proceed to a foreign port, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he intends to depart from the United States within the period for which he is granted shore leave and that he has the means and intention to depart immediately from the United States.

(c) It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily or to proceed in transit through the United States to inform each such seaman of the conditions under which he may be admitted, and to deliver to each such seaman who is to be deported a notice in writing to that effect. It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel on which a seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily or in transit through the United States is to depart, to report the departure of such seaman to the immigration officer in charge of the port, and to deliver to such officer the certificate issued to such seaman at the time of his entry, failing which the master shall pay to the collector of customs the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct data are not delivered to a duly reported. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each violation.

(d) Every alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States shall be deported as a condition of granting to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived a permit to land temporarily or in transit through the United States, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he intends to depart from the United States within the period for which he is granted shore leave and that he has the means and intention to depart immediately from the United States.

(e) It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily or to proceed in transit through the United States to inform each such seaman of the conditions under which he may be admitted, and to deliver to each such seaman who is to be deported a notice in writing to that effect. It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel on which a seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily or in transit through the United States is to depart, to report the departure of such seaman to the immigration officer in charge of the port, and to deliver to such officer the certificate issued to such seaman at the time of his entry, failing which the master shall pay to the collector of customs the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct data are not delivered to a duly reported. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each violation.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted vessel until the liens created by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been satisfied, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act remain open, the penalty specified in rule 23 has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 588) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "motorman" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port at which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, the specific cause of each to be held on board in the port of arrival; to list countries of which they are citizens or subjects, and to furnish such information officer, at arrival, and from time to time thereafter, as soon as discovered, all cases of aliens in which the names of alien members of the crew have been omitted from the vessel's list, and to furnish such information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to every to each alien immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the first port of call in the United States; and it shall be the duty of the master of each vessel, upon the departure of such vessel from any port in the United States, to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board the vessel at the time of such departure who were not reported on the list of the crew at the port of arrival, and to report the cause of desertion of any alien member of the crew, if any, who have deserted to the knowledge or belief of the master, and the cause of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver such list or report such cause of desertion or to report any alien who may be found on board such vessel after her departure from a port of the United States. Every master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs for the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a true report is not made as provided herein; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located while any fine imposed under this section remains unpaid. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the Secretary of Labor, by or to the collector of customs or the customs district in which the port of departure is located, while any fine imposed under this section remains unpaid: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act, as amended, has been given, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury to such seaman, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman (whether an immigrant or not) shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of such seaman, and in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $300, and for the payment of such expenses in connection therewith as may be incurred or become chargeable against the United States during such maintenance, and for the payment of the cost of his removal from the United States to the country to which he belongs, unless he is sooner removed to such country, or is admitted to some other country, and for the payment of the cost of his burial in case he dies while in the United States. Such bond or undertaking may be sued upon and recovered by any first-class alien seaman who shall be found destitute in the United States within one year after the date of the departure of the vessel from the United States, for the reasonable cost of his maintenance while destitute not exceeding $30, and his return passage to the country to which he belongs, or to any country which will admit him, not exceeding the cost of steerage passage thereto. Such suit may be brought in the name of the alien seaman by any person who shall furnish him support and maintenance after he shall have been found destitute as aforesaid, or by any officer of any society or association which shall furnish him support and maintenance after he shall have been found destitute as aforesaid, without requiring any formal assignment of his claim or cause of action. Such suit may be brought in any district in which the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel in respect to which the alien seaman was employed may be found, or in any district through which the vessel on which the alien seaman was employed shall pass during the voyage on which the alien seaman was employed, or in the district in which the alien seaman was discharged from the vessel. Jurisdiction of such suits is hereby conferred upon the district courts of the United States, which courts shall have the power, in their discretion, to require security for costs of suit to be given by the plaintiff, and to award reasonable attorney's fees to the attorney of record appearing for the plaintiff in such suit.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be liable to the penalties provided by section 2 of the Act of March 4, 1915, chapter 153, page 1164, and the Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance from any vessel on account of which any such penalty shall have been incurred until the same shall be paid, or until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(c) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States in any vessel and who shall be ordered excluded from admission by any immigrant inspector, or who shall be found to be afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be detained on board or at such place in the United States as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, pending examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and certification by him as to the probable length of time the alien will be required for treatment, and the result of such treatment, and shall not be permitted to land except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury, until a certificate has been issued by such medical officer that in his opinion the danger of contagion has passed. Such detention shall be at the expense of the vessel on which the alien arrived, and the vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of such detention, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such cost or the giving of a bond therefor satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States from any vessel on which he arrived in the United States or which he joined in a port thereof, or who remains in the United States after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived shall have given a bond to the United States, with sufficient surety, to indemnify it against the cost of his maintenance and deportation, in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such bond shall not be void upon the deportation of such alien seaman, but shall remain in force for the benefit of any person who shall furnish support and maintenance to such alien seaman after he shall have been found destitute as aforesaid, for the reasonable cost of such support and maintenance not exceeding $30, and for the cost of his return passage to the country to which he belongs, or to any country which will admit him, not exceeding the cost of steerage passage thereto.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens required to be prepared (Form 598) shall not be destroyed or mutilated, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien (Form 598) shall be "not examined," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to ports it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the alien's calling, when and where they were respectively taken on board, and whether destined to ports in the United States or elsewhere, and the final destination of such aliens as far as known by the Secretary of Labor; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of the vessel but who have been thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists mentioned, he, or the vessel shall be subject to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, to a fine of $10 for each alien not included in the lists delivered, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines referred to section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been fully settled, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act finally been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress necessitating such landing, or for the sole purpose of obtaining decorporation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport any seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien so allen seaman who shall not depart from the contiguous territory of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from such port or place as the Secretary of Labor may require, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes to alien members of crews (Form 088) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "WORKAWAY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival where examination of alien members of the crew is to be made a complete list or manifest of all aliens employed on board such vessel, showing the full name, age, calling or occupation, last permanent residence, and final destination as far as known to the master of each such alien, and the port at which he intends to land, which list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and shall be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at by her in the United States to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and before the departure of the vessel from any port or place in the United States to the immigrant inspector at each subsequent port or place at which she may touch before finally leaving the United States, a list or manifest of the additional alien members of the crew shipped since the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, which list or manifest shall contain the information required by this section as to the members of the crew who sail on the vessel from the last port or place at which she touched: Provided, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall not be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of the members of the crew who remain on board the vessel while in port, but a correct list or manifest of such members shall be prepared by the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, and shall be kept ready for inspection by the immigrant inspector until the departure of the vessel from the port: Provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall not be required to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of the members of the crew who have been specially shipped at such port to replace members of the crew who have been left behind at the last port touched at by the vessel, but a list or manifest of such persons shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure from the United States in the manner hereinbefore provided: And provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who has been employed on board such vessel during her last foreign voyage, and who is destined to a port in the United States other than the port of arrival, shall, before the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, report the name of such alien seaman, the vessel on which he arrived, and the intended port of departure to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall indorse the name of such alien seaman upon the certificate of identity issued to him under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of March 4, 1915, entitled "An Act to provide for the safety of seamen and for other purposes," and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel upon which such alien seaman arrives at the port of departure from the United States shall report the departure of such alien seaman to the immigrant inspector at such port, and deliver to him the certificate of identity issued to such alien seaman, and failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be refused any vessel until the fine imposed by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, has been finally adjudged, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act of March 4, 1915, has been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is found to belong to one of the classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 3 of this Act, shall be notified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officers of the service), or at the time of subsequent inspection at or before departure of such vessel from the United States if such defect or disease was not known or could not have been known at the time of such first inspection and examination. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination as to such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) From such fine an alien seaman who does not appeal from the decision of the board of special inquiry shall be refunded the amount deducted from his wages on account thereof, upon the production of a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States that such alien seaman has complied with the conditions of his permit to land temporarily in the United States, and a receipt from the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman departed from the United States, for the amount refunded. Any fine imposed upon any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of his permit to land temporarily, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel other than the vessel specified in his permit, unless prevented by reasons beyond his control, shall be paid to the collector of customs at the port of departure before clearance of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States will be granted.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted to depart from the United States on any vessel designated by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) From such fine an alien seaman who does not appeal from the decision of the board of special inquiry shall be refunded the amount deducted from his wages on account thereof, upon the production of a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States that such alien seaman has complied with the conditions of his permit to land temporarily in the United States, and a receipt from the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman departed from the United States, for the amount refunded. Any fine imposed upon any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of his permit to land temporarily, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel other than the vessel specified in his permit, unless prevented by reasons beyond his control, shall be paid to the collector of customs at the port of departure before clearance of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States will be granted.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper to be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector promptly upon the vessel's arrival in the port of arrival, and shall in all instances be ready upon the vessel's arrival in the port of arrival in the United States from the vessel. The list of changes to also be prepared on plain white paper to be delivered to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Upon an affidavit (Form 583) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an affidavit account is filed, the following words "NOTHING" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or commanding officer of such vessel to deliver to the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who are employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively taken on as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and aliens in the list of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival: to list shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of such arrival, and such list shall be verified by the affidavit of the master or commanding officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the vaccination required by section 2 of this Act has not been performed, and such other information likely to lead to the identification of such alien, together with such information as the Secretary of Labor may require for the proper enforcement of the provisions of this Act. Any master or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver the list required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question in relation to the information required by this section, or who shall willfully answer falsely to any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of performing any duty or exercising any power conferred upon him by this Act shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such refusal.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and shall not then relieve masters of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to land prescribed by section 35 of said Act unless such list is filed as required by said section.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with alien seamen employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspected such seamen (which inspection at all ports shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to the effect that he has personally inspected such seamen and has not found any such alien seaman employed on board, and that such inspection of to the best of his knowledge and belief no such alien seaman is employed on board such vessel, and that such inspection of such seamen was made not more than twenty-four hours prior to the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival at which the port of arrival is located the name of the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, until it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

(d) Every alien seaman, on board any vessel at any port in the United States, who refuses to perform any duty required of him by the master, officer, or any person duly authorized thereto, or who deserts or attempts to desert such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $50, to be sued for and recovered by the collector of customs.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue or extraordinary hardship in such particular case, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list to changes to alien passengers (Form 589) shall be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. "Master" as arriving aliens means a "foreman" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which or in which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped to engage, how specifically employed and destined while in the United States, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination so far as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulations prescribe; and alien members of the crew who have been discharged in the port of arrival; or place contiguous thereto during the period of their detention on board; and any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who knowingly lists falsely or incorrectly any alien, or who refuses to any immigrant inspector access to the vessel at any time after her arrival at port, or who refuses or neglects to detain on board any alien specified by any such immigrant inspector, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the master of the vessel any such alien for removal to Ellis Island when directed so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by this Act, or by the Secretary of Labor in relation thereto, or who obstructs or hinders or delays or who attempts to do any of such things, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the right to demand any penalty accruing under the provisions of this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been delivered, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative has been prescribed by rule section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act, shall have been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and any alien seaman employed on such vessel (while inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman, or pursuant to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses to permit any such immigration officer at the port to enter the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew, or who refuses or fails to detain on board any alien seaman specified by any such immigration officer at the time of inspection, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the master of the vessel any such alien seaman for removal to the United States when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section or with any rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor with reference thereto, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or such other document as may be necessary for the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival until the master has paid the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended by section 1 of the Act of February 20, 1907, in respect of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel who has been admitted to the United States, or has been granted a permit to land temporarily in the United States, or has been granted a certificate of identification by the Secretary of Labor, and has not been returned to the port of arrival for deportation, or has not been granted a certificate of identification by the Secretary of Labor, or has not

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless to accompany a sick or injured member of the crew who is certified by the medical officer of the port to be unable to proceed to his home country without such assistance, or to accompany the remains of a deceased member of the crew who has died on board, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman employed on a vessel touching at ports of the United States solely during the regular course of a voyage to or from a foreign port, if such seaman is in possession of a valid passport and seaman's identification card issued by the country to which he belongs, which the Secretary of Labor is satisfied affords adequate means of establishing the identity of the holder, and if such seaman is in all other respects admissible under the immigration laws: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman employed on a vessel touching at ports of the United States solely during the regular course of a voyage to or from a foreign port, if such seaman is in possession of a valid passport and seaman's identification card issued by the country to which he belongs, which the Secretary of Labor is satisfied affords adequate means of establishing the identity of the holder, and if such seaman is in all other respects admissible under the immigration laws: Provided further, That clearance may be granted any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section if the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall have deposited such amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability on the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who has been removed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure or refusal on the part of the master of such vessel to comply with the provisions of this section.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of this memorandum or crews (Form 583) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no arrivals (Form 583) are necessary it is the duty of the master to report "NO ARRIVALS" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed or shipped as members of the crew, stating their nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether they were transported in the steerage or other part of the vessel, whether they have been inspected by the proper medical officers, and whether they have been in the United States before, and if so, how long, when, and where they landed, whether they have been in prison or almshouses or institutions for the care of the insane or supported by charity, whether they have a ticket through to their destination, and whether they have the amount of money required of each alien by section 2 of this Act in their possession, and such other information relative to their identity, nationality, and intentions as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be produced at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival and shall be open to the inspection of any immigrant inspector, and such owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver to any immigrant inspector such lists when required, or who refuses to answer truthfully the questions contained therein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. Such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also be severally liable to a penalty of $300 for each and every alien not listed, or for each and every false statement in such lists concerning any alien, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the production of such alien before any immigrant inspector at the port at which such alien arrived within four months after the vessel's arrival at such port or upon proof satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor that such alien was prevented from being so produced by sickness or death and that such sickness or death was not due to any fault or negligence of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, and that such alien was lawfully entitled when he departed from a foreign port to enter the United States or has since become so entitled under existing laws. Upon the refusal of any master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required or any part thereof, or upon the refusal of any such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver any such list required or any part thereof, such vessel shall be prohibited from leaving the port, and such refusal shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor by the immigrant inspector in charge at such port, and clearance shall be withheld by the collector of customs until such list is delivered, but clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of such list upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the probable cost of the maintenance of such vessel's crew while detained at such port, to be determined by the immigrant inspector in charge, and in no case less than $5 per day for each member of the crew. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, clearance may be granted by the collector of customs upon the production of a certificate from the immigrant inspector in charge at the port that the list required has been delivered as far as possible, and that the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel has made oath before such inspector that he has exhausted all means within his power to procure the production of such list or lists as have not been delivered, and has annexed to such certificate a statement of the reasons given by such master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel for his inability to deliver such list or lists, and has transmitted with such certificate such list or lists as have been delivered to him. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, clearance may be granted by the collector of customs upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the probable cost of the maintenance of the crew while detained, to be determined by the immigrant inspector in charge, and in no case less than $5 per day for each member of the crew. Upon the production within four months after the vessel's departure from the port of such certificates and lists as have been withheld, the Secretary of Labor shall cause the sum deposited to be returned, less the cost of maintenance as determined above, but in case any master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, or shall refuse to answer truthfully the questions contained therein, or to subscribe to the affidavit prescribed in relation thereto, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. Such refusal shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and clearance may be withheld by the collector of customs until the list required is delivered, but clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of such list upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the probable cost of the maintenance of such vessel's crew while detained at such port, to be determined by the immigrant inspector in charge, and in no case less than $5 per day for each member of the crew. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, or to answer truthfully the questions contained therein, such vessel shall be prohibited from leaving the port, and such refusal shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and clearance may be withheld by the collector of customs until the list required is delivered, but clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of such list upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the probable cost of the maintenance of such vessel's crew while detained at such port, to be determined by the immigrant inspector in charge, and in no case less than $5 per day for each member of the crew. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, or to answer truthfully the questions contained therein, such vessel shall be prohibited from leaving the port, and such refusal shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and clearance may be withheld by the collector of customs until the list required is delivered, but clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of such list upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the probable cost of the maintenance of such vessel's crew while detained at such port, to be determined by the immigrant inspector in charge, and in no case less than $5 per day for each member of the crew.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the admission of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge of any railroad entering into the United States from any foreign territory contiguous thereto, shall not allow any alien to land in the United States from such vessel or railroad unless and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of the intended landing of such alien, and has either inspected such alien or has satisfied himself that the inspection of such alien will be waived without detriment to the interests of the United States, and has indicated such waiver in writing. Such inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners, unless such examination is waived as provided in the case of aliens in transit through the United States. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the facts concerning the landing of any alien, or pending the taking of any bond required by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or pending an appeal taken from the decision of the board of special inquiry, or pending the deportation of such alien, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the facts concerning the landing of such alien upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance of such alien, as provided in the case of other aliens detained on board vessels, and upon the execution of a bond or undertaking approved by the collector of customs.

(c) Every alien who shall not be admitted into the United States or who shall be found to have been admitted into the United States through the wilful neglect or fraud of the owner, agent, consignee, master, commanding officer, or person in charge of the vessel or railroad on which he arrived, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. The cost of maintaining any alien pending a determination of his right to land and of providing for the deportation of any alien found unlawfully in the United States shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any appropriation contained in any Act for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be available for the employment of counsel, stenographers, and other assistants required by the Secretary of Labor for the prosecution of proceedings before boards of special inquiry and for the defense of any case in the courts.

(d) Every alien arriving in the United States from any country contiguous thereto, or adjacent thereto by water, whether such alien is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa or not, may be required by the Secretary of Labor to establish that he is not subject to exclusion under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and if he fails to establish such fact he may be excluded.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any alien has come into the United States in violation of law, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at any time within three years thereafter upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, to be issued within one year after the entry of such alien, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Such warrant shall specify the place from which the alien is to be taken and the time within which he is to be returned, and shall designate the country whence he came, and if such country refuses to receive such alien, then to any country which is willing to receive him. Such warrant may be executed by any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States authorized by any such inspector, or by any officer authorized to execute warrants of arrest in any case under the jurisdiction of the United States, or by any employee of a steamship company on which such alien arrived in the United States who is designated for such purpose by any such inspector or officer. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the inhibited entry and the country whence the alien came. The cost of maintaining any alien pending a determination of his right to land and of providing for the deportation of any alien found unlawfully in the United States shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any appropriation contained in any Act for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be available for the employment of counsel, stenographers, and other assistants required by the Secretary of Labor for the prosecution of proceedings before boards of special inquiry and for the defense of any case in the courts.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been imposed, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to land prescribed by section 36 of said act prayed been served, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the admission of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge of any railroad entering into the United States from any foreign territory contiguous thereto, who shall allow any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of the intended landing of such alien seaman and has either inspected such alien or has satisfied himself that the inspection of such alien will be waived without detriment to the interests of the United States, and has indicated such waiver in writing. Such inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners, or to any alien seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to any alien seaman permitted to land temporarily under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or to any alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the facts concerning the landing of any alien seaman, or pending the taking of any bond required by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or pending an appeal taken from the decision of the board of special inquiry, or pending the deportation of such alien seaman, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the facts concerning the landing of such alien upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance of such alien, as provided in the case of other aliens detained on board vessels, and upon the execution of a bond or undertaking approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not be admitted into the United States or who shall be found to have been admitted into the United States through the wilful neglect or fraud of the owner, agent, consignee, master, commanding officer, or person in charge of the vessel or railroad on which he arrived in the United States, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. The cost of maintaining any alien seaman pending a determination of his right to land and of providing for the deportation of any alien seaman found unlawfully in the United States shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any appropriation contained in any Act for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be available for the employment of counsel, stenographers, and other assistants required by the Secretary of Labor for the prosecution of proceedings before boards of special inquiry and for the defense of any case in the courts.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived came within the provisions of section 3 of this Act, he may cause such alien to be detained on board such vessel or at such time as the vessel is ready to depart from the United States, or at any time thereafter, cause such alien seaman to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, if such country will receive him, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Such warrant shall specify the place from which the alien is to be taken and the time within which he is to be returned, and shall designate the country whence he came, and if such country refuses to receive such alien, then to any country which is willing to receive him. Such warrant may be executed by any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States authorized by any such inspector, or by any officer authorized to execute warrants of arrest in any case under the jurisdiction of the United States, or by any employee of a steamship company on which such alien arrived in the United States who is designated for such purpose by any such inspector or officer. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the inhibited entry and the country whence the alien came. The cost of maintaining any alien pending a determination of his right to land and of providing for the deportation of any alien found unlawfully in the United States shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any appropriation contained in any Act for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be available for the employment of counsel, stenographers, and other assistants required by the Secretary of Labor for the prosecution of proceedings before boards of special inquiry and for the defense of any case in the courts.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list of races and peoples before which appears on blank forms approved by the Department and to which reference is made in the instructions to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and which immediately precedes the question "Nationality or people," is not to be considered as exclusive or final, but is to be followed literally as far as it goes, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival is directed to write or cause to be written in answer to that question the name of the country or people to which each alien belongs, according to the following general rules:

(1) Where the alien has a permanent domicile in a country other than that of his birth, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of the country of his domicile.

(2) Where the alien has resided in the country of his birth or domicile for a long period of years, or has acquired there a permanent status, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of such country.

(3) Where the alien is a citizen of a country in which several races or peoples are represented, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people which predominates in such country.

(4) Where the alien is a native of a country in which several races or peoples are represented, but in which no one race or people predominates sufficiently to entitle it to be designated as the race or people of such country, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of the district from which he comes.

(5) Where the alien comes from a country which is composed entirely or principally of several races or peoples, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of the district from which he comes.

(6) Where the alien comes from a country which is composed entirely or principally of several races or peoples, and which does not constitute a political unit, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of the district from which he comes.

(7) Where the alien comes from a country which is composed entirely or principally of several races or peoples, and which does not constitute a political unit, he should be registered as belonging to the race or people of the district from which he comes.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The line described below which is to be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and which is to be used in no other way, is taken from the vessel. The list of symbols to other immigration officers at the port of arrival (Form 980) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "worker," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, until a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, with sufficient sureties, shall be given to the United States to guarantee the return of such alien seaman on board such vessel or on board some other vessel to the country from which he came to the United States, or to guarantee the payment of the cost of his maintenance and treatment while in the United States, not to exceed $30 per week, and of his burial expenses in case of death, and such bond shall be given and such payments shall be made in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any such alien seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient in the opinion of such officer to provide for the payment of such cost, but not exceeding $30 per week, pending the completion of his case, unless sooner released or returned to the country from which he came to the United States. Any such deposit may be remitted to such alien seaman or to his legal representative in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct. Such alien seaman shall not be permitted to land temporarily for medical treatment or because of illness, injury, or distress, if the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall furnish a certificate of a physician designated by the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman is not suffering from any contagious disease and that the certificate is accepted by the immigration officer in charge of the port.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to the vessel, such alien seaman may be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the Department designated by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, unless he shall, prior to the date of his departure, deposit with the Secretary of Labor such sum as the Secretary of Labor shall deem sufficient to cover the cost of his deportation, and in addition thereto the sum of $10 for each alien seaman so deserting. Such deposit shall be refunded if such alien seaman reports to the Secretary of Labor within four months from the date of his departure from the United States, or if he dies during such period, or if it is established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been deported from a foreign port. Such deposit shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien seaman shall not report within four months from the date of his departure from the United States, or if it is established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has failed to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, unless such failure was occasioned by illness, injury, or other cause beyond the control of such alien seaman. Such deposit shall be refunded if such alien seaman shall report

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or commander, or consignee of the vessel in the case of vessels coming to the port of arrival by water, and of the master, conductor, or person in charge of any vessel coming to the port of arrival by land, severally to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of inspection of such vessel or vessels, a full and correct list of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether they have a ticket through to such destination, whether they have been in the United States previously and how long, whether they have been deported or excluded and the cause, whether they are in possession of $50 and by whom it was furnished, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or institution for the insane or supported by charity, whether they are coming by reason of any offer, promise, agreement, or assistance to labor in the United States, whether they have a ticket through to the place of their ultimate destination, whether they intend to become citizens of the United States, the race or people to which they belong, the last occupation and the personal description of each, including sex, age, height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification, the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence they came, and the name and complete address of the person to whom they are going in the United States, the final destination of each alien who is not a citizen of the United States, whether they have a ticket through to such destination, whether their passage has been paid for by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or government, and whether they have in their possession or have had an amount of money, and if so, how much, and whether they have been assisted by any person or corporation, society, municipality, or government, and if so, how much, by whom, and whether they have been in prison or almshouse or institution for the insane or supported by charity, which list shall be certified by the master, commander, or other officer of such vessel to be correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and shall be sworn to before the consul or other officer of the United States vising the same at the port of departure of such vessel if such consul or other officer be there stationed, and if not there stationed then before the consul or other officer of the United States nearest the port of departure of such vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel shall be admitted to entry or to a clearance or permit to unload. Any master, commander, or other officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list, or who shall refuse to subscribe and swear to the same when required as herein provided, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the same or touching the right of any person on board to enter the United States, or who shall make a false answer to any such question, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been duly verified by oath of the master, commander, or other officer of the vessel before the officer administering the oath and subscribed by said master, commander, or other officer. Such oath may be administered by any officer of the customs designated for the purpose by the collector of customs. The oath shall be substantially in the form prescribed by section 37 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and the list required by section 36 of said Act shall be substantially in the form prescribed by section 38 of said Act, but the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may change the forms of said oath and list from time to time as he may deem necessary to secure the information required by said sections.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness which arose after the vessel arrived in the United States, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the adjudged deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except temporarily for medical treatment) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except for such immediate and temporary medical examination as may be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and except for such further time as may be necessary in case of quarantine or other governmental action preventing compliance with the provisions of this section, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to obtain such seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, the amount of such bond to be fixed by the collector of customs.

(b) That first and so often as alien seamen did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which they arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel as a penalty shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain the deposit after reinspection by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring hospital treatment as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, other than Canada or Mexico, shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (or, if there be no immigration officer at the port, to the collector of customs) a passenger list or manifest of all persons () aboard such vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered before the vessel shall be granted clearance by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance. Such list or manifest shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners(s), to or duly detailed to examine such persons on board such vessel, and shall contain such information and be in such form as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or after the fine imposed has been adjudged final, except after clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, or arriving at a land border port, who may not appear from the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived to be entitled to enter the United States or to which the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel refuses to grant a certificate, shall be taken before a special inquiry officer for examination. Such examination shall be conducted fully and completely, independently of the testimony of the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel, and may be conducted at such time after the arrival of the vessel as the immigration officer in charge may deem practicable. Such examination shall be separate and apart from the public, and only such persons as the immigrant desires may be present, after being excluded therefrom during the taking of testimony. The testimony shall be recorded and shall become part of the permanent record in the case. Notice of the decision shall be given to the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that any person has been refused admission in violation of the provisions of this section, the owner of the vessel bringing such person to the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 in addition to any other penalty prescribed by this section, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he shall deem just and proper. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of which has failed to deposit the amount of such penalty with the collector of customs, or to furnish a bond for the payment thereof satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members, if crew (Form 583) shall not be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alleging seaman is a "noncrew" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively signed, and specifying those of the persons employed who are destined to ports in the United States. Such lists shall be delivered in duplicate, and verified by the oath of the master, or of such other officer as may be designated by him, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any member of the crew employed at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival has deserted or been left behind, and shall also contain a description of such alien, so far as such information shall be obtainable, and the last country from which he came to the United States. Such lists shall also contain the names of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival thereof at the port of arrival who have been left behind in foreign countries, or who have died during the period of such employment, and the cause of death of such persons, if known. Such lists shall also contain the names of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival thereof at the port of arrival who have been left behind in foreign countries, or who have died during the period of such employment, and the cause of death of such persons, if known. Such lists shall also contain the names of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival thereof at the port of arrival who have been left behind in foreign countries, or who have died during the period of such employment, and the cause of death of such persons, if known. Such lists shall also contain the names of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival thereof at the port of arrival who have been left behind in foreign countries, or who have died during the period of such employment, and the cause of death of such persons, if known.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment as may be necessary as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port to depart temporarily on board such vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed shall be deported at the expense of the vessel, unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such seaman has been taken on board such vessel or has otherwise left the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment as may be necessary as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

Sec. 8. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment as may be necessary as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

(d) Every alien seaman employed on board any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port to depart temporarily on board such vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed shall be deported at the expense of the vessel, unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such seaman has been taken on board such vessel or has otherwise left the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and failure to comply with such regulations will be deemed sufficient cause for refusing clearance to the vessel, and may cause the vessel to be refused admission to any port of the United States during the succeeding twelve months.

Sec. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they temporarily hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be put ashore at the port of arrival; to list separately the citizens of the United States employed on such vessel; and to report the names of all aliens, together with such information likely to lead to the identification of such aliens as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and failure to report, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and any owner, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been secreted on board such vessel, and the name of such alien, if known, and the further name of any such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a transcript of the crew list of such vessel, containing the names of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the entry of the vessel but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those who have been hired to fill the vacancies caused by those who will leave the vessel, and who have been employed elsewhere than at the port of arrival; and any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not furnished, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 nor less than $100 for each alien concerning whom any wilful misrepresentation is made: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 2. Clearance shall not be granted vun vessel until the liste required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by section 36 of said act finally been waived, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board vun vessel arriving in the United States from vun place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of vun vessel arriving in the United States from vun place outside thereof who fails to detain on board vun alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to cause such seaman to be detained on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved vy the collector of customs.

(b) Proof shall be filed as soon as possible by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which the alien seaman claimed not to have been employed on board vun the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or from vun place outside thereof, or from vun port to another within the United States, or from the immigration officer at the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman owing to the length of time required to effect his deportation, and that such vessel is ready to depart from the United States before such deportation can be effected, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or on board vun vessel sailing to the same port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

Vessel AMER S/S BORDER KING, arriving at SEATTLE WASH., DECEMBER 24, 19 18, from the port of POWELL RIVER BC

Required under Act of Congress of February 5, 1917, to be delivered to the United States immigration officer by the representative of any vessel having such alien on board upon arrival in a port of the United States

J. A. Nolan

Master.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, W. L. AMMERMAN, MASTER, of the AMER. S/S BORDER KING, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 5TH day of DECEMBER, 19 40

Immigrant Inspector.

33513

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members to crews (Form 583) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is ordered "forward," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed or who may desire, subject the provisions thereof, to be employed on such vessel, stating the position that each respectively hold in the vessel's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether those so to be hired or discharged in the port of arrival; or that information to that effect be indorsed on the ship's articles as to each alien, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered at such time, and in such manner, and contain such other information relative to such aliens, as may be prescribed by rules and regulations to be made by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section or with any such rules and regulations shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States to land from such vessel, except temporarily to obtain medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring such treatment, or for the purpose of rendering assistance in the case of shipwreck or other disaster, or for the purpose of participating in such other cases as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time, until a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 for each such alien as may be required by him is given to the United States to guarantee the payment of any hospital expenses and burial expenses that may be incurred on account of such alien, and to guarantee that such alien will not become a public charge, and that he will be returned to the country whence he came when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, and until the cost of the bond required by this section has been paid to the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who has been granted shore leave under the provisions of this section and who fails to return to the vessel or depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or who fails to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure within a reasonable time after the departure of the vessel from such port, shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report or return was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been unduly delayed by the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to furnish a sufficient number of competent persons in the crew to perform the work required of them, or by the refusal of such persons to perform such work, or by the desertion of any of the crew, or by the unseaworthiness of the vessel, or by any cause due to the fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the Secretary of Labor such sum as the Secretary of Labor may determine to be necessary to defray the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman for the period of such delay, and may withhold clearance for the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived pending the payment of such sum or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor. Such sum may be recovered from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in any action brought for the purpose in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any such sum or any part thereof.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall not report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure within the period allowed by the immigration officer at the time of his landing, or within such further time as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be subject to deportation as provided in this section.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who is destined to a port in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring such treatment, or for the purpose of rendering assistance in the case of shipwreck or other disaster, or for the purpose of participating in such other cases as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time, until a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 for each such alien as may be required by him is given to the United States to guarantee the payment of any hospital expenses and burial expenses that may be incurred on account of such alien, and to guarantee that such alien will not become a public charge, and that he will be returned to the country whence he came when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, and until the cost of the bond required by this section has been paid to the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall not report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure within the period allowed by the immigration officer at the time of his landing, or within such further time as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report or return was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been unduly delayed by the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to furnish a sufficient number of competent persons in the crew to perform the work required of them, or by the refusal of such persons to perform such work, or by the desertion of any of the crew, or by the unseaworthiness of the vessel, or by any cause due to the fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the Secretary of Labor such sum as the Secretary of Labor may determine to be necessary to defray the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman for the period of such delay, and may withhold clearance for the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived pending the payment of such sum or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor. Such sum may be recovered from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in any action brought for the purpose in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any such sum or any part thereof.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall not report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure within the period allowed by the immigration officer at the time of his landing, or within such further time as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report or return was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been unduly delayed by the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to furnish a sufficient number of competent persons in the crew to perform the work required of them, or by the refusal of such persons to perform such work, or by the desertion of any of the crew, or by the unseaworthiness of the vessel, or by any cause due to the fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the Secretary of Labor such sum as the Secretary of Labor may determine to be necessary to defray the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman for the period of such delay, and may withhold clearance for the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived pending the payment of such sum or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor. Such sum may be recovered from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in any action brought for the purpose in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any such sum or any part thereof.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they have severally been employed during the twelve months' immediately preceding the date of such arrival; of the place of birth, the last residence, the intended destination, and whether they have a ticket or through transportation engagement, the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence they came, the amount of money in their possession, and whether any person has paid their passage or given them money for the journey; of the ownership of the vessel; and of such other matters, including the marks of identification of the vessel, and information relative to the crew, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the departure of the vessel from the foreign port as the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival may direct, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer and such other members of the crew as may be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the passengers shall be landed therefrom, except such as may be specially authorized by the principal immigration officer to land without such delivery. Such lists shall be in the form and contain the information prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully the questions contained in such lists as to each alien concerning whom information is required by this section, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while such fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or a bond sufficient to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) From and after the expiration of ninety days after the passage of this Act it shall be unlawful for any vessel to depart from any port of the United States from any place outside thereof or any place in the United States to any place outside thereof, or attempt to depart therefrom, or for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof to clear or attempt to clear therefor, without having first obtained from the Secretary of Labor, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, a certificate that the provisions of this section have been complied with, which certificate shall be granted upon satisfactory proof that the vessel has complied herewith, and that there is no reason to believe that any person has been or is unlawfully detained on board such vessel for the purpose of enforcing the payment of any sum which may be required to be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel under the provisions of this section. Any vessel departing or attempting to depart from any port of the United States in violation of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $2,000, for the payment of which sum the vessel shall also be liable. Clearance may be refused to any vessel by reason of the violation of this section by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof, or by reason of the refusal, neglect, or inability of the master to deliver lists in accordance with the requirements of this section, notwithstanding the production of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deterioration of the alien seamen on the vessel or which the vessel is bound, due to the character of the food supplied them, is likely to endanger the health of such seamen, he may require the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel to furnish such seamen with such additional food as he may prescribe, and may prescribe the character and amount thereof.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 7. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, nor may any such alien seaman employed on board any vessel lying in the immediate vicinity of the port of arrival be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of quarantine, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the protection of alien seamen who desert.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on board such vessel lying in the immediate vicinity of the port of arrival for the purpose of working cargo or coaling such vessel, or who fails to deport such alien seaman on board such vessel upon the departure of such vessel from such port, or who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel who is refused a landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while such fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or a bond sufficient to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) From and after the expiration of thirty days after the conferring hereafter of the consent of the Secretary of Labor to the admission of any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States under the provisions of this section, it shall be unlawful for any vessel to depart from any port of the United States for any place outside thereof, or attempt to depart therefrom, or for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof to clear or attempt to clear therefor, without having first obtained from the Secretary of Labor, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, a certificate that the provisions of this section have been complied with, which certificate shall be granted upon satisfactory proof that the vessel has complied herewith, and that there is no reason to believe that any person has been or is unlawfully detained on board such vessel for the purpose of enforcing the payment of any sum which may be required to be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel under the provisions of this section. Any vessel departing or attempting to depart from any port of the United States in violation of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $2,000, for the payment of which sum the vessel shall also be liable. Clearance may be refused to any vessel by reason of the violation of this section by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof, or by reason of the refusal, neglect, or inability of the master to deliver lists in accordance with the requirements of this section, notwithstanding the production of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deterioration of the alien seamen on the vessel or which the vessel is bound, due to the character of the food supplied them, is likely to endanger the health of such seamen, he may require the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel to furnish such seamen with such additional food as he may prescribe, and may prescribe the character and amount thereof.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 988) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, as the Secretary of Labor may require.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or the Panama Canal Zone or any insular possession of the United States subject to the jurisdiction thereof, the master of every vessel shall deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list, certified to be true by the master, of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien employed, and specifying the particular compartment, space, or part of the vessel occupied by each alien during the voyage, and the compartment, space, or part of the vessel in which each alien will be employed while in port, and such other information relative to such aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe by regulations hereafter made; and such list shall be subscribed and sworn to before such immigration officer by the master of such vessel, which oath such immigration officer is hereby authorized to administer. Such list may be amended from time to time during the stay of such vessel in port, by report in writing to such immigration officer, as soon as discovered, of cases in which aliens have been employed or have changed their compartment, space, or part of the vessel occupied by them from that specified in the list last theretofore reported to such immigration officer, and such report shall be subscribed and sworn to before such immigration officer by the master of such vessel. Any master who shall fail to deliver to such immigration officer any list required by this section, or who shall fail to report any change in the list of employees before the departure of such vessel from the port where such change occurs, unless such master shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report in lieu thereof is not made as above required, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized by the Secretary of Labor to grant clearance papers until such penalty has been paid or the payment thereof secured to the satisfaction of the collector of customs, or the Secretary of Labor, or a court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of the said Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor, may be arrested upon warrant issued upon complaint made by any immigrant inspector, and shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers. Any master who shall employ any alien seaman who has been refused a permit to land, or who has been notified that a permit has been revoked, or any master who shall fail to report the departure of any alien seaman, or who shall fail to detain on board his vessel any alien seaman when ordered by an immigrant inspector so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10.12 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, or while the case is being reviewed by the Secretary of Labor, unless a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor, may be arrested upon warrant issued upon complaint made by any immigrant inspector, and shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor, may be arrested upon warrant issued upon complaint made by any immigrant inspector, and shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(g) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to any fine prescribed by section 35 or 36 of said Act has been served, the deposit required in rule 8 has been made, and a permit to land granted by the Secretary of Labor, may be arrested upon warrant issued upon complaint made by any immigrant inspector, and shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(i) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(j) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(l) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(m) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(n) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(o) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(p) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(q) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(r) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(s) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(t) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(u) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(v) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(w) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(x) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(y) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(z) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(aa) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(bb) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(cc) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(dd) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(ee) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(ff) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(gg) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be ready to depart from the port: Provided further, That the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on shore as provided in this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be paid to the person entitled thereto before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or the collector of customs may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(hh) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or any adjacent island (except Cuba, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, and other islands adjacent to the United States), will be unduly delayed or expensive, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel as a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to the vessel, or may cause such alien seaman to be removed from the vessel and detained in such place on shore as he may designate, at the expense of the vessel, pending the departure of the vessel: Provided, That such alien seaman shall not be detained on board any vessel for a longer period than seventy-two hours after the vessel shall be

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, whether the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, the ultimate destination of each alien, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of the master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant the information required of him by this section has been evaded or neglected, and specifying a description of such alien, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien a printed list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the sailing of the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien a printed list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the sailing of the vessel, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind sick or otherwise, and the cause so far as known: Provided, That the master of any vessel who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense, and shall also be liable to the United States for the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a duly authorized immigrant inspector at the time the vessel is cleared or her departure otherwise prevented: And provided further, That the master of any vessel may be required by the Secretary of Labor, by and with the consent of the Secretary of the Treasury, to deposit with the collector of customs at the port of arrival a sum of money sufficient to pay the cost of the return passage to the country whence such alien came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to such country as he may choose, in case such alien becomes a public charge within one year after his arrival in the United States, such sum to be determined by the Secretary of Labor and to be refunded to the master of such vessel upon the certificate of the inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien has not become a public charge within one year after his arrival in the United States, or upon the certificate of the commissioner of immigration at any other port within one year after such arrival that such alien has not become a public charge within one year after his arrival in the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien who shall not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall land from any vessel at any port in the United States from which no list or manifest has been required to be delivered, shall be deemed to be a person likely to become a public charge, unless he shall satisfy the Secretary of Labor to the contrary.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reasonable ground for believing that any alien has been guilty of any act or thing rendering him liable to deportation under the provisions of this Act, he may cause such alien to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at any time within three years after his entry, in the manner provided by section 20 of this Act for the deportation of aliens who become public charges from causes existing prior to their entry. Such deportation shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts and cause of deportation in any case.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the time required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been complied, but not when notice of inability to the administrative officer that prescribed by such section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act of May 26, 1924, has been served, the deposit specified in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board thereof any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of such intention at least twenty-four hours before the departure of such vessel (which notification in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor or by any immigration officer or the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination on deposit with the collector of customs of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from which no list or manifest has been required to be delivered by the master, shall be prima facie evidence to a landing or to deport or cause to depart from the United States such alien seaman, and such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a landing or to deport or cause to depart from the United States such alien seaman on board such vessel, and such vessel may be refused clearance until such alien seaman has been deported.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on board any vessel will endanger the welfare of such alien seaman, or that such alien seaman is a material witness in any criminal proceeding pending in the United States, such alien seaman may be permitted to land temporarily under bond, in such sum and with such conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, but such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in this section as soon as the reasons for granting such temporary permission to land shall no longer exist.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on board any vessel will endanger the welfare of such alien seaman, or that such alien seaman is a material witness in any criminal proceeding pending in the United States, such alien seaman may be permitted to land temporarily under bond, in such sum and with such conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, but such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in this section as soon as the reasons for granting such temporary permission to land shall no longer exist.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens on board any other transfer of every kind (yes) shall not be indicated on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. "Port of arrival" is addition to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at each port of entry a list or manifest of all aliens who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place, and the inspection officers at the port of arrival may go on board of any vessel for the purpose of examining the list or manifest of aliens before the vessel is granted entry, and may also inspect the vessel to ascertain whether any aliens are secreted thereon. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate forms to be furnished by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain the name and last known residence of every such alien so reported, and such other information regarding each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of every vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien not listed and reported as herein provided, unless it shall be established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel had no reasonable grounds to believe that such alien was an alien who had been or might be excluded from admission to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or unless such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall have delivered to the proper immigration officer a certified copy of the list or manifest of such alien, with the word "detained" noted in the manner and opposite the name of such alien as directed by such immigration officer, and shall have obtained a receipt therefor and shall have produced such receipt to the commissioner of immigration at the destination of such alien before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs. Upon the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to deliver such list or manifest, or any part thereof, or to permit the inspection of the same, or the detention of any alien for the purpose of such inspection, such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall pay to the United States the sum of $10 for each alien not listed or reported or detained as aforesaid, for which sum the vessel shall be liable, and may be libeled therefor in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which the vessel may arrive: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fine imposed by section 36 shall have been determined, and not then unless the orders specified in Rule 23 have been made.

Liability to the administrative fine prescribed by this section or to that prescribed by section 36 shall be determined by such officer, not exceeding two, as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such officers shall have power to administer oaths of office and to take and consider such evidence touching the matter complained of as may be submitted under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such officers shall have power to enter into contracts with such common carriers as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and the Secretary of Labor is authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry this section into effect. Decisions of such officers shall be subject to review by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms as may be prescribed by him. Fines imposed by such officers may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms as he may prescribe. Such fines may be collected by and in the name of the United States by action in the district court of the United States within the district in which the vessel may arrive or the cause of action may arise, or by deduction from any moneys due or becoming due to the master or owner of such vessel, and such fines shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by process in admiralty. The remedy hereby given is cumulative and shall not be construed to repeal or affect any other remedy given by law.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has been allowed to land in the United States from any vessel in violation of law, and that such alien can be found among those on board of such vessel, he may cause such alien to be detained on board thereof at the port of arrival pending the completion of the inquiry to establish whether such alien has been unlawfully landed from the vessel. The cost of such detention shall be a lien against the vessel, and shall be recoverable by the United States in the manner provided by law for the recovery of penalties imposed upon vessels.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States by water, whether entering at the seaports or at inland ports on the borders of the United States, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and shall not be admitted to enter the United States if he belongs to the excluded classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, or if he is unable to read the English language or other language or dialect prescribed by section 8 of this Act, subject to the provisions of that section and of section 7 of this Act.

(c) Any alien who shall enter or attempt to enter the United States in violation of this Act shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after entry.

(d) Every alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien may be admitted to the United States or shall be allowed to depart therefrom, or unless such alien shall be duly admitted within the period of one year from the date of his entry into the United States.

(e) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power and it shall be his duty to establish in connection with the immigrant stations through the United States, at such places as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, such boards of special inquiry, not to exceed three in number at any station, as may be necessary for the determination of the right of aliens to enter the United States, and the Secretary of Labor may call upon any department of the Government for such assistance in the way of examiners and other employees as may be required from time to time. The boards shall have authority to administer oaths, subpœna witnesses, and compel their attendance, and to take evidence touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, which evidence shall be taken down in the form of a record of the proceedings of the boards, and shall be filed with the other papers in the case. Every alien who may be excluded by such boards shall have the right to appeal from the decision of the board to the Secretary of Labor, who shall cause the case to be reviewed and determined upon the record and evidence produced before the board, and may affirm or reverse the decision of the board as in his judgment may be just and proper. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant station. Such appeal shall be taken within ten days after the decision of the board, and shall be perfected within such time as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations of the Secretary of Labor. Every alien who is excluded by the boards of special inquiry and who does not appeal from the decision within the time limited, or whose appeal is not perfected within the time prescribed by the rules and regulations of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided by section 20 of this Act. Such boards shall also have authority, in their discretion, to admit outright or to admit under bond in such sum as they may prescribe, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, aliens who are likely to become public charges, or who are afflicted with any contagious disease, or who have been convicted of felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or aliens who are polygamists, or who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or who disbelieve in or are opposed to organized government, or who advocate the assassination of public officials, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property, or who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such beliefs or advocating or teaching the practice of sabotage, or who are members of or affiliated with any organization that writes, prints, or publishes or causes to be written, printed, or published, or who knowingly circulates, distributes, prints, or publishes or causes to be circulated, distributed, printed, or published, or who knowingly displays or causes to be displayed any written or printed matter advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who are members of or affiliated with any organization that writes, circulates, sells, distributes, prints, or publishes or causes to be written, circulated, sold, distributed, printed, or published, or who knowingly displays or causes to be displayed any such written or printed matter, upon the entry of any such alien into the United States, or who shall thereafter have entered the United States unlawfully. Upon the certification by the boards of special inquiry of the fact that any alien has been admitted under bond, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel the bond upon the payment of a sum not exceeding $100 in any one case, which payment shall be conclusive upon the sureties on the bond. The boards of special inquiry shall have such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and may be reduced in number from time to time in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(f) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the detention on the vessels of such lines, at the ports of arrival, of aliens who may be brought to such ports by such lines and who may be excluded from admission to the United States, such contracts to provide for the payment by such lines of the cost of such detention, not exceeding $1 per day for each alien detained, and of the cost of the return of such excluded aliens to the countries whence they came, and to provide that in case such lines shall refuse to detain such excluded aliens on their vessels while in port, or to return them to the countries whence they came, they shall pay to the United States any fine imposed upon such aliens and any judgment obtained by the United States for the collection of the same.

(g) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the temporary detention, upon the dock or pier of the vessel on which they shall arrive, of aliens who may be destined to the United States, pending the decision of the boards of special inquiry as to whether such aliens belong to the classes excluded from admission to the United States by this Act, such contracts to provide for the payment by such lines of the cost of such detention, not exceeding $1 per day for each alien detained, and of the cost of the return of such excluded aliens to the countries whence they came, and to provide that in case such lines shall refuse to detain such excluded aliens on their vessels while in port, or to return them to the countries whence they came, they shall pay to the United States any fine imposed upon such aliens and any judgment obtained by the United States for the collection of the same.

(h) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(i) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(j) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(k) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(x) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(y) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(z) That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the return of aliens who may be excluded from admission to the United States or to the port from which they came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign port or place at the time of the enactment of this Act, or thereafter, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring hospital treatment, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment which is not available on board, and in all such cases the immigration officials at the port of arrival shall require a bond in the sum of $300 for each alien seaman to insure the departure of such alien seaman from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel within thirty days after the date of such landing, unless such alien seaman is sooner removed to a foreign port by the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived or by the steamship company operating such vessel, or unless such alien seaman is sooner removed to a foreign port by the master or owner of any vessel which may be substituted for the vessel on which he arrived. Such bond shall be given by the master or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived or by the steamship company operating such vessel, and shall be conditioned upon the return on board the vessel, or on board some substituted vessel, of such alien seaman within the period specified, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from a foreign port, who shall have been lawfully admitted into the United States and who shall be found after entering the United States, to have remained longer on shore than the period allowed by the immigration laws or the rules and regulations made thereunder, or to have violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted, or to be unable to establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is not within any of the classes of aliens who are subject to deportation, shall be taken into custody and deported to the country in which he was born or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion allow him to remain in the United States for such time and under such conditions as he may prescribe: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who shall have been granted shore leave under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and who is within the period of such shore leave, and who shall have complied with all the conditions upon which such shore leave was granted: Provided further, That no alien seaman shall be granted shore leave who is afflicted with any contagious disease, or who is a member of a class which, if entering the United States as a steerage passenger, would be refused admission into the United States under section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, but such seaman may be treated for such disease or affliction in such hospital as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and may be detained on board or in such hospital, if such detention is deemed necessary by the Secretary of Labor, for such period as may be prescribed by him: Provided further, That no alien seaman shall be granted shore leave who has been refused admission into the United States unless upon the certification of the immigration officer who refused admission that such seaman has been treated for such disease or affliction, or that such disease or affliction does not exist, or unless such seaman is in charge of a medical officer of the vessel who certifies in writing that such seaman is not afflicted with any such disease or affliction: Provided further, That any seaman who has been granted shore leave and who has overstayed the period allowed him ashore shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, and shall thereafter be refused a visa as an applicant for admission to the United States and a permit to land temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman, unless specifically readmitted by the Secretary of Labor in his discretion, after a hearing upon the application of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, or of the steamship company on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States, to the effect that such alien seaman was forced to overstay his shore leave because of illness of such alien seaman while under the care of a physician, or because of the failure to secure the return of such alien seaman to a port in his native country, or to a port in the country from which he took passage when he arrived in the United States, or because of the refusal of a consular officer to issue such alien seaman a visa, or because of the refusal of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States to permit such alien seaman to return on board the vessel, or because of the failure of such master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel to pay the cost of the return passage of such alien seaman, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel within a reasonable time after the vessel was ready to depart from the United States: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of the provisions of this section in the case of any alien seaman who is found by the Secretary of Labor to have been forced to overstay his shore leave because of the quarantining of the vessel on which he arrived, or of the vessel on which he was to depart from the United States, or because of the refusal of a consular officer to issue such alien seaman a visa, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel within a reasonable time after the vessel was ready to depart from the United States, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel on account of sickness, when such sickness was certified to by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and such alien seaman was found otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel on account of such alien seaman being detained in a hospital, when such detention was certified to by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and such alien seaman was found otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, or because of such alien seaman being detained in a hospital as a witness in connection with any case under investigation by the United States Department of Labor, and may issue a permit to such alien seaman to enter the United States solely for the purpose of testifying in such case and for the period or periods of time required by the Secretary of Labor, upon the giving of a bond or undertaking adequately protecting the United States and its officials from any charge for the support of such alien seaman while in the United States and guaranteeing that such alien seaman will depart from the United States when required to do so by the Secretary of Labor or such other officer as may be designated by him, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and may waive the presentation of such documents by such alien seaman as may be required by this Act and require other documents in lieu thereof.

(b) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit and every alien seaman who is permitted to enter the United States solely for the purpose of testifying in a case and for the period or periods of time required by the Secretary of Labor, as provided in subdivision (a), shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens, except that no hearing before a board of special inquiry shall be required unless demanded by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States or by a sailors' union which represents seamen employed on such vessel, and except that no appeal shall be taken from the decision of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival unless such appeal is taken within such period of time, not exceeding five days, as the immigrant inspector in charge at such port of arrival may prescribe. Pending the final determination of the case of any such alien seaman, the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival may, in his discretion, cause such alien seaman to be detained on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board such other vessel or vessels or in such place or places as may be designated by him with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The cost of such detention and of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained, except when such detention is on account of the application for a hearing before a board of special inquiry, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who is ordered deported and who is not deported within one month after the date of such order because of the failure of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States to return such alien seaman to a port in his native country, or to a port in the country from which he took passage when he arrived in the United States, or because of the refusal of a consular officer to issue such alien seaman a visa, or because of the refusal of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States to permit such alien seaman to return on board the vessel, or because of the failure of such master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel to pay the cost of the return passage of such alien seaman, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel within a reasonable time after the vessel was ready to depart from the United States, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel on account of sickness, when such sickness was certified to by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and such alien seaman was found otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, or because of the failure of such alien seaman to return to the vessel on account of such alien seaman being detained in a hospital, when such detention was certified to by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and such alien seaman was found otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, or because of such alien seaman being detained in a hospital as a witness in connection with any case under investigation by the United States Department of Labor, may cause such alien seaman to be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of seamen who have been granted shore leave and who fail to return to their vessel or to report to the immigrant inspector at the time specified: And provided further, That clause (4) of section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended, and all laws inconsistent herewith, shall not apply to the deportation of any alien seaman regularly admitted as such and employed as such on board the vessel on which he arrived, if found by the Secretary of Labor to be a bona fide alien seaman entitled to land temporarily in the United States solely in pursuance of his employment on board such vessel, and who is within the period of such shore leave granted him by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived, or by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and who is not deported solely because he has remained on board such vessel or has refused to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or has been refused a visa as an applicant for admission to the United States by the consular officer to whom he has applied for such visa, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused a passport by the country of which he claims nationality, or has been refused admission into the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily in the United States by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused transportation by the steamship company on which he arrived in the United States from the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a mental disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, and who is within the period of such shore leave granted him by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived, or by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and who is not deported solely because he has remained on board such vessel or has refused to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or has been refused a visa as an applicant for admission to the United States by the consular officer to whom he has applied for such visa, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused a passport by the country of which he claims nationality, or has been refused admission into the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily in the United States by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused transportation by the steamship company on which he arrived in the United States from the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a mental disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, and who is not so deported, entering or going in the United States thereafter, shall be deported as in the case of an alien seaman who has remained longer on shore than the period allowed him ashore.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a warrant for the deportation of such alien seaman within one month after the date of the report of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is to be deported, or if the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall have given a bond, with sufficient sureties, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the return of such alien seaman to a port in his native country, or to a port in the country from which he took passage when he arrived in the United States, or to such other port as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, such alien seaman may be granted shore leave by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival upon the giving of a like bond for the return of such alien seaman to the vessel on which he arrived, or to such other vessel or vessels as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, within such period of time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding five days from the date of the report of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is to be deported, and such alien seaman may be treated for such disease or affliction in such hospital as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and may be detained on board or in such hospital, if such detention is deemed necessary by the Secretary of Labor, for such period as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a warrant for the deportation of such alien seaman within one month after the date of the report of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is to be deported, or if the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall have given a bond, with sufficient sureties, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the return of such alien seaman to a port in his native country, or to a port in the country from which he took passage when he arrived in the United States, or to such other port as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, such alien seaman may be granted shore leave by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival upon the giving of a like bond for the return of such alien seaman to the vessel on which he arrived, or to such other vessel or vessels as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, within such period of time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding five days from the date of the report of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is to be deported, and such alien seaman may be treated for such disease or affliction in such hospital as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and may be detained on board or in such hospital, if such detention is deemed necessary by the Secretary of Labor, for such period as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended, and all laws inconsistent herewith, shall not apply to the deportation of any alien seaman regularly admitted as such and employed as such on board the vessel on which he arrived, if found by the Secretary of Labor to be a bona fide alien seaman entitled to land temporarily in the United States solely in pursuance of his employment on board such vessel, and who is within the period of such shore leave granted him by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived, or by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and who is not deported solely because he has remained on board such vessel or has refused to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or has been refused a visa as an applicant for admission to the United States by the consular officer to whom he has applied for such visa, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused a passport by the country of which he claims nationality, or has been refused admission into the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused a permit to land temporarily in the United States by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or has been refused transportation by the steamship company on which he arrived in the United States from the country to which he desires to go, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, or has been refused admission into such country by the government thereof upon the certification of the consular officer of such country in the United States that such alien seaman is afflicted with a mental disease, specified in section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, as amended, which would cause such alien seaman to be excluded from admission into such country if he should proceed thereto from the United States, and who is not so deported, entering or going in the United States thereafter, shall be deported as in the case of an alien seaman who has remained longer on shore than the period allowed him ashore.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes to alien members of crews (Form 589) shall not be detached or mailed, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination so much of such information as may be obtainable, and such other information as to the Secretary of Labor shall be required by regulation prescribed: but after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigration officer in charge of the port at which such vessel shall touch a list containing the names of all aliens employed or who were not employed theretofore at the time of the arrival of such vessel, and who are destined to ports within the United States, which list shall contain such information likely to lead to the apprehension of any such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver or cause to be delivered to such immigration officer any such list, or who shall refuse to subscribe the same when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a duly report at not above as above provided, and in the event such sum is imposed, while it remains unpaid, such vessel shall not be granted clearance: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been paid, remitted, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to some other prescribed by section 36 of said Act, and a receipt or certificate showing payment or remission of such fine has been issued.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from ports outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury to such alien seaman, or for such reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the aliens' departure, removal, or deportation to such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury to such alien seaman, or for such reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, any alien seaman (which term when used in this section shall include a seaman employed on such vessel) until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and certified that such seaman is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders which would be sufficient to exclude the alien from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, or any other law or regulation relating to the exclusion of aliens. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the presence on board thereof of any alien seaman afflicted with any such disease or disorder, or any other such alien seaman who may be excluded from admission to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or any other law or regulation relating to the exclusion of aliens, unless such seaman is a member of a crew destined to a port of the United States and is required in connection with the operation of the vessel or the care of passengers, or unless the vessel is to depart before the expiration of such time as the immigration officer in charge of the port may deem sufficient to enable such seaman to be certified by the medical examiners. Upon the certification by the medical examiners of the inadmissibility of any such seaman, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived shall be notified by the immigration officer in charge of the port, and such seaman shall be detained on board the vessel or at such place in the United States as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port pending a determination of the case upon the certificate of the medical examiners, a hearing upon the immigration officer, and an appeal to the Secretary of Labor if taken by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel. Upon the certification by the medical examiners that any such seaman is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders which would be sufficient to exclude the alien from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, or any other law or regulation relating to the exclusion of aliens

The law described below is prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and may be used for supplying to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The law is changed to the principal immigration officer at the port (See Form 588) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is given, it shall effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or his assistants respectively now designated by the Secretary of Labor or such other person as may hereafter be designated by the Secretary of Labor to receive the same, a complete manifest, duplicate and triplicate, containing the information required by the immigration laws in regard to each and every alien on board such vessel, whether destined to the United States or not as to the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; but failure of any person to deliver or to cause to be delivered such manifest shall not be deemed a violation of this section with respect to any alien who shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had actually and in good faith procured and caused to be delivered to the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel prior to the departure thereof from the last port at which such vessel touched, a manifest containing the information required by this section with respect to such alien, and that he had no reason to believe that the information contained in such manifest was incorrect; and the master of such vessel shall, before departure therefrom, deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which the vessel is to land, a list certified by him to be correct containing the names of all aliens employed thereon who were not employed thereon when such vessel sailed from the last foreign port or place at which it touched, and the reasons for the employment of each of such aliens, and shall furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as the Secretary of Labor may require. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any immigrant inspector in relation to any such alien, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct list and manifest are not delivered, to be refunded only upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that no penalty is due. If remitted by the Secretary of Labor, the fine shall be paid to the master at the time of the granting of the permit for the vessel to depart from port. Any master who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed under the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct list and manifest are not delivered, to be recovered by the collector of customs.

SEC. 41. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous fishery waters of the United States, unless specially permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment in a hospital or relief, or to secure other seamen in his place, or because of illness or injury requiring his removal, and pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon any proceedings for the deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 42. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous fishery waters of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness or injury requiring his removal, and pending the decision of such alien upon the question of his deportation from the United States, who shall refuse to obey any lawful order of deportation made in connection with any such alien, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the deportation of any alien seaman detained on board, unless security satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs as may be required by the Secretary of Labor is given that such alien seaman will depart from the United States in such vessel or on some other vessel at the earliest practicable time, and that he will pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and any expenses incident to his deportation, which security shall be void upon the departure of such alien seaman. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the deportation of any alien seaman detained on board, unless security satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor is given that such alien seaman will depart from the United States in such vessel or on some other vessel at the earliest practicable time, and that he will pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and any expenses incident to his deportation, which security shall be void upon the departure of such alien seaman, or upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel of the cost of maintenance and expenses incident to the deportation of such alien seaman. (b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and such vessel or any vessel of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the port at which such alien seaman arrived in the United States, will result in undue hardship to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or to the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the cargo thereof, or will cause undue delay in the departure of such vessel, he may, in his discretion, cancel the deportation of such alien seaman on board such vessel or on any other vessel upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel of the cost of maintenance and expenses incident to the deportation of such alien seaman, and such vessel may depart from the United States without the alien seaman. (c) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on any vessel in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed to have been deported from the United States as of the date of his departure, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and any expenses incident to his deportation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous fishery waters of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment in a hospital or relief, or to secure other seamen in his place, or because of illness or injury requiring his removal, and pending the decision of such alien upon the question of his deportation from the United States.

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous fishery waters of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness or injury requiring his removal, and pending the decision of such alien upon the question of his deportation from the United States, who shall refuse to obey any lawful order of deportation made in connection with any such alien, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the deportation of any alien seaman detained on board, unless security satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs as may be required by the Secretary of Labor is given that such alien seaman will depart from the United States in such vessel or on some other vessel at the earliest practicable time, and that he will pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and any expenses incident to his deportation, which security shall be void upon the departure of such alien seaman, or upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel of the cost of maintenance and expenses incident to the deportation of such alien seaman, and such vessel may depart from the United States without the alien seaman. (b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and such vessel or any vessel of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the port at which such alien seaman arrived in the United States, will result in undue hardship to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or to the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the cargo thereof, or will cause undue delay in the departure of such vessel, he may, in his discretion, cancel the deportation of such alien seaman on board such vessel or on any other vessel upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel of the cost of maintenance and expenses incident to the deportation of such alien seaman, and such vessel may depart from the United States without the alien seaman. (c) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on any vessel in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed to have been deported from the United States as of the date of his departure, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and any expenses incident to his deportation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons to be landed on the dock or other place at which the vessel may arrive and such other lists or manifests of the persons on board such vessel as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in such form and detail as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: and if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists or manifests, or any of them, or shall refuse to answer truthfully any such inquiries concerning the same as may be propounded by the principal immigration officer, or any assistant, in charge of any port of the United States, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall be severally liable to the fine or imprisonment imposed upon him by this section. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate any fine or imprisonment imposed upon any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel under the provisions of this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative officer prescribed by said section or to such prescribed by section 38 of said act have been served, the deposit specified in rule 25 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual necessity, unless specifically authorized by the Secretary of Labor, who may prescribe for the alternate detention of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than in distress or touching on board only for supplies) shall be responsible for the proper conduct while on board such vessel, and shall pay the cost of maintenance and treatment while a patient in a hospital, of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and such alien seaman shall not be permitted to land temporarily or permanently at any port of the United States until such inspection or the report thereof has been received by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or such alien seaman has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of debarkation as not affected with any contagious disease, a physical defect, or mental abnormality which would be the cause of his being excluded from admission to the United States or likely to become a public charge, or has been certified by such medical officer that in his opinion the sanitary conditions on board such vessel are such that the danger of the introduction into the United States of any contagious disease will be minimized by the landing of such alien seaman, and such seaman has been granted a certificate of landing by the immigration officer in charge at the port. Upon the granting of such certificate of landing the immigration officer shall indorse upon the certificate of identity issued to such alien seaman by the country to which he belongs, or if there is no such country, by the country from which he came to the United States, a description of such alien seaman sufficient for the identification of the holder, and shall forward a duplicate thereof to the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act, and the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seaman while a patient in a hospital, and of deportation, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery as to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall not in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens so prepared shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 688) and not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is "otherwise" a noncitizen, a nonimmigrant, or is not clearly and plainly entitled to admission, the master will be required to detain such alien on board the vessel, and such alien shall not be allowed to land at any time or place without the permission of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival where customhouse facilities exist, or to the customs officer designated in ports where no immigration officer is stationed, lists or manifests of all persons intending to land at such port, which lists or manifests shall be prepared at the time and place and in the manner required by the Secretary of Labor and shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe; and any master, agent, consignee, owner, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists or manifests, or who shall refuse to answer questions concerning the same, or who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to board such vessel or to enter any part thereof, or to exercise any authority conferred by this Act upon such inspector, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board or at quarantine or elsewhere when required so to do by the principal immigration officer or any assistant having charge of the matter, or who shall refuse to carry back any alien ordered excluded by the Board of Special Inquiry, or who shall refuse to assist in the execution of any such order, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by any of the provisions of this Act or any rule, regulation, or order made thereunder, or who shall obstruct or hinder the proper execution of any such provisions, rules, regulations, or orders, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no master, agent, consignee, owner, or person in charge of any vessel shall be liable to the penalties imposed by this section if it shall be impossible for him to comply therewith by reason of the failure of any alien duly listed to present himself for inspection in accordance with the provisions of this Act or of any rule, regulation, or order made thereunder.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been lodged, and not then unless notice of illness to the administrative authorities prescribed by said section or to final prescribed by section 38 of said act, and penalty need served, the deposit specified in rule 25 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alien's departure, and to such deportation as such alien from the United States.

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of the Panama Canal or in distress from any place outside of the United States who shall refuse to allow any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the crew, passengers, and stores thereof, or to detain on board such vessel any alien (which examination shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to allow any such alien to land (except temporarily for medical treatment) pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien allowed to land from such vessel otherwise than as provided in this Act. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability to the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien who is excluded from admission by any immigration officer or by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws to the country whence he came, at any time within five years after the entry of such alien, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon the recommendation of the board of special inquiry or the commissioner of immigration of the district in which the alien is found, and shall be final: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to depart from the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, without being deported as provided in this section.

(c). If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States because of the nature of the relations which exist between the United States and the country to which such alien would be deported, he may, after a hearing before a special board of inquiry, direct that such alien be deported to any country which he may designate which is willing to receive such alien into its territory.

(d) Every alien who is excluded from admission by any immigration officer or by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by this section at any time within five years after the entry of such alien, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon the recommendation of the board of special inquiry or the commissioner of immigration of the district in which the alien is found, and shall be final: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to depart from the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, without being deported as provided in this section.

(e). If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States because of the nature of the relations which exist between the United States and the country to which such alien would be deported, he may, after a hearing before a special board of inquiry, direct that such alien be deported to any country which he may designate which is willing to receive such alien into its territory.

(f) Every alien who is excluded from admission by any immigration officer or by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by this section at any time within five years after the entry of such alien, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon the recommendation of the board of special inquiry or the commissioner of immigration of the district in which the alien is found, and shall be final: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to depart from the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, without being deported as provided in this section.

(g). If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States because of the nature of the relations which exist between the United States and the country to which such alien would be deported, he may, after a hearing before a special board of inquiry, direct that such alien be deported to any country which he may designate which is willing to receive such alien into its territory.

(h) Every alien who is excluded from admission by any immigration officer or by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by this section at any time within five years after the entry of such alien, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon the recommendation of the board of special inquiry or the commissioner of immigration of the district in which the alien is found, and shall be final: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to depart from the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, without being deported as provided in this section.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 598) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is at the "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, inferior to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped to engage, and specifying those to be held on board when admitted in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the said lists do not correctly describe all aliens employed on board such vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival and list of the persons left on board when such vessel left port, together with such information as may be required by such officer in relation thereto; and no such vessel shall depart from the United States for any foreign port from the time of the arrival of the vessel at the first port of call in the United States until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof shall have delivered lists to the immigration officer at each port containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel who have been or are to be discharged, and of all persons left on board at such port, and shall have obtained a permit from such officer to land such persons: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to masters, owners, agents, consignees, or persons in charge of vessels engaged exclusively in trade between the United States and the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, the West Indies, Mexico, Central America, South America, Europe, or Asia through the Suez Canal, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel has violated the provisions of this section relating to the employment of aliens thereon, in which case the Secretary of Labor may require the filing of such lists in any case or class of cases as he may deem necessary: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver any list required by this section, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list in the form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and by such rules and regulations, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like penalty to the payment of which such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall be subject upon clearance being refused by the collector of customs for the district in which the port of departure is located in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished by section 38 of the Act, or the penalty therein prescribed by said section or by that section, if any, have been paid, or bond given in double the amount thereof, with sufficient sureties, conditioned for the payment of such penalty, or for the production of the persons in respect to whom such penalty may be incurred, before the vessel shall depart from the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury certified by such immigration officer at the port of arrival, and in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for such hospitalization as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, removal, or deportation to such alien from the United States.

SEC. 28. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof now (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), after inspection and examination by an immigration officer at the port of arrival is located the sum of $17,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the Secretary of Labor to do so, or pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or from any possession of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, or because of the necessity of obtaining supplies or repairs for the vessel, or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe, but no such seaman shall be permitted to remain in the United States for a longer period than is necessary for the purpose for which he was allowed to land. Upon the arrival of such seaman at a port of the United States he shall be placed by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the custody of the immigration officer in charge at the port, and the cost of his maintenance while so detained, and of his removal, if removed, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws existing at the time of such removal. Upon the certification by the Secretary of Labor of the facts in any case, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to withhold the clearance of the vessel on which the alien arrived, or any other vessel owned by the owners of such vessel, pending the payment of the cost of such maintenance and removal, and may, in his discretion, withhold clearance of any vessel touching at a foreign port or place on the way to the United States on which any alien employed on such vessel arriving in the United States was found stowed away, until the cost of such maintenance and removal shall be paid. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to report, list, detain, or remove any alien seaman in accordance with the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the cost of maintenance and removal of any such alien seaman, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every fine so imposed and not remitted shall be a lien upon the vessel on which the seaman was employed, and may be collected by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found within two years from the date of the imposition thereof.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which said vessel shall first arrive a list or manifest of all the persons on board the vessel, which list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and shall contain the following information regarding each person on board: Full name in the order here given; age; sex; married or single; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality; last permanent residence; final destination; whether having a ticket through to such destination; whether the transportation is paid in whole or in part by himself or by any other person or corporation, and if so by whom; whether in possession of $50 and if less than that amount how much; whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where; whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charitable institution, and if so which; whether a polygamist; whether an anarchist; whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any person or corporation; whether in possession of a ticket to the country whither he is going, and whether his passage is paid by the government of the United States or by any State, county, town, or municipality; whether he has been in prison or almshouse within one year of his arrival in the United States; whether he is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; whether he is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such belief or advocating such overthrow by force or violence; whether he has ever been a member of any such organization; whether he has a father or mother living, and if so, whether in the United States or elsewhere; whether he has a husband or wife living, and if so, whether in the United States or elsewhere; whether a child under sixteen years of age, and if so, whether in the United States or elsewhere; whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how long and from what cause; height; complexion; color of hair and eyes; marks of identification; and such additional information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The said list or manifest shall be signed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel, which oath the immigrant inspector is hereby authorized to administer, and shall be subject to such further inspection and examination by the immigrant inspectors as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall deliver a duplicate list or manifest to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at by the vessel before coming to the United States. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the list or manifest required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver a duplicate list or manifest to the immigrant inspector at the time of departure from the last foreign port or place touched at by the vessel before coming to the United States, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully the questions contained in such list or manifest as to each person specified therein, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at by the vessel before coming to the United States a duplicate list or manifest of all persons on board the vessel at such time, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully the questions contained in such duplicate list or manifest as to each person specified therein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or person in charge of the vessel to deliver to the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each such alien, and such information shall be subscribed by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel, and sworn to before the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival: or lists containing no aliens on board shall be delivered to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. The master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of arrival the list required by this section, or who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer a further list containing the names of any alien who arrived on such vessel at a previous port and who has been found to be an alien who has entered the United States unlawfully, or who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer any such list when required, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a fine thereof not more than twice the amount of the bond required by the preceding provisions of this section, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, which fine shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be collected by proceedings against the vessel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located, and the vessel may be libeled therefor in the name of the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located. The payment of the fine imposed by this section shall not relieve the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel from the payment of the head tax provided for by section 1 of this Act, in case of the failure of such vessel to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens entitled to land, or in case any such alien has been allowed to land from such vessel before the determination of the question of the right of such alien to land, unless such alien shall be subsequently taken into custody under the provisions of law for the deportation of aliens. It shall be the duty of the collector of customs to issue a certificate in which the port of arrival is located to the master of such vessel upon the payment of the fine or head tax imposed by this section, or upon the giving of a bond for the payment thereof, and upon the production of the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that the case of each alien concerning whom a question has been raised has been determined, or upon the production of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that no question has been raised concerning the landing of any alien, or that sufficient time has elapsed since the report of such alien to the Secretary of Labor for the determination of such question, the master of such vessel shall be entitled to a clearance and the vessel may depart from the port notwithstanding the pendency of such question or questions. Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 10 to fine not exceeding $5 and not exceeding double the amount of such fine.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and showing those to be held on and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as is the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel at such port no information likely to lead to the apprehension of any alien employed on such vessel shall be furnished by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to the vessel to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will join such vessel before her departure from the port, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of all persons detained or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists herein required, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located until the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been imposed, and not then unless notice of inquiry to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act, namely, deposit specified in rule 35 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the name of and such other information with respect to each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to obtain such seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof or of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the customs limits of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be a seaman who did not appear before the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's departure, shall be taken into custody and deported as a deserter, shall be fined not to exceed $500, or imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, unless such seaman shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was prevented by illness or other cause beyond his control from reporting for deportation, or that he was a member of the crew necessary for the navigation of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has left the port or will depart therefrom within the period of twenty-four hours after the time of the arrival of such vessel, and that he will be a member of the crew necessary for the navigation of the vessel on which he will depart: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, extend the period of twenty-four hours in which such vessel must depart: Provided further, That no such seaman shall be granted a clearance certificate by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has left the port or will depart therefrom within the period of twenty-four hours after the time of the arrival of such vessel, and that he will be a member of the crew necessary for the navigation of the vessel on which he will depart: Provided further, That no such seaman shall be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared in plain form approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving. Data shall be collected on the list at the time of inspection. The list of aliens is then complete except (Form 650) shall not be detached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival on arrival "forward," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from via foreign port at which it shall be the duty of the master, purser, surgeon, or other officer of the vessel in the following manner: Each alien shall be examined by one or more medical officers at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor and the result recorded on the list prepared by the master of the vessel as hereinbefore provided, and each alien shall be asked the questions contained in such list: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe the form of such list or lists and the method of recording the information therein required: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe such additional questions to be asked any alien as may be deemed necessary to determine whether such alien belongs to any of the classes excluded by law from admission into the United States, and may prescribe the manner in which the same shall be asked and answered by the alien: And provided further, That the physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted by such medical officers as the Secretary of Labor may designate, and the certificate of such medical officers shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein recited concerning the physical and mental condition of such aliens: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section relating to the examination of aliens, not inconsistent herewith.

SEC. 37. That any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or of any rule, regulation, or order made pursuant thereto, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and returned in the manner provided for the removal of aliens who entered in violation of the immigration laws. If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any such alien may be safely allowed to remain within the United States, he may grant such alien a permit in writing to enter the United States, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration, or the Assistant Secretary of Labor, which permit may be revoked at any time within one year in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor or the Commissioner of Immigration, and upon the revocation of any such permit the alien shall be returned in the manner provided in this section for the deportation of aliens. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule, regulation, or order made pursuant thereto, shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any rule, regulation, or order made pursuant thereto shall be deported as provided in this Act, notwithstanding the fact that he may have previously been granted a permit to enter. Any alien who shall, after having been excluded or deported, again seek admission within one year thereafter without having secured the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission, be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien who shall willfully remain within the United States in violation of this Act for a period of five years shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered in violation of this Act. Any alien who shall be deported as provided in this Act shall be deported to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any alien who shall aid, abet, counsel, advise, assist, or procure the entry into the United States of any alien not duly entered at a time or place other than as designated by immigration officers, or of any alien who is excluded by the terms of this Act, or who shall connive or conspire with any person or persons for the entry into the United States of any such alien, or who shall, by any means or in any way, aid any such alien to enter or to attempt to enter the United States, except in pursuance of law, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years or by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 38. That the head tax of $8 provided for in section 1 of this Act shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States, and no such alien shall be admitted unless said head tax is paid, but any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer may recover the amount of said head tax from such alien by suit or in any other manner provided by law. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or neglect to pay such head tax shall be fined in the sum of $10 for each alien with respect to whom such refusal or neglect occurs. A vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10,18 for each alien on board, which sum shall be paid to the collector of customs by the master of the vessel before clearance papers are granted. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to pay the head tax herein provided for shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) From funds in the hands of consular officers collected as visa fees.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien ought to be suspended, he may report the case to Congress for its action, stating in detail the reasons for such suspension, and his recommendation therein, and such alien shall not be deported or arrested for deportation before the expiration of the time specified by Congress after the same shall have been reported, unless Congress shall authorize the deportation sooner than specified or shall fail within the time specified to act thereon.

ALIEN EXCLUDED

SEC. 13. No alien seeking admission to the United States may be admitted unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is not excluded from admission by section 3 of this Act. Any alien who at the time of application for admission is found to be excluded by this section from admission into the United States shall be immediately excluded and deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act.

SEC. 3. (1) Except as exempted in subdivision (2) of this section, no immigrant shall be admitted to the United States unless he has an unexpired immigration visa or was born subsequent to the issuance of the immigration visa of his accompanying parent.

(2) A quota immigrant who is the unmarried child under 21 years of age, or the wife, of a citizen of the United States who resides therein at the time of the filing of a petition by him under section 9 for the purpose of accompanying, or procuring the admission of, such child or wife, may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(3) A nonquota immigrant who has been lawfully admitted to the United States, and who shall have resided therein continuously for at least one year immediately preceding the time when he applies for admission, and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(4) A nonquota immigrant who is the unmarried child under 21 years of age, or the wife, of a nonquota immigrant who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is entitled to admission under subdivision (3) of this section as the returning parent of such child or wife may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(5) A nonquota immigrant who was born in the United States and who has lost United States citizenship by marriage to an alien may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(6) A nonquota immigrant who was formerly a citizen of the United States and who has lost United States citizenship by voting in a political election in a foreign country may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(7) A nonquota immigrant who is a professor, teacher in a recognized school or institution of learning, or accompanied wife of such professor or teacher, may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(8) A nonquota immigrant who is a bona fide student at a recognized school or institution of learning may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(9) A nonquota immigrant who is a minister of any religious denomination, or a professor of a college, seminary, or university, may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(10) A nonquota immigrant who is a bona fide traveler visiting the United States temporarily for business or pleasure may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

(11) A nonquota immigrant who is a bona fide temporary visitor to the United States, and who is otherwise admissible, may be admitted without regard to the requirements of subdivision (1) of this section if the consular officer has received from the Secretary of Labor the certificate provided for in section 9 and has no reason to believe that any statement made in the petition for such certificate is untrue.

SEC. 9. (a) Any alien entitled to a nonquota status under section 4 (b) or section 4 (c) may file a petition with the Secretary of Labor, stating that he is entitled to such nonquota status and setting forth the facts in his case. Such petition shall be made under oath administered by any person specially designated by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be filed in duplicate. The Secretary of Labor shall cause investigation to be made of the facts stated in the petition, and if he finds that the petitioner is entitled to such nonquota status he shall certify one copy of the petition to the consular officer having charge of the district in which the petitioner resides, and shall forward the other copy to the Secretary of Labor. Before certifying any petition the Secretary of Labor may require the petitioner to appear in person for examination by immigrant inspectors.

(b) The Secretary of Labor shall not certify any petition filed by an alien under section 4 (b) unless he is satisfied that the petitioner is a bona fide student coming to the United States solely for the purpose of study at a recognized school or institution of learning or college particularly designated by him, and that the alien intends to depart from the United States when he has completed his course of study.

(c) The Secretary of Labor shall not certify any petition filed by an alien under section 4 (c) unless he is satisfied that the petitioner is a minister or professor coming to the United States solely for the purpose of preaching the tenets of his religious denomination or teaching in a recognized school or institution of learning or college particularly designated by him, and that the alien intends to depart from the United States when he has completed his work of preaching or teaching.

(d) The Secretary of Labor shall not certify any petition filed by an alien under section 4 (d) unless he is satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to such nonquota status and that the alien intends to depart from the United States when he has completed the temporary visit specified in the petition.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien ought to be suspended, he may report the case to Congress for its action, stating in detail the reasons for such suspension, and his recommendation therein, and such alien shall not be deported or arrested for deportation before the expiration of the time specified by Congress after the same shall have been reported, unless Congress shall authorize the deportation sooner than specified or shall fail within the time specified to act thereon.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has complied with section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, even though detained beyond the time fixed by law for the departure of vessels.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below must be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is docked, but in no instance to leave from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members to be noted on crews (Form 588 only) must be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no alien changes occur, "NONE" is to be noted on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons who shall be on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and final destination so far as known of each alien who may be in transit through the United States to the country of his ultimate destination, and such other information regarding the movements of such aliens while in the United States as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered before the immigrants are landed from the vessel, and a description of each alien, so far as may be ascertained, shall be given at the time of inspection, and no such alien shall be landed from such vessel until a certificate shall have been issued by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival that such alien has been duly inspected and admitted or admitted upon the payment of the head tax and has complied with all the requirements of the immigration laws. Masters, owners, agents, consignees, or charterers of vessels bringing aliens who become ill during the period of detention provided for in this section shall report the name and illness of each such alien immediately to the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival, and such sick aliens shall be detained on board or at such hospital as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and the cost of their maintenance while so detained shall be borne by the owners of the vessels bringing them to the United States, and a lien is hereby imposed upon such vessels for the payment of such expenses. Masters, owners, agents, consignees, or charterers of vessels who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or with the regulations governing the same, or who shall refuse to detain on board or at such hospital any alien when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall be severally liable to a penalty of not exceeding $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such penalty, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof imposed by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of the provisions of this section may be arrested in the United States and returned to the country whence he came at any time within one year after the entry of such alien at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any person on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made by law, he may cause such person to be detained on board or at quarantine for such time as may be necessary for the completion of the examination of such person. The physician of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival may, if in his judgment it be necessary, cause any such person to be removed to a hospital for examination, and such person shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the public health, until a certificate has been issued by the medical officer in charge that in his opinion such person may land without danger to the public health. Any person who shall land in the United States from any place outside thereof in violation of such rules and regulations shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 21. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or other document required by this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made by this Act, shall be required to take back to the place from which he came, the alien so brought, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the United States shall be borne by such owner, agent, consignee, or master. Such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding $1,000 for each alien so brought, and no clearance shall be granted the vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof imposed by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of the provisions of this section may be arrested in the United States and returned to the country whence he came at any time within one year after the entry of such alien at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any person on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made by law, he may cause such person to be detained on board or at quarantine for such time as may be necessary for the completion of the examination of such person. The physician of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival may, if in his judgment it be necessary, cause any such person to be removed to a hospital for examination, and such person shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the public health, until a certificate has been issued by the medical officer in charge that in his opinion such person may land without danger to the public health. Any person who shall land in the United States from any place outside thereof in violation of such rules and regulations shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 41. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the public health, from any vessel in which he arrived, and the master of such vessel shall be required to detain such alien on board and to report his name to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival. Any such alien who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or who fails to depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such time as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by section 32 of said Act, and a receipt issued therefor by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, have been delivered to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, or to the person designated by him to receive such notice and receipt, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by section 37 of said Act, and a receipt issued therefor by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, have been delivered to the master of the vessel. Such receipt shall be surrendered to the collector of customs at the time application is made for clearance, and no clearance shall be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the public health, from any vessel in which he arrived, and the master of such vessel shall be required to detain such alien on board and to report his name to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival. Any such alien who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or who fails to depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such time as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or other document required by this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made by this Act, shall be required to take back to the place from which he came, the alien so brought, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the United States shall be borne by such owner, agent, consignee, or master. Such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding $1,000 for each alien so brought, and no clearance shall be granted the vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof imposed by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of the provisions of this section may be arrested in the United States and returned to the country whence he came at any time within one year after the entry of such alien at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any person on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which provision is made by law, he may cause such person to be detained on board or at quarantine for such time as may be necessary for the completion of the examination of such person. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 598) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 598a) shall be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, severally, of every vessel bringing any alien to the United States to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which have been vacated, and the positions they were respectively employed to fill, and such other information thereafter as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and upon the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer in writing as soon as discovered, all cases in which such alien shall have left the vessel, stating the circumstances in connection therewith, and the intended destination of such alien, so far as known or ascertained; and before the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed as aforesaid, and the positions they were then filling, and the names of all aliens who have been employed as aforesaid since the sailing of the vessel and who have left the vessel, stating the circumstances connected therewith, and the intended destination of such aliens, so far as known or ascertained; and for every failure to perform any duty required by this section the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel shall be jointly and severally liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the penalty herein imposed, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination on such question upon the deposit of such sum, or bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory by the immigration officer at the seaport, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to deport.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman as a seafaring man, and that such vessel shall not be ready to depart from the port for a period of time deemed unreasonably long to such seaman, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel as the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or he otherwise satisfactorily provided for the deportation of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign port shall be permitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization or such relief as may be necessary in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, but shall be deported as provided in this act to the foreign country whence he came to the United States, or to the country in which is located the port from which he departed for the United States, at the earliest practicable time.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof who shall have landed from such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien so landed, unless such alien seaman shall have been specially examined by the medical examiner, or by the medical officer of the Secretary of Labor at the port of arrival, and certified by him in writing to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that in the opinion of such medical officer such alien seaman is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be the cause of his rejection or deportation under the immigration laws. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, and in the event such sum is finally paid no bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory by the immigration officer at the seaport, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to deport.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman as a seafaring man, and that such vessel shall not be ready to depart from the port for a period of time deemed unreasonably long to such seaman, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or he otherwise satisfactorily provided for the deportation of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been collected and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by this section or to that prescribed by section 35 of this act paragraph need entered, the deposit specified in rule 35 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the alien's employ, their nationality, the last permanent residence, and the final destination of such alien, so far as known, and such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and unless such lists have been delivered no such alien shall be allowed to land from such vessel until the same shall have been delivered, except temporarily, to the proper officer for the purpose of examination, and such further time as may be required for the purpose of such examination shall be allowed: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by regulation provide for the examination of such aliens on board such vessel before the same shall enter a port of the United States: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may by regulation require the masters of vessels bringing aliens to the United States from foreign contiguous territory to deliver lists containing such information in regard to such aliens as he may deem necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may by regulation require masters of vessels to deliver lists containing such information in regard to aliens who have been passengers on such vessels and have been admitted to the United States or have acquired the right to remain therein, as he may deem necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws. Any master who refuses or fails to deliver any list required of him by this section, or by any regulation made in pursuance thereof, or who refuses or fails to furnish any information required of him by this section, or by any regulation made in pursuance thereof, or who refuses or fails to exercise due diligence to prevent any person required to be listed from landing, or who lands or permits to land any person without having a list therefor as required by this section, or by any regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien with respect to whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, and the same constitute a lien upon the vessel which may be enforced by libel of information. The Secretary of Labor may remit or mitigate any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, and may upon the application of the master of any vessel discharge any alien from the custody of the officers of the customs pending the determination of the Secretary of Labor as to the propriety of granting such application, upon the deposit of such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as he may deem sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien on board such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not pay passage money nor shall such expense be paid from head tax collected in the enforcement of the provisions of this section.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who knowingly or willfully assists any alien to land in the United States from any vessel, contrary to any of the provisions of this section, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) Any alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immediately preceding section who shall land in the United States from any vessel, except temporarily on board a vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified and shall have granted a permit for the landing of such alien seaman, shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of aliens illegally in the United States at any time within one year after such landing: Provided, That clearance may be granted any vessel until the alien seaman has been removed, the deposit required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been refunded, the deposit required by rule 33 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 3. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been refunded, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by this section or to fines prescribed by section 36 of this act has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or humanity to such seaman, or to secure repairs to such vessel, or for deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, after the expiration of the period of time allowed by the immigration laws for the departure of such vessel, or of any alien seaman employed on board thereof, who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, and there to identify by the master thereof, each alien seaman employed on board such vessel at the time of her arrival at such port, unless such alien seaman has been granted shore leave under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to report to such immigration officer, at multiple, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien seaman has illegally landed from such vessel, stating the circumstances in connection therewith, and which shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any such alien seaman specified by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to such immigration officer on board such vessel, before the departure thereof from a port of the United States, any such alien seaman specified by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse or fail to exercise due diligence to prevent any such alien seaman from landing in the United States from such vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any such alien seaman employed on board thereof who has been specified by such immigration officer as a seaman who may be found ineligible for admission into the United States, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with any regulation made by the Secretary of Labor governing the detention on board such vessel of alien seamen, shall pay for each such alien seaman in respect to whom any such violation occurs a penalty of $1,000. Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalty imposed by this section, and shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel of information. The Secretary of Labor may remit or mitigate any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, and may upon the application of the master of any vessel discharge any alien from the custody of the officers of the customs pending the determination of the Secretary of Labor as to the propriety of granting such application, upon the deposit of such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as he may deem sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien on board such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not pay passage money nor shall such expense be paid from head tax collected in the enforcement of the provisions of this section or the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the vessel at the port to arrive, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 588) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of entry list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born and where they were respectively last admitted to or emigrated from, and such information as shall be required by rules or regulations prescribed by law to be had of the alien passengers brought to the United States by such vessel, and such other information in regard to them as the Secretary of Labor may by regulation prescribe; and failure to furnish such list or any part thereof, or to furnish any such information required by this section, shall be unlawful and a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the right to demand any such list in the case of vessels making frequent trips across the borders of the United States: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may refuse clearance to any vessel the master, agent, consignee, or owner of which shall have failed to deposit or secure the payment of the head tax and expenses of any alien who may have been allowed to land from such vessel, and may withhold clearance to any vessel the master of which shall refuse to pay such head tax and expenses: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax and expenses, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien in charge of a vessel who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list of the aliens on board such vessel, or who lands or attempts to land or assists any alien to land in the United States in violation of law, or who refuses to land any alien brought to the United States by such vessel, or who refuses to detain on board such vessel any alien when ordered by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to assist in the physical examination of aliens on board such vessel when required by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to furnish the name of any alien who may become ill during the voyage, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning any alien who may become ill during the voyage as may be required by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning any alien who may have died during the voyage as may be required by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning any alien who may have been buried at sea during the voyage as may be required by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning any alien who may have been treated in a hospital during the voyage as may be required by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning any alien who may have been detained on board

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like conforming and the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they severally intend to land: Provided, That the master of any vessel may be required by the Secretary of Labor to furnish information in addition to such list: Provided further, That the master of any vessel arriving at a seaport of the United States from a foreign port shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of every alien employed on such vessel, whether such alien intends to land at such port or not, and the intended destination of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification as may be required by such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as practicable, but in cases in which such alien has illegally landed from such vessel, within a reasonable time thereafter. Any such master who shall fail to report any such alien, or who shall refuse to furnish such information in respect to any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 for each such alien concerning whom such master shall fail to report or furnish such information, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no master of any vessel shall be required to report the name of any alien employed thereon who shall have been duly reported by the master of such vessel on a previous trip and whose name appears on the list furnished by the master of such vessel on such trip, unless such alien shall have left the vessel after such previous report and before the departure of such vessel on the trip on which such alien is employed at the time of the arrival of such vessel at a United States port: Provided further, That the master of any vessel arriving at a seaport of the United States from a foreign port or place if blank be found on the list of the crew, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like conforming and the names of all members

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list is arranged in such manner that the immigration officer at the port of arrival may have the necessary information at hand to enable him to examine the passengers with the least possible delay. The word "nationality" as used in column 4 means country to which person belongs, as Germany (not Prussia, Bavaria, etc.) or Russia (not Finland). The word "race or people" as used in column 5 means the ethnological classification of the immigrant, as Hebrew, Negro, Italian (north), Italian (south), Polish, Bohemian, Magyan, Slovak, Dalmatian, Croatian, Servian, Bulgarian, Montenegrin, Roumanian, Greek, Spanish, Portuguese, Spanish-American, Mexican, Cuban, West Indian (except Cuban), Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Turkish, Armenian, Syrian, Arabian, Hindu, East Indian, Scotch, English, Irish, Welsh, Dutch, Flemish, German, French, Swiss, Finnish, Russian, Lithuanian, Scandinavian (Swede, Norwegian, Dane), Ruthenian (Russniak), Pacific Islander, Negro, Indian, Other races or peoples.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of every alien at a land port of the United States from any foreign port or place in Mexico, Newfoundland, Canada, Panama, Cuba, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Guam, or the Philippine Islands, or any island adjacent thereto, or to the United States, he shall be examined by two medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, unless the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service shall certify that in his judgment sufficient facilities are not available at such port for such examination, in which case the examination may be made by one medical officer. Such examination shall be made in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, and shall be conducted separately and independently of the examination by the immigrant inspectors. If any such alien is certified by the medical officers to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be detained until he has been cured or has ceased to be a source of danger to the public, and shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from any cause not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to his entry shall be deported as provided by law. Any such alien who shall have been excluded and deported and who shall thereafter return to or enter the United States, or attempt to do so, shall be deported in the manner provided by law unless the Secretary of Labor shall certify that such alien is not a person who belongs to any of the classes excluded by law. Any such alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper by the Department and be ready for verification and inspection by the immigration inspector, boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or others on the vessel (Form 598) shall not be destroyed or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and a duplicate, signed by the master, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or district within which the vessel shall arrive lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold on the ship's company, what their nationality is, what their last permanent residence was, and whether they have been in the United States before, and if so, how long, and whether they have been naturalized or not, and if naturalized, when and where, and the reasons why they are not in possession of such certificates of naturalization; and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each alien, and shall deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who are destined to the United States, and the intended destination of each alien. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner and contain such additional information relating to such aliens as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and when the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver any such list required by this section, or shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and completely any question relating to such aliens propounded by any immigration officer, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom complete information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, suits may be brought for the recovery thereof in the name of the United States and delivered to the collector of the customs of the customs district in which the port is situated, and the proceeds shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States; but no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the production of the lists required herein, nor shall such fine be imposed if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel had complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless bonds to the satisfaction of the administrative head prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act, shall have been executed, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, touching, or intending to touch at any port of the United States, except passengers, or temporarily for inspection, or because of stress of weather, or other unavoidable cause, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because destined to become a citizen of the United States, and if any such alien seaman is employed on board any vessel at any port of the United States he shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws to the country from which he came to the United States, or if he refuses to be deported to the country from which he came, then to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall furnish a bond in such sum not exceeding $1,000 as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien seaman shall be deported in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct within five years after the date of his arrival in the United States, and that he will not become a public charge during such period. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, who is not deported as provided herein, shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers while such lien remains undischarged.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship because of the inability of such seamen to obtain other employment, or for any other reason, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel as the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, _____ MASTER, MATE, PURSER, _____, of the BRITISH S.S. "ATLANTIC", do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew now on board or belonging to the said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the name of each person who ceases to belong to the vessel, and the reason why, and the date thereof, and have in like manner noted the name of each person who has been engaged to serve on board the vessel, and the capacity in which he is to serve, and the date of such engagement, and have in every respect complied with the requirements of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, relative thereto.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on Blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the Immigration officer at the port of arrival of each steamship or other vessel. The list or manifest shall be delivered by the master to the Immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the passengers shall be landed, and a list or manifest shall be delivered by the master to the Immigration officer at each subsequent port at which the vessel may call before reaching the port at which the passengers are destined. When no alien passengers are carried, a list or manifest" to that effect shall be delivered by the master to the Immigration officer at the port of arrival.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 30. That upon written application by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel from a foreign port to a place in the United States, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any outstanding certificate theretofore issued and permit such vessel to depart without the immediate presence of the inspection officers at the port of arrival: Provided, That the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall first deposit sufficient funds with the collector of customs to pay the cost of the return passage of any alien passenger on such vessel who may become a public charge within one year after the date of his arrival in the United States, such deposit to be made in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and in such amount not exceeding $100 for each alien as may be required by him: And provided further, That the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall file with the collector of customs a manifest containing such information in regard to each alien on board such vessel as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall pay to the collector of customs a head tax of $8 for each alien, which tax shall be in addition to the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act, and shall be deposited in the same manner as such head tax: And provided further, That the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States who are destined to Canada or Mexico shall deposit with the collector of customs at the port of arrival a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the cost of the return of such aliens to the country whence they came, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the port at which such deposit is required until such deposit has been made.

(a) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or coming from any insular possession of the United States or the Canal Zone, shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be seeking admission to the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel having on board any alien seeking admission to the United States shall before the departure of such vessel from the port at which such alien is first inspected by the immigration officers, or at the time of such inspection if the vessel is then in port, deliver to such immigration officers lists or manifests correctly containing such information in regard to each such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each such alien, and in the event of failure to deliver such lists or pay such sum before the departure of the vessel from the port the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel by the collector of customs while such default continues. Nothing herein contained shall require the detention of any vessel carrying aliens who are destined to the United States for a longer period than is necessary for the inspection of the passengers and crew and the security of the proper records thereof, or relieve any such vessel or the master, agent, owner, or consignee thereof from the payment of the head tax in respect of any such alien.

(b) Every alien who shall not be in possession of a valid immigration visa, if required by this Act, or who is not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter, shall be detained for a hearing before a board of special inquiry, and shall not be allowed to enter except upon the favorable decision of such board, but any such alien may withdraw his application for admission and depart immediately from the United States in lieu of being detained for such hearing before a board of special inquiry, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall know or have cause to believe that such alien is likely to become a public charge or is unlikely to become a citizen or is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in subdivision (a) of section 3 of this Act, or is an anarchist, or is not a person of good moral character, or is not admissible under the passport laws, or is ineligible to citizenship and not exempt therefrom, or has come in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, or any other law, relative to the importation of aliens, or the terms of the conditional permit or passport under which he may have been granted temporary admission to the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien arrested on the charge of being unlawfully in the United States will serve the ends of justice, the warrant of arrest in such cases may provide that the alien be released from custody in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor or such immigration officer as he may designate, upon the deposit of such bond or undertaking, or the giving of such security as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the execution by the alien of a written agreement to appear before the immigration officer at the time and place designated for his deportation if subsequently directed by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Upon the certification by the Secretary of Labor that the cash deposit or bond or undertaking or security required of any alien has been forfeited for failure to comply with the provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, the amount of such deposit or bond or undertaking shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the failure or refusal of the country to which such alien is ordered deported to receive such alien, or by reason of the existence of war, or for other cause, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel the deportation of such alien, and such alien shall thereupon be allowed to enter or remain in the United States upon such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(f) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any final order of deportation made against him in pursuance of law, or who shall, within one year after the entry of such order, enter, attempt to enter, or be found within the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not more than two years.

(g) Any alien who shall willfully remain within the United States in violation of any order which may be made against him under the provisions of this Act, or who shall willfully refuse or fail to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any such order, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not more than two years.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 4. Clearance shall not be granted via Canada to any vessel that has been required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and which has not complied with the requirements of that section.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergency as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the allowance of such landing, or in case of the discharge of such alien seaman in pursuance of the provisions of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and such alien seaman shall be deported on the vessel bringing him to the United States or on any vessel employed by the same interests.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel having on board any alien seeking admission to the United States shall before the departure of such vessel from the port at which such alien is first inspected by the immigration officers at the port of arrival pay unto the collector of customs a head tax of $8 for each such alien, and in the event of failure to pay such sum before the departure of the vessel from the port the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel by the collector of customs while such default continues. Nothing herein contained shall require the detention of any vessel carrying aliens who are destined to the United States for a longer period than is necessary for the inspection of the passengers and crew and the security of the proper records thereof, or relieve any such vessel or the master, agent, owner, or consignee thereof from the payment of the head tax in respect of any such alien.

(b) Every alien who shall not be in possession of a valid immigration visa, if required by this Act, or who is not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter, shall be detained for a hearing before a board of special inquiry, and shall not be allowed to enter except upon the favorable decision of such board, but any such alien may withdraw his application for admission and depart immediately from the United States in lieu of being detained for such hearing before a board of special inquiry, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall know or have cause to believe that such alien is likely to become a public charge or is unlikely to become a citizen or is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in subdivision (a) of section 3 of this Act, or is an anarchist, or is not a person of good moral character, or is not admissible under the passport laws, or is ineligible to citizenship and not exempt therefrom, or has come in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, or any other law, relative to the importation of aliens, or the terms of the conditional permit or passport under which he may have been granted temporary admission to the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the failure or refusal of the country to which such alien is ordered deported to receive such alien, or by reason of the existence of war, or for other cause, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel the deportation of such alien, and such alien shall thereupon be allowed to enter or remain in the United States upon such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(d) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any final order of deportation made against him in pursuance of law, or who shall, within one year after the entry of such order, enter, attempt to enter, or be found within the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not more than two years.

(e) Any alien who shall willfully remain within the United States in violation of any order which may be made against him under the provisions of this Act, or who shall willfully refuse or fail to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any such order, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not more than two years.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, K. A. K. Gobjanan, of the M. S. Cuba, Jackson, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in such vessel from and by or place stating fact presently after the arrival of such vessel at the port of entry mentioned in the manifest, and that to the best of my knowledge and belief no citizen of the United States (except those persons specified in section 30 of the United States Immigration Law and of paragraph 2, subdivision (b), of Immigration Rule 2, hereof) appears below.

K. Gobjanan
Master, mate or commanding officer

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10 day of July, 1924.

Arthur Woods
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. And shall be delivered by the master to the officer boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of crew (Form 980) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the primary immigration officer at the port.

When no alterations occur it is sufficient to deliver to the primary immigration officer at each port of arrival a list containing the names of all members of the crew remaining on board at such port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival a complete manifest of all persons on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each person who may be allowed to land from such vessel, and such additional information relative thereto as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant inspector at the time of the examination of such vessel a further manifest containing a correct list of all persons who were not embraced therein at the time of the arrival but who will leave that vessel before the examination of such vessel is completed, and also the names of those, if any, who have been born on board such vessel since the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place. Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing any alien to any port of the United States from any foreign port or place who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel a complete list of all the persons on board such vessel at the time of such arrival, or who shall fail to report the additional persons born on board such vessel since the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, or who shall fail to deliver to each immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel a correct list of all persons who were not embraced therein at the time of the arrival but who will leave that vessel before the examination of such vessel is completed, or who shall refuse to report to the proper immigrant inspector any information called for by the blank lists furnished by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the master of any vessel who shall have complied with the provisions of this section shall not be liable to the penalties provided for violations hereof on account of the failure of any person on board such vessel to report himself for examination or of any member of the crew to be listed on the lists delivered to the immigrant inspector.

SEC. 19. That no alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detention by the immigration officers, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the humane treatment of such aliens during detention, unless a bond in the penal sum of $500 with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within thirty days after his arrival, or within such further time as the Secretary of Labor may allow, shall be given by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any seaman who is a citizen of a country which has a treaty with the United States which prevents the detention of its citizens.

SEC. 20. That no alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place unless there shall be on board such vessel at the time of its departure from each such foreign port or place a list containing the name of each alien seaman so employed, the capacity in which he is employed, the amount of wages per month agreed to be paid him, and such other particulars as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be produced by the master of such vessel when required by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure. Any master who shall fail to produce such list when required, or who shall fail to deliver the same to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located until the master has delivered to the immigrant inspector at such port the list required by this section, and has made oath that it contains a full and correct account of all such alien seamen employed on board such vessel at the time of its departure from each foreign port or place touched at during the voyage, and that he has not knowingly or willfully concealed or misrepresented the name or any other fact concerning any such alien seaman. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom he shall so refuse or neglect to comply, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, which determination shall be made within ten days after the case is reported to the Secretary of Labor, unless the master shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond in the penal sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, conditioned upon the payment of such fine as may be imposed for the violation of this section by such alien seaman. The Secretary of Labor shall have power to remit any fine imposed for the violation of this section whenever he is satisfied that the master has complied as far as practicable with the provisions hereof.

SEC. 21. That no alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the humane treatment of such aliens during detention, unless a bond in the penal sum of $300, with sufficient sureties to secure the payment of a tax of $8 in the United States for each such alien seaman (which tax may be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived), conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States within thirty days after his arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, and that such alien seaman will not become a public charge, and will pay the tax aforesaid if he remains in the United States more than thirty days after his arrival, shall be given by the master, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing any alien seaman to the United States, or in lieu of such bond the payment of such tax to the collector of customs of the district in which such alien seaman arrives. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located upon the deposit with him of $8 for each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be returned if evidence shall be furnished prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax that such alien seaman has been discharged from the United States within the thirty days allowed for the payment of the tax, or that no tax is due for such alien seaman, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of this section. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located upon the deposit with him of $2 for each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be returned if evidence shall be furnished prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax that such alien seaman has been discharged from the United States within the thirty days allowed for the payment of the tax, or that no tax is due for such alien seaman, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of this section. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax, upon the deposit of the bond required by this section. Any bond given under the provisions of this section may be sued in the name of the United States in the district in which it was given, upon breach of any condition thereof, and shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the principal and sureties thereon for the payment of the tax for each alien seaman in respect of whom a breach occurs. Any bond may be sued upon in the district in which the principal resides or in which the vessel on account of which it was given arrived, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the same manner as other actions at law or suits in equity are prosecuted in such district. Any bond may be sued upon in any district in which the principal resides or in which the vessel on account of which it was given arrived, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the same manner as other actions at law or suits in equity are prosecuted in such district. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax, upon the deposit of the bond required by this section. Any bond given under the provisions of this section may be sued in the name of the United States in the district in which it was given, upon breach of any condition thereof, and shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the principal and sureties thereon for the payment of the tax for each alien seaman in respect of whom a breach occurs. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located upon the deposit with him of $2 for each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be returned if evidence shall be furnished prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax that such alien seaman has been discharged from the United States within the thirty days allowed for the payment of the tax, or that no tax is due for such alien seaman, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deficiencies of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrives, have been made good before such vessel is granted clearance papers, and that the master has complied as far as practicable with the provisions of this section, he may remit any fine imposed for the violation of this section.

(d) Section 35 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, masters, and crews, and as to all seamen arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the full information required by section 33 hereof has been furnished, and the vessel cleared of liability to the administrative fine interposed by said section or to that interposed by section 33 hereof has been settled, the penalty remitted, or the bond required in lieu thereof has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detention by the immigration officers, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the humane treatment of such aliens during detention, unless a bond in the penal sum of $300, with sufficient sureties to secure the payment of a tax of $8 in the United States from any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, and who shall not become a public charge, and a like bond with respect to each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel during her stay in a port of the United States, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States with the vessel on which he is employed or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, and will not become a public charge, shall be given by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any seaman who is a citizen of a country which has a treaty with the United States which prevents the detention of its citizens.

(b) Except that an alien seaman shall not appear upon the ordinary manifest of the vessel on which he arrives, a list or manifest of such alien seamen shall be delivered and deposited with the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at each port of entry at which any such alien seaman is to be landed, and a like list or manifest of such alien seamen shall be delivered and deposited with the immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of such vessel from each port of entry at which any such alien seaman has been landed, which lists or manifests shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor may require. Such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located upon the deposit with him of $8 for each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be returned if evidence shall be furnished prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax that such alien seaman has been discharged from the United States within the thirty days allowed for the payment of the tax, or that no tax is due for such alien seaman, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of this section. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax, upon the deposit of the bond required by this section. Any bond given under the provisions of this section may be sued in the name of the United States in the district in which it was given, upon breach of any condition thereof, and shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the principal and sureties thereon for the payment of the tax for each alien seaman in respect of whom a breach occurs. Any vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located upon the deposit with him of $2 for each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel, which deposit shall be returned if evidence shall be furnished prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the tax that such alien seaman has been discharged from the United States within the thirty days allowed for the payment of the tax, or that no tax is due for such alien seaman, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with the provisions of this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deficiencies of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrives, have been made good before such vessel is granted clearance papers, and that the master has complied as far as practicable with the provisions of this section, he may remit any fine imposed for the violation of this section.

(d) Section 35 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, masters, and crews, and as to all seamen arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector possible the vessel is due to arrive at a port to arrive, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members pers of crew (from 950 down) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place, stating the position each occupies on such vessel, whether cabin passenger, steerage passenger, or alien seaman, and the final destination of each such alien as far as known, which lists shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel shall be admitted to entry or to the privilege of discharging any of the passengers or crew thereof, except in the presence of and with the permission of such officer. The master of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who connives at or wilfully conceals the landing or removal of any such alien from said vessel, or who lands or permits to be landed any such alien at any port or place in the United States without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port, except as provided in section 33 hereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien so landed or concealed, landed, or permitted to land, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who shall knowingly harbor any such alien shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who shall bring into the United States any such alien not duly entered by the immigration officers at the port of arrival shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, unless it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court that prior to the discovery of such alien he had used due diligence to prevent the unlawful landing of such alien within the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deposit on board such vessel before its departure therefrom, or who refuses or neglects to deposit on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel duly certificated by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival (which certificate shall include a personal physical examination), a sum sufficient to pay the cost of the return of such alien seaman to the port in which the port of arrival is located (which cost shall be determined by the commissioner of immigration of such port), shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien seaman, which penalty may be sued for and recovered by the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question, or while the said penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(b) From and after six months from the United States, no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the sufficiency of the deposit, or while the said penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in any port of the United States shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and may be arrested without warrant by any officer charged with the enforcement of the immigration laws of the United States, and taken on board the vessel from which he deserted or any other vessel bound for the same port, and the master of such vessel is hereby required, upon demand of any such officer, to receive and detain such alien seaman in custody until the vessel is ready to leave the port or has cleared from the customhouse, or, at the option of the master, until he shall have furnished a sufficient bond to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the return of such alien seaman to the port from which he deserted, and for the payment of the penalty imposed by this section in case such alien seaman shall not be returned by the master of the vessel on which he deserted. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in any district court of the United States within whose jurisdiction the vessel may be found. The Secretary of Labor shall withhold clearance from any vessel upon which there may be deserting alien seamen pending the decision of the question involved in the case of any such alien seaman who shall have been duly apprehended and lodged in jail for safekeeping by the immigration officers of the port, and may, in his discretion, release any such alien seaman from custody upon the deposit of the amount of the penalty imposed by this section, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as he may require

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form 588) shall not be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of departure, but shall be delivered on board, and be returned to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any alien member of crew "taken" a vacation to land effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from via foreign port to place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, and the nationality of each of them as far as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe: and after the arrival of via such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing or otherwise as may be prescribed in the port of arrival: (1) all cases of illness or injury to any alien member of such vessel occurring between the time of arrival at such port and the departure therefrom, and (2) the name of every alien member of such vessel who shall desert or abscond therefrom, or who shall be left behind on account of illness or injury, or who shall die between the time of arrival at such port and the departure of such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the name of every alien who may have been employed thereon as of the time of the arrival but who may have ceased to be employed between that time and the departure of such vessel from such port, and the cause of the severance of the employment in each case, if known or reported to the master: and also the names of all persons, if any, who may have been discharged by him elsewhere than in the country to which such vessel belongs during the period covered by the list last preceding the departure of such vessel from such port: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such questions upon deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located of such sum as may be sufficient to cover such tax.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such questions upon deposit with a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall employ on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of accident, or because of such requirements as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alien seaman, except (after inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer) to depart as the master of the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, and the master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who is excluded from admission under this section shall be required to remove him on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel to the country from which he came, or to the country to which he belongs at the option of the master. Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported on the warrant and at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service, unless the master of the vessel from which he deserted shall pay to the Secretary of Labor the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so deserting, which sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by libel proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of other aliens. Any master who shall refuse to receive any alien seaman specified in this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each alien seaman refused admission. Any master who shall land any alien seaman in violation of this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each alien seaman landed. Any master who shall fail to report the illness or injury of any alien seaman, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list of alien seamen employed on board, but failed to report any alien seaman who deserted, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure a complete list of alien seamen employed on board, and report the cause of severance of the employment of each alien seaman, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such failure to report or failure to deliver such list. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States while the vessel is in port, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return passage of any such alien seaman deported from the United States, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such refusal. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States while the vessel is in port, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return passage of any such alien seaman deported from the United States, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such refusal. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States while the vessel is in port, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return passage of any such alien seaman deported from the United States, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such refusal.

(b) Every alien who is found unseaworthy by the Secretary of Labor or by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or who is found to be afflicted with any contagious disease, or who is found to be afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who is found to be afflicted with any mental disease, except temporary insanity caused by the effects of the voyage, or who is found to be afflicted with any physical defect which may affect his ability to earn a living, shall be deported on the warrant and at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service, unless the master of the vessel from which he was landed shall pay to the Secretary of Labor the sum of $1,000 for each such alien seaman so landed, which sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by libel proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of other aliens. Any master who shall refuse to receive any alien seaman specified in this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each alien seaman refused admission. Any master who shall land any alien seaman in violation of this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each alien seaman landed. Any master who shall fail to report the illness or injury of any alien seaman, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list of alien seamen employed on board, but failed to report any alien seaman who deserted, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure a complete list of alien seamen employed on board, and report the cause of severance of the employment of each alien seaman, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such failure to report or failure to deliver such list. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States while the vessel is in port, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return passage of any such alien seaman deported from the United States, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such refusal. Any master who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States while the vessel is in port, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return passage of any such alien seaman deported from the United States, shall be fined not more than $500 for each such refusal.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor has been guilty of misconduct in the performance of duty, or has been grossly incompetent, or has been guilty of any act or omission which in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor warrants his removal from office, the Secretary of Labor may remove him from office, and such removal shall be conclusive as to all persons affected thereby.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the scene of the port to arrive at, land, and all on it inasmuch as failure to clearance to alien immigrant from the vessel at the port to arrive at, land, and all on it inasmuch as failure to clearance to alien immigrant port of entry (Form 528) and not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is not entitled to a landing permit, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and a description of such alien, so far as known, as may be required by such immigration officer to enable him to determine whether any such alien has come to the United States in violation of law; to which lists shall be added in like manner the names of all aliens employed on such vessel at any intermediate port touched at after departure from the foreign port and before arrival at the port of destination, and the cause of the removal from the vessel of any such alien; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such port, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all such employees who were not employed at the time of the arrival but who shall remain or be employed at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, since the arrival of the vessel, stating the cause of such discharge, so far as known. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer any list required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, or who shall conceal or attempt to conceal, the presence on board his vessel of any alien not duly listed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien not included in the lists required by this section, or for each alien concealed or attempted to be concealed or landed from his vessel, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the fine required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been paid, unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 of said Act has been made, and the deposit specified in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergency as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from a foreign contiguous territory, or any person who shall knowingly bring into the United States on any such vessel, and land or attempt to land, or assist in landing or attempting to land, any alien not duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of arrival, or any person who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien in pursuance of any conspiracy to accomplish the illegal entry of such alien into the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, for each alien in respect of whom such violation occurs. The vessel shall be liable for the fine imposed upon the master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer thereof, and may be libeled therefor by the United States attorney in the district in which the port is located and the fine collected by process against the vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, or any part thereof, which said process may be served anywhere within the United States or within one marine league of the coast thereof. The vessel shall not be granted clearance pending the determination of such question where the vessel is charged with the offense, or the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has been arrested and held to bail for trial, unless sufficient sureties shall be given to secure the payment of the fine that may be imposed in the event of conviction. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

(b) Every alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place in which he has been employed as a seaman on board any vessel shall, at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, be examined by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival, and no such alien shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for such medical treatment, or because of such emergency as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

(c) Every alien seaman who has been employed on board any vessel in the United States and who shall desire to depart from the United States shall, before the departure of such vessel, be examined by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of departure, and no such alien seaman shall be granted a certificate of identification entitling him to return to the United States unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is returning in pursuance of a temporary visit abroad.

(d) Every alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States under the provisions of this section shall be deported in the same manner as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be deported to the foreign port from which he came to the United States or to the country in which is located the port at which he was originally shipped, at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived. Deportation under this section shall commence within one year after the entry of the alien into the United States, and all expenses incident to the deportation, including hospital, subsistence, and detention expenses, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States when required so to do shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be granted a conditional landing permit by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, but such permit shall not be granted to any alien seaman who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor as a member of the crew of any vessel which, after sailing from a port in the United States, has been sunk, captured, or destroyed by the enemy, unless such alien seaman shall have been in the United States for a period of more than two years next preceding the date of his application for a landing permit.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in the United States shall be deported as provided in this section, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he entered the United States with the consent of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and that his deportation was not required by law.

(g) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman as required by this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal or failure, and clearance may be withheld or granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to amend, repeal, impair, or affect existing treaties, conventions, or agreements with any country relating to the return of its seamen.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER OR FIRST OR SECOND CHARGE

I, [illegible] of the [illegible] do declare that none but persons whose names are borne on the annexed list have been employed on board the said [illegible] since the date of the last clearance granted to her at the port of [illegible] and that the said list contains a full, true, and correct account of all persons who have been so employed, and of all deserters from the said [illegible] since the date of the last clearance granted to her at the said

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel on the port of arrival, and in all instances be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members made after the vessel (from use) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When no alien members are taken from the vessel, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a complete, true and correct manifest of all the persons on board such vessel, stating the position there respectively held in the ship's company, name and whether they were vaccinated, name, nationality, last residence, and destination as indicated by the immigrant, whether in possession of a ticket prepaid, in part or whole, or without means, whether in possession of money, and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charitable institutions, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor, skilled or unskilled, and what occupation, whether in good health, mental and physical, deformed or crippled, and if so, from what cause, and such other information pertaining to each alien as the Secretary of Labor shall deem necessary for the proper administration of the immigration laws. The master shall also report the name of each alien employed on board the vessel who shall leave the vessel at any port in the United States, the intended destination of each such alien, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such report shall be verified by the master under oath and delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival before any such alien shall be landed from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members made after the vessel has left the last port of departure shall be reported by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before any such alien shall be landed from the vessel. Such report shall be verified by the master under oath and delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any such alien shall be landed from the vessel. Any master who knowingly fails to report any alien member of the crew or any change in the list of alien members, or who knowingly makes a false statement in any report required of him by this section, or who knowingly fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the list of alien members required by this section, or who knowingly fails to report the illness or death of any alien member of the crew during the voyage

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector, boarding the vessel as the port of arrival, and shall on no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members and of crews (Form 598) shall not be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving vessel is "forward" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or at place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing as many of the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied to engage, and specifying those who, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the master, are citizens of the United States, and shall furnish to the immigration officer at such port such information as he may require in addition to the facts contained in such lists. It shall be the duty of each alien member of the crew employed upon such vessel to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at each port, and failure to do so shall be prima facie evidence that the alien has violated the provisions of this section. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien member of the crew employed upon such vessel who fails to present himself for examination by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at each port, and in the event such alien shall have illegally landed from such vessel in the United States, such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such alien so landed, which penalties shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered in any proceeding instituted for that purpose in the district court of the United States within whose jurisdiction the vessel may be found. Provided, That clearance shall not be refused any vessel by reason of the penalties imposed by this section, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalties, or the production of a bond with sufficient surety approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That after the 1st day of July, 1917, no master of any vessel shall be granted clearance papers for such vessel from any port of the United States to any foreign port unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall have delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure a list or manifest of all aliens employed or shipped as members of the crew of such vessel, which list or manifest shall be in addition to the lists required by subdivision (a) of this section to be delivered before clearance is granted, and which list or manifest shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be sworn to before the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel and the immigrant inspector at the port of departure, and the Secretary of Labor may require such additional information relative to such persons as he may deem necessary, and may refuse clearance to any such vessel failing to furnish such information.

(c) That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to answer any question concerning any alien member of the crew by this section required to be answered, or who shall make any false answer concerning the same, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 for each such offense.

(d) That the Secretary of Labor is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper execution of the provisions of this section, and to change the ports at which such lists or manifests shall be delivered.

(e) That for the purposes of this section the words "vessel of the United States" shall be deemed to include any vessel documented under the laws of the United States or any vessel which shall have been granted clearance papers as a vessel of the United States by the collector of customs at the port from which she is about to depart for a foreign port, and the words "master" and "owner" shall be deemed to include any agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel as to which clearance papers have been granted as aforesaid.

SEC. 41. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall pay the expenses of such alien from the United States to the country to which such alien belongs, unless such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien does not belong to any of the classes of aliens excluded from admission into the United States by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or by any other law or treaty now in force, or that such alien had been in the United States for at least two years previous to his coming to the port from which he sailed, and had during such time been employed in the United States and had maintained a residence therein, or that such alien is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or that such alien is not a native, citizen, subject, or resident of a country with which the United States then was at war, or that such alien is the wife or child of a citizen of the United States: Provided, That clearance papers shall not be granted any vessel having on board any alien who has been certified to the master of such vessel by the Secretary of Labor as a person who may be permitted to land only in pursuance of section 23 of the immigration act of May 26, 1924, and

Revised August 1, 1917, to be delivered to the United States immigration officer by the representative of the vessel leaving each alien on board upon arrival at a port of the United States

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The line described below shall be observed on plank forms supplied by the Department and be kept for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members to be given (Form 598) shall not be detached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien's name is changed, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from the foreign port or ports it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival there conveniently situated on the dock of such vessel, station duly designated by the Secretary of Labor, a complete list of all the alien members of the crew, including all persons employed on such vessel, arranged in the manner and form prescribed by regulations hereafter to be made by the Secretary of Labor: Provided, That the master of such vessel may deliver to the said officer, instead of such list, a duplicate thereof, verified by his oath, containing the names of and other information required by said regulations concerning all the alien members of the crew: And provided further, That the master of such vessel, arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port or ports, shall report to the said officer the name of each alien member of the crew who may have been left behind at such foreign port or ports, the cause for leaving him behind, and such information concerning him as may be required by said regulations, and shall deliver to the said officer the certificate of the proper consular officer of the United States at such foreign port or ports touching the shipping and discharge of each alien member of the crew who may have been left behind at such foreign port or ports: And provided further, That the master of such vessel, arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port or ports, shall report to the said officer the name of each alien member of the crew who may have been shipped at such port or ports to complete the crew or to fill vacancies, and such information concerning him as may be required by said regulations, and shall deliver to the said officer the certificate of the proper consular officer of the United States at such port or ports touching the shipping of such alien member of the crew: Provided, That the master of any vessel who fails to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or to which certificates are not attached, as herein required, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the certificates required by this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 7. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to do administrative time prescribed by said section or to do that prescribed by section 38 of said act prevail need served, the deposit specified in rule 55 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman entering admitted from admission into the United States except the [redacted] vessel in which he arrived at the United States from the place outside [redacted] for landed elsewhere, or because of sickness or accident, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such alien's need of assistance in making the necessary arrangements for his departure, and then only under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or within such time thereafter as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any alien seaman who departs from the United States without a certificate from the master of the vessel on which he arrived, or from the immigration officer in charge of the port, stating that such alien seaman has complied with the provisions of this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not desert contrary to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 20. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Cuba, or Newfoundland any alien seaman who has been refused a landing by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so refused a landing, unless such alien seaman is admitted to the United States under a bond approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from any charge for the maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and for his deportation if he is subsequently ordered deported in pursuance of law, or unless such alien seaman is a member of a class which is not required to be included in the manifest of the vessel on which he arrived. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse to receive any alien seaman ordered deported under the provisions of this Act shall pay a penalty of $500 for each such refusal. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(b) It shall be the duty of the immigration officer at the port of arrival to report to the Secretary of Labor any alien seaman who has been refused a landing, and the name of the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived, and the amount of the penalty incurred under the provisions of this section. The Secretary of Labor shall have power to remit any penalty incurred under the provisions of this section whenever in his judgment such action is warranted, and his decision shall be final.

(c) The Secretary of Labor shall have power to prescribe rules and regulations necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this section.

(d) Upon final action by the Secretary of Labor in the case of any alien seaman who has been refused a landing, the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall be notified of such action, and if such alien seaman is ordered deported, such notice shall specify the number of days within which such alien seaman is required to be deported, and the vessel on which he arrived or any other vessel owned by the same interests shall be required to remove such alien seaman from the United States within the time specified in such notice. If such vessel fails to remove such alien seaman within the time specified in such notice, the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman not removed.

(e) If any vessel fails to remove any alien seaman as required by this section, clearance shall be withheld from such vessel until such alien seaman is removed, or the cost of removal paid, or a sufficient sum deposited to cover such cost, or a bond given to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor to indemnify the United States against such cost.

(f) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman employed on any vessel engaged in the fishing industry while such alien seaman is employed in such industry and is proceeding on a voyage which will terminate at a port in the United States from which he departed.

(g) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(h) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(i) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(j) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(k) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(l) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(m) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(n) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(o) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(p) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(q) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(r) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(s) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(t) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(u) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(v) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(w) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(x) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(y) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

(z) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of one year or more immediately preceding the time of his departure from the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the sufficiency of the bond offered, and no such penalty shall accrue if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel had no notice or knowledge that the alien seaman had been ordered deported at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white writing paper by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest mentioned in this section shall be signed by the master of the vessel or by the principal immigration officer at the port or ports (Form 688) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternative manifest is used, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which said vessel shall first arrive a complete manifest of all the passengers who may be on board such vessel, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered as directed by the Secretary of Labor and shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and the failure of any master to deliver such manifest at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at, or to make oath to the same before the proper officer, shall be unlawful and shall subject such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to a penalty of $10 for each and every alien not specified in such manifest, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the production of such evidence as may be satisfactory to him that the vessel could not have been detained for the purpose of examining any such alien or aliens specified in such manifest, or that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel could not have ascertained by the exercise of due diligence the facts which should be stated in such manifest concerning any such alien or aliens, and upon the payment or deposit with the collector of customs of the port at which such vessel shall arrive of such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $10 for each such alien, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether a penalty shall be imposed for the violation of the provisions of this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been paid, and not then unless notice of inability to do administrative fine prescribed by rule section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act, and the master has been duly warned.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention in the United States for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment, or because of shipwreck, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention in the United States for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment, or because of shipwreck, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any place outside the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall immediately report the arrival of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (either immediately upon arrival in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and shall thereupon cause such seamen (except those employed on such vessel during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival) to be detained on board until such inspection or to depart such immigration officer at the port or duly qualified to obtain such seamen on board until such inspection or to depart such immigration officer at the port of arrival, or to do so as shall be by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the payment of the penalty or the giving of the bond provided for in this section, or while any penalty incurred under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman shall not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrives in the United States from any place outside the United States, or, if such be not required by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, shall be brought to the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and such seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention in the United States for the sole purpose of obtaining treatment, or because of shipwreck, until such time as a certificate has been issued by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to the effect that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has complied with the provisions of this section as to such seaman, and such certificate shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at each port in the United States at which such seaman shall land.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have cause to believe that any alien seaman on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States is afflicted with any contagious disease, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at such port of the United States as he may designate, and such alien seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States except under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor shall have cause to believe that any alien seaman has entered the United States in violation of the provisions of this section, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken into custody and returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or to the country in which he resided and from which he came to the United States, at any time within five years after such entry, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws current at the time of such return.

(e) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such violation, and no such vessel shall have clearance granted it by the collector of customs while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof by the collector of customs.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the time his vessel is in any port thereof shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of this section relating to the giving of a bond, and upon the production to the immigration officer at the port of departure of the certificate of the master of the vessel on which he sailed, stating that such alien seaman has complied with the provisions of this section relating to him, the bond given for such alien seaman shall be void and shall be canceled.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall have cause to believe that any alien seaman has violated the provisions of this section relating to him, he may cause notice in writing to be served upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, requiring him to appear before a designated immigration officer at the time and place stated in such notice, and to produce such alien seaman for examination. Such notice may be served by delivering a copy thereof to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel, or by leaving a copy at the office or dwelling house of such master, agent, consignee, or owner with a person of suitable age and discretion, or by mailing a copy in a registered letter addressed to such master, agent, consignee, or owner at his last known address. Such notice may be served by any officer or employee of the United States authorized to serve the warrants of arrest issued by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this section, or by any person over the age of twenty-one years designated by any such officer or employee for the purpose. The return under oath of the person serving such notice, setting forth the manner of such service, shall be proof thereof. If such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall fail to produce such alien seaman for examination, he shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has exercised due diligence to produce such alien seaman, or that the failure to produce such alien seaman was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, and that such alien seaman has been lawfully removed from the United States or has been granted the privilege of voluntary departure without expense to the Government in lieu of removal.

I, _____, master of the _____ do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly to be taken aboard from any port or place during my present voyage. I, ... of the ..... do declare that the foregoing and full and true list of all the crew brought in said vessel from said port or place named as present vessel is correct in every particular, and that I have made a careful examination of the crew and have satisfied myself that each person named in said list is a bona fide member of the crew of said vessel.

I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from application B, rule 7, and copy of sections 21 and 25, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Sworn to before me this ..... day of ..... 19..

..... Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below is prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and is ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the port of sailing. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 586) must be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an alien arrives at a seaport "coastwise" a duplicate list must be made on the manifest.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all the persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or those in the steerage, and whether citizens of the United States or aliens, who may be found on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared in such manner and form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; and the master of such vessel shall subscribe and deliver to such inspector a like list or manifest, which shall be sworn to before such inspector, and shall contain a statement of the number of citizens of the United States and aliens on board such vessel, the number of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, the number who have been lawfully naturalized, and the number who have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, and such other information pertaining to the identity and status of the persons named in such list or manifest as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be delivered to such inspector before any of the persons named therein shall be landed from such vessel, and the master of such vessel shall not permit any such person to land in the United States until the inspection of such person has been completed and the master has been given a permit in writing so to do by such inspector: Provided, That in case of sickness or accident or other unavoidable cause preventing the delivery of such list or manifest before the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States, the master of such vessel shall not be liable to the penalty prescribed for such failure if he shall thereafter and before such vessel shall have proceeded more than twenty miles on her journey deliver such list or manifest to the inspector at the next port of arrival in the United States at which such vessel shall touch, and shall make oath before such inspector that such sickness or accident or other unavoidable cause prevented the delivery of such list or manifest before the departure of such vessel from the last port outside the United States.

SEC. 21. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing into the United States from any place outside the United States any alien, except an alien member of the crew or an alien in transit through the United States, shall before such vessel departs from the port, place, or harbor in which such vessel arrives pay a tax of $8 for each such alien, which tax shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which such port, place, or harbor is located, and if not paid shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by the issuance of a warrant of distraint and seizure by the collector or any deputy collector of customs of the district in which such port, place, or harbor is located: Provided, That no such tax shall be levied in respect of any alien who is in transit through the United States directly from the place of his last residence to the place of his bona fide intended permanent residence and who establishes such fact to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided further, That no such tax shall be levied in respect of any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad: Provided further, That no such tax shall be levied in respect of any alien who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa issued by the Secretary of State or by a consular officer and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is entitled to the privilege defined in section 3 (2) of the Immigration Act of 1924.

(b) Every such tax paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel may be recovered from any person who was master of such vessel at the time the tax became payable hereunder.

(c) Every such tax, or any part thereof, refunded after it has been paid shall be recovered in the manner provided for the recovery of head taxes erroneously collected and paid.

(d) Every such tax shall be a lien upon the vessel in respect of which it is required, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive.

(e) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to refund any tax paid hereunder in error or in excess of the amount lawfully collectible.

(f) Every such tax shall be in addition to any head tax levied under section 2 of this Act.

(g) The provisions of this section shall not apply to aliens who have been in transit through the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Salvador, or the British West Indies, or who have been in the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Salvador, or the British West Indies, or who have been regularly admitted to

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be preserved on board the vessel as the property of the United States and delivered to the inspector of the district from which clearance is granted, or to the master of the vessel if no inspector be present at the port. Any list of changes in crew members occurring between the time of the vessel's arrival in port and the time of departure (from 958 hours (Form 958) shall be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no arriving aliens remain a "NONE" notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port of the place of sailing the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a list or manifest of all the crew members employed on board the vessel, showing the name in full, age, sex, calling, nationality, and last permanent residence of each alien member of the crew, the capacity in which employed, and such other facts regarding each alien member of the crew as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be verified by the master of the vessel, who shall certify thereon the fact of the delivery of the list to the immigration officer at the port of entry. Any master who refuses to deliver such list, or who knowingly delivers a false list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe such additional information to be shown on the list with respect to each alien member of the crew as he may deem necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws, and may prescribe the form of the list and the method of preparing it. Any master who fails to deliver such list or who delivers a false list, and any master who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board his vessel for the purpose of examining the crew or any part thereof, or who refuses to detain any alien member of the crew on board his vessel after notice that the presence of such alien is required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any alien member of the crew who fails to present himself for examination by the immigration officers at the time and place designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who departs from the vessel or from the immediate vicinity of the port of arrival without permission from the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall be deported as provided in this act. Any alien member of the crew who, after having been refused a landing permit, secures employment on board any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported as provided in this act. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the fine imposed, nor shall any fine imposed upon the master be remitted or refunded except upon the production of the certificate of the Secretary of Labor showing that the fine was imposed without sufficient reason or cause. Clearance may be granted pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for the remission of a fine upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(a) Every alien who is liable to be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who arrives in the United States from any place outside the United States by land in violation of law, or who arrives in the United States by water and is not duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who arrives in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officers, or who is found in the United States in violation of this act, or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he last came, as determined by the Secretary of Labor. If the Secretary of Labor shall not have determined that such alien may be admitted to the United States, or shall not have granted such alien a visa, if such be required by law, within one year after the date of the arrival of such alien in the United States, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided for in this act. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of any order of deportation made in pursuance of this act, or who shall enter, attempt to enter, or be found within the United States after having been excluded and deported in pursuance of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years. Any alien who shall willfully give false testimony or make false statement in any investigation or hearing of the Secretary of Labor touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or concerning any matter which may be material or relevant to the enforcement of this act or the administration of the Department of Labor in respect to the admission, exclusion, deportation, or detention of aliens, shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be punished accordingly.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws except temporarily to discharge passengers, or because he belongs to one of the classes of aliens not admissible, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent and for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, certified by the Secretary of Labor to require such treatment, or pending the removal of such alien by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or the steamship company on which he arrived, to a foreign port, or pending his certification by the Secretary of Labor to the United States commissioner of navigation as a substitute seaman in place of a deserter, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the question of whether or not he shall be granted a visa and duly admitted to the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) That penalty, character, nature, consistency, to the master of the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily to discharge passengers, or because of illness, injury, or distress, certified by the Secretary of Labor to require such treatment, or pending the removal of such alien by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or the steamship company on which he arrived, to a foreign port, or pending his certification by the Secretary of Labor to the United States commissioner of navigation as a substitute seaman in place of a deserter, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the question of whether or not he shall be granted a visa and duly admitted to the United States, except temporarily to land in the United States, except for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, certified by the Secretary of Labor to require such treatment, or pending the removal of such alien by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or the steamship company on which he arrived, to a foreign port, or pending his certification by the Secretary of Labor to the United States commissioner of navigation as a substitute seaman in place of a deserter, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the question of whether or not he shall be granted a visa and duly admitted to the United States, except temporarily to land in the United States, except for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, certified by the Secretary of Labor to require such treatment, or pending the removal of such alien by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or the steamship company on which he arrived, to a foreign port, or pending his certification by the Secretary of Labor to the United States commissioner of navigation as a substitute seaman in place of a deserter, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the question of whether or not he shall be granted a visa and duly admitted to the United States.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from a foreign port or place at which the crew, engaged, consigned, or shipped, or any member thereof, may be discharged, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or place at which the vessel shall first arrive a list or manifest of all the crew members employed on board the vessel, showing the name in full, age, sex, calling, nationality, and last permanent residence of each such crew member, and the capacity in which employed, and such other facts regarding each such crew member as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be verified by the master of the vessel, who shall certify thereon the fact of the delivery of the list to the immigration officer at the port of entry. Any master who refuses to deliver such list, or who knowingly delivers a false list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe such additional information to be shown on the list with respect to each alien member of the crew as he may deem necessary, and may prescribe the form of the list and the method of preparing it. Any master who fails to deliver such list or who delivers a false list, and any master who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board his vessel for the purpose of examining the crew or any part thereof, or who refuses to detain any alien member of the crew on board his vessel after notice that the presence of such alien is required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any alien member of the crew who fails to present himself for examination by the immigration officers at the time and place designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who departs from the vessel or from the immediate vicinity of the port of arrival without permission from the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall be deported as provided in this act. Any alien member of the crew who, after having been refused a landing permit, secures employment on board any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported as provided in this act. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the fine imposed, nor shall any fine imposed upon the master be remitted or refunded except upon the production of the certificate of the Secretary of Labor showing that the fine was imposed without sufficient reason or cause. Clearance may be granted pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for the remission of a fine upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(a) Every alien who is liable to be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who arrives in the United States from any place outside the United States by land in violation of law, or who arrives in the United States by water and is not duly admitted by an immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who arrives in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officers, or who is found in the United States in violation of this act, or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he last came, as determined by the Secretary of Labor. If the Secretary of Labor shall not have determined that such alien may be admitted to the United States, or shall not have granted such alien a visa, if such be required by law, within one year after the date of the arrival of such alien in the United States, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided for in this act. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of any order of deportation made in pursuance of this act, or who shall enter, attempt to enter, or be found within the United States after having been excluded and deported in pursuance of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years. Any alien who shall willfully give false testimony or make false statement in any investigation or hearing of the Secretary of Labor touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or concerning any matter which may be material or relevant to the enforcement of this act or the administration of the Department of Labor in respect to the admission, exclusion, deportation, or detention of aliens, shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be punished accordingly.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be preserved on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. The list of changes or alien members of crews (Form 589) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an arriving alien is a "nonalien," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all the aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born, where they were last permanently domiciled, whether they intend to enter the United States or to be in transit through the same, whether they have been previously in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether they have been in prison or almshouses or institutions for the care of the insane or supported by charity, whether they have a ticket entitling them to transportation to their ultimate destination, whether they have been deported, and if so, when and why, whether they are coming under contract or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor, whether they are connected with any religious denomination, and the calling and occupation of each alien. Such information shall be subscribed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel and verified by him under oath. Any master, commanding officer, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to furnish the information required by this section, or who knowingly furnishes false information concerning the same, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of examining the list of aliens employed thereon, or who refuses to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by any such immigration officer, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court: Provided, That the master of any vessel may appeal from the decision of the immigration officer to the Secretary of Labor within twenty-four hours after such decision is rendered, but pending such appeal the alien shall be detained on board or at such place in the discretion of the immigration officer as the Secretary of Labor may direct: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to land temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessity of procuring supplies or making repairs to the vessel, upon the master or agent furnishing a bond in such form and amount as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the return of such alien on board said vessel when she is ready to depart or upon the departure of such other vessel as the alien may be transferred to: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section requiring the return of aliens to the vessels in which they arrived from foreign ports in the case of aliens who are seamen employed on such vessels.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be ground for excluding such alien from the United States under the provisions of this Act or who has come in violation of law, shall be severally and jointly liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and the vessel may be libeled therefor in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of the port at which she may arrive or depart. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the penalty or while the question of remission is pending before the Secretary of Labor, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien who shall not appear before the proper immigration officer for examination or who shall depart from the United States from any place outside thereof (whether such alien has been admitted to the United States or not) without having been duly examined therefor, or who shall come to the United States at any time or place without being duly admitted by the immigration officers, or who shall remain beyond the period for which he was admitted by the immigration officers, shall be deported as provided in this Act: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention or deportation of any alien who shall have been admitted to the United States or who shall have been granted the right to depart from and return to the United States without detention, during the period for which such admission or right is granted, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have received information that the alien is unlawfully in the United States or has become a public charge.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any alien in the United States has violated the provisions of this Act, or is unlawfully in the United States, he may cause such alien to be taken into custody and conveyed to the port at which such alien arrived in the United States or to any other port in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and detained at such port to await the order of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That no alien shall be detained in custody longer than five days before he is given a hearing, unless for special cause and with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention in custody of any alien who shall have been admitted to the United States for permanent residence who cannot be found within one year after the cause for his deportation shall arise.

(d) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any final order of deportation made against him in pursuance of law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which he may be found, be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year, and, pending such deportation, shall be subject to arrest and detention as in the case of any other alien. Any alien arrested for deportation shall have a hearing before the Secretary of Labor or such officers as he may designate, and shall be deported only if found to be in violation of this Act. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any alien in the United States has violated any of the provisions of this Act, or is unlawfully in the United States, he may cause such alien to be taken into custody and conveyed to the port at which such alien arrived in the United States or to any other port in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and detained at such port to await the order of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That no alien shall be detained in custody longer than five days before he is given a hearing, unless for special cause and with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be ground for excluding such alien from the United States under the provisions of this Act or who has come in violation of law, shall be severally and jointly liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and the vessel may be libeled therefor in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of the port at which she may arrive or depart. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the penalty or while the question of remission is pending before the Secretary of Labor, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien who shall not appear before the proper immigration officer for examination or who shall depart from the United States from any place outside thereof (whether such alien has been admitted to the United States or not) without having been duly examined therefor, or who shall come to the United States at any time or place without being duly admitted by the immigration officers, or who shall remain beyond the period for which he was admitted by the immigration officers, shall be deported as provided in this Act: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention in custody of any alien who shall have been admitted to the United States or who shall have been granted the right to depart from and return to the United States without detention, during the period for which such admission or right is granted, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have received information that the alien is unlawfully in the United States or has become a public charge.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any alien in the United States has violated the provisions of this Act, or is unlawfully in the United States, he may cause such alien to be taken into custody and conveyed to the port at which such alien arrived in the United States or to any other port in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and detained at such port to await the order of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That no alien shall be detained in custody longer than five days before he is given a hearing, unless for special cause and with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or deserting any such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessity of procuring supplies or making repairs to the vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a certificate to the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel that the sum of $30 for each such alien has been deposited to guarantee the payment of any hospital expenses and the maintenance and passage money of such alien, if necessary, to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or people, or to the place from which he last entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or until it is definitely determined that no such certificate is required. Such deposit shall be refunded or canceled, or the bond given therefor shall be released, in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse to deposit the sum required by this section for the maintenance and passage money of any alien seaman employed on any vessel, whether such alien seaman shall desert or shall be allowed to depart from the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

(a) From funds in their account which may not be withdrawn upon the order of the master, agent, consignee, or owner, the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival shall pay to each alien seaman employed on any vessel, arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or deserting any such vessel, or to the consul general, consul, vice consul, commercial agent, or vice commercial agent of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, for the use of such alien seaman, the sum of $5 per month for the time he was employed on such vessel, computed from the date of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival to the date of the departure of such vessel from such port, or to the date of the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or to the date of the deposit of sufficient funds for the return passage of such alien seaman, whichever shall first occur. The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall furnish to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list of the crew of such vessel, stating the nationality of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, the amount of wages due to each such alien seaman, and the amount of deposit required by this section to be made for each such alien seaman. Such list shall be verified by the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, stating a description of each alien seaman, whether or not such alien seaman has been previously in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether he has been in prison or almshouses or institutions for the care of the insane or supported by charity, whether he has a ticket entitling him to transportation to his ultimate destination, whether he has been deported, and if so, when and why, whether he is coming under contract or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor, and the calling and occupation of each alien seaman. Such list shall be subscribed by the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel and verified by him under oath. Any master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to furnish the information required by this section, or who knowingly furnishes false information concerning the same, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of examining the list of aliens employed thereon, or who refuses to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by any such immigration officer, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear before the proper immigration officer for examination or who shall depart from the United States from any place outside thereof (whether such alien seaman has been admitted to the United States or not) without having been duly examined therefor, or who shall come to the United States at any time or place without being duly admitted by the immigration officers, or who shall remain beyond the period for which he was admitted by the immigration officers, shall be deported as provided in this Act: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention in custody of any alien seaman who shall have been admitted to the United States or who shall have been granted the right to depart from and return to the United States without detention, during the period for which such admission or right is granted, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have received information that the alien seaman is unlawfully in the United States or has become a public charge.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any alien seaman in the United States has violated the provisions of this Act, or is unlawfully in the United States, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken into custody and conveyed to the port at which such alien seaman arrived in the United States or to any other port in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and detained at such port to await the order of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That no alien seaman shall be detained in custody longer than five days before he is given a hearing, unless for special cause and with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien seaman to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien seaman to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien seaman shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) If the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel on which any alien seaman is employed shall fail to report the departure or the intended departure of any such alien seaman, or shall fail or refuse to detain any such alien seaman on board the vessel upon which he arrived in the United States until a permit has been granted for the departure or the subsequent landing of such alien seaman, or shall fail to pay the cost of maintenance and passage of any such alien seaman, or shall violate any of the provisions of this section, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that any alien seaman in the United States has violated any of the provisions of this Act, or is unlawfully in the United States, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken into custody and conveyed to the port at which such alien seaman arrived in the United States or to any other port in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and detained at such port to await the order of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That no alien seaman shall be detained in custody longer than five days before he is given a hearing, unless for special cause and with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the right of any alien seaman to enter, reside in, or be deported from the United States. Pending final decision, the Secretary of Labor may admit the alien seaman to bail or may, in his discretion and under such rules as he may prescribe, commit him to the custody of the immigration officers, authorize his detention at a Government hospital or other place, or provide for his parole into the United States subject to such conditions as may be imposed. No alien seaman shall be released on bail in a greater sum than $1,000 without security approved by the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list heretofore posted shall be produced upon demand by the Department and delivered to the officer to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of citizens of alien residents of Cuba (New) shall not be destroyed or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival; or, if no such officer be there, to the collector of customs at the port of arrival, or other officer in charge of the immigration office at which the vessel first arrives.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival then comprising the ports of all alien employees on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, who and where they were for-

as the case may be.

EXTRA FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

Provided, That a clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 here recited, duly verified, has been delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, or to the officer designated by section 25 of said Act.

EXTRA FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment to which he may be entitled by law, or for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a). The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing in the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman (which term includes a person applying for admission to the United States as a seaman, regardless of his ultimate destination) shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or if there be no immigrant inspector there, to the collector of customs, or other officer designated by the Secretary of Labor, before such alien seaman shall be admitted to the United States, a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer designated by the Secretary of Labor, or by any consular officer, while any alien seaman required by this section to be covered by bond remains on board, except the clearance papers may be granted prior to the departure of such alien, or after the payment of such bond, or a bond duly sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b). Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the customs district of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman on board such vessel, or a bond or cash deposit as a security, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(c). If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States may be unduly burdensome because of the financial condition of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or because of the lack of accommodations for the detention of such alien seaman on board such vessel, or for any other reason, he may, in his discretion, permit the deportation of such alien seaman to be effected at such time after the arrival of such vessel at a port as he may deem necessary, upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as he may require, conditioned upon the deportation of such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel which may be arranged for by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or upon the payment of the expense of the deportation of such alien seaman on any vessel or otherwise, and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(d). If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman under the provisions of subdivision (c) hereof cannot be effected, and such alien seaman has been granted a period of temporary admission, he may cancel the bond given for the deportation of such alien seaman, and in lieu thereof may require a bond in such amount as he may deem necessary, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States within such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or upon the presentation of such alien seaman within such time to a consular officer for the issuance of an immigration visa, or upon the application for and granting to such alien seaman of a period of temporary admission, or upon the deportation of such alien seaman under the provisions of section 19 hereof.

(e). If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman has been granted a period of temporary admission, will be unduly burdensome because of the financial condition of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or because of the lack of accommodations for the detention of such alien seaman on board such vessel, or for any other reason, he may, in his discretion, permit the deportation of such alien seaman to be effected at such time after the arrival of such vessel at a port as he may deem necessary, upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as he may require, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States within such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or upon the presentation of such alien seaman within such time to a consular officer for the issuance of an immigration visa, or upon the application for and granting to such alien seaman of a period of temporary admission, or upon the deportation of such alien seaman under the provisions of section 19 hereof.

(f). Section 32 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but remains in force as to all persons theretofore arrested, convicted, and sentenced for deportation under the provisions of said Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 583) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the inspection station as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and failure to deliver such lists may subject the master to the penalties provided by section 36 of the act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the destination of each such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be verified before the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer in writing as soon as discovered all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who have been employed thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted the vessel; giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and all such lists so required to be delivered shall be sworn to before the officer receiving the same. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any such list, or to report any such case of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master, or shall be guilty of any such alien landing with intent to evade any of the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the deportability of any alien employee when, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, such alien is not likely to abscond or become a public charge, and a bond in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor is given for the payment of such hospital expense, maintenance, or deportation as may subsequently be assessed against such alien: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien in alien seaman's dress who does not depart from the contiguous territory in which he arrives in the United States from any foreign port or place by the vessel on which he arrived, or by connecting vessel, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct. Any such alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this act, or who shall remain therein for any purpose for a longer time than shall have been granted him by the immigration officer at the time of his last arrival, or who shall have been arrested within three years after entry and shall be found to have been at any time subsequent to entry within the class of aliens who are subject to deportation under any provision of this act, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, and at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor may be required to be kept in custody or under bond pending the final decision as to deportation. Any such alien who shall be deported shall be ineligible to receive any visa and shall not be admitted to the United States unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not subject to deportation at the time of his last departure from the United States or that he was lawfully admitted for permanent residence at such time, or unless he shall have been specially exempted from the operation of this subdivision by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this subdivision or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this act shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. Any alien who shall be deported shall be ineligible to receive any visa and shall not be admitted to the United States unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not subject to deportation at the time of his last departure from the United States or that he was lawfully admitted for permanent residence at such time, or unless he shall have been specially exempted from the operation of this subdivision by the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived has been caused by the negligence of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or any of them, such vessel may be refused clearance from any port of the United States to any port until a sum sufficient to pay the cost of such deportation has been deposited to the credit of the appropriation from which such expenses are paid. Such deposit may be remitted in whole or in part by the Secretary of Labor if, in his opinion, the circumstances warrant such action.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been fur-nished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to such prescribed by section 36 of said act shall have been served, the deposit specified in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or for such other reasons as the secretary of labor may prescribe for the alleviation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States shall before any alien seaman employed on such vessel (with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before such seaman (which immigration officer or the secretary of labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such sum if there is deposited with the collector of customs a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof and the payment of any sum which may be finally determined to be due.

(d) Every such alien seaman who does not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and deported to the country from which he came, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have been refused admission to the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall furnish a bond or undertaking approved by the Secretary of Labor sufficient to cover the cost of such deportation, or unless such seaman shall be specially admitted to the United States by the Secretary of Labor.

(e) It shall be the duty of the immigration officer in charge at any port of arrival to report to the Secretary of Labor the name of any alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and who has failed to return to the vessel on which he arrived within the period of such shore leave, and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to report the name of any such alien seaman who has failed to return to the vessel on which he arrived within twenty-four hours after the vessel shall have departed from the port at which such alien seaman was granted shore leave. Any master who fails to report as herein required shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs.

I, ____, of the ____, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from and port or place quitted yet thereof outward. I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

____
Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this ____ day of ____, 1924.

____
U.S. Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of crewmen of alien nationality shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 528) and not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "stowaway" a duration to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively taken on board, and the intended destination of each alien. Duplicate lists certified by the master of such vessel to be true and complete in every particular, and verified by the oaths of such master and the surgeon of such vessel, shall be delivered by the master to the proper immigration officer at the time of the vessel's entry in the port of arrival; or if late conditions do not admit of such delivery, then such lists shall be delivered as soon as practicable thereafter, and before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs. Such lists shall contain such information touching each alien as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe from time to time by rules and regulations hereafter to be made by him. Such rules and regulations may require the masters of vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign ports to report and deliver lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessels who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel at a foreign port or place in the course of the voyage. Such lists shall contain such information touching each such alien as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe, and shall be delivered by the master to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, and before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs. Any master who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section or any regulation made thereunder shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while in default. Upon the refusal or neglect of the master of any vessel to deliver lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, or to make oath to the same, such master shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while in default. Upon the refusal or neglect of the master of any vessel to deliver lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, or to make oath to the same, such master shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while in default.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention for hospital treatment, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or for such other reasons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while in default. Upon the refusal or neglect of the master of any vessel to deliver lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, or to make oath to the same, such master shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while in default.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel departing within such time as the Secretary of Labor may require, not exceeding five days, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such seaman is unable to depart from the United States within such time, or that his detention is necessary as a witness, shall be taken before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and shall be examined under oath, and such examination shall be recorded. If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman, or that such cause him to be detained on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Malcolm Mac-Donald, of the Crown Mac-Donald, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in and from any port or place during the present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, contract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 41 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Master, First or Second Officer.

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form 588) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien "worksaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival three copies of a list or manifest of all the persons, including the names of all members of the crew, whether destined to the United States or not, who may be on board the vessel at the time of its arrival at the port, which list shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain the information required by the Secretary of Labor and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer, or, during his absence from any cause, the first officer or other officer next in command. Such officer shall also deliver to the said immigration officer a list or manifest of the persons, if any, who may have been taken on board the vessel at any foreign port or place and who are destined to the United States, which list or manifest shall be verified in like manner. Such officer shall also, at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry, deliver to the said immigration officer lists or manifests of the persons, if any, who may have been taken on board the vessel at any port or place in the United States and who are destined to some other port or place in the United States or to a foreign port or place, which lists or manifests shall be verified in like manner. Such officer shall also deliver to the said immigration officer such additional lists or manifests of the persons, if any, who may have been taken on board the vessel at any port or place in the United States and who have been temporarily landed therefrom, as may be required by the said immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry. The said lists or manifests shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain the information required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person acting in behalf of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the said immigration officer any list or manifest required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning the persons on board his vessel propounded to him by the said immigration officer, or who shall refuse to furnish to the said immigration officer, at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry, such information in his possession concerning the persons on board his vessel as may be required by the said immigration officer, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the said immigration officer, or who shall refuse to carry any alien back to the foreign port or place from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance and subsistence of any alien detained on board his vessel, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance and subsistence of any alien detained at the port of arrival by the said immigration officer, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance and subsistence of any alien ordered deported from the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person acting in behalf of any vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he could not have ascertained by the exercise of due diligence that such alien was unable to land, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so refused a landing or detained on board his vessel or for the cost of maintenance and subsistence of each alien ordered deported from the United States, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been duly signed, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 38 of said act, shall have been waived, the deposit effected in lieu of fine made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 12. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detention as such seaman by the Secretary of Labor, pursuant to the regulations as the Secretary may prescribe for the allowable deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, only into which to detain on board the vessel such inspected alien seamen (after inspection of all crew shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), pending examination by an immigrant inspector, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or until the alien seamen are otherwise lawfully landed therefrom, or such vessel departs from the port, or until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel pays to the collector of customs the sum of $18 for each alien seaman so detained, or gives a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman so detained, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the payment of such sum. Clearance may be granted any vessel notwithstanding the detention on board thereof of alien seamen pursuant to this section, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum or the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned as above provided by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States under the provisions of this section, or who was refused a landing from any vessel, shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on the vessel on which he was serving at the time of the discovery of his alienage or refusal to land, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation on such vessel will not be practicable or proper, or that the cost or expense thereof will be unreasonably great, or that such vessel is unseaworthy, in which case the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel or otherwise as he may direct, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained awaiting deportation and the cost of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be recoverable as such.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have ascertained that any alien seaman on any vessel arriving in the United States has been permanently separated from the vessel on account of illness, injury, or any cause arising prior to the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry, and has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival to be incapacitated for service on account thereof, and has been detained on board or landed for hospital treatment or otherwise, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall not be required to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, in respect of such alien seaman, and the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be returned to the country whence he came or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or of the owner thereof, or of the master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or security guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on the vessel on which he was serving at the time of the discovery of his alienage or refusal to land, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation on such vessel will not be practicable or proper, or that the cost or expense thereof will be unreasonably great, or that such vessel is unseaworthy, in which case the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel or otherwise as he may direct, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained awaiting deportation and the cost of his deportation shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and shall be recoverable as such.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have ascertained that any alien seaman on any vessel arriving in the United States has been permanently separated from the vessel on account of illness, injury, or any cause arising prior to the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry, and has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival to be incapacitated for service on account thereof, and has been detained on board or landed for hospital treatment or otherwise, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall not be required to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, in respect of such alien seaman, and the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be returned to the country whence he came or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or of the owner thereof, or of the master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or security guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members (Form 632) shall not be attached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien arriving at a seaport "overstays" a duration of time granted by the immigration officer at the seaport of entry (Form 632) shall not be attached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien arriving at a seaport "overstays" a duration of time granted by the immigration officer at the seaport of entry (Form 632) shall not be attached on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That from within a period of five years from a foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who go on board such vessel, showing the position each occupied on the ship, whether they were vaccinated or not, as far as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and while the vessel is in port no such master shall permit any such alien to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of accident, or by special permission of the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and such master shall also deliver to such officer a list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel, and the cause of the absence from the vessel of any such alien. Any master who refuses to deliver, or to cause to be delivered, such lists, or who refuses to allow any immigrant officer to board such vessel for the purpose of examining the same, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when required so to do by any such officer, or who refuses to deliver any such alien certified to be detained for special inquiry, or who refuses to carry any such alien to the port where such vessel first touched, or who refuses to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such alien while detained on board, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such default occurs, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while any alien employed thereon who is required by the provisions of this section to be detained on board is so detained, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry. Any vessel which shall have been allowed to depart from the port of arrival before the inspection of all the passengers thereon shall, upon the discovery of any alien not duly inspected, be immediately reported by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to the Secretary of Labor, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien not inspected, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the case upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry. Any vessel which shall have been allowed to depart from the port of arrival before the inspection of all the passengers thereon shall, upon the discovery of any alien not duly inspected, be immediately reported by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to the Secretary of Labor, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien not inspected, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the case upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry.

(d) Proof shall be taken, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, by the master or such agent of the vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such certificate, to any alien employed by the master on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States who shall desert or attempt to desert while in the United States, except seamen employed on such vessel during her stay in the ports of the United States.

(e) It shall be the duty of the immigration officer at the seaport of departure of such vessel to deliver to the master thereof a certificate showing the name of each alien who has been inspected and admitted to the United States, and no such master shall be granted a clearance for his vessel with such aliens on board until he shall have delivered such certificate. Any master who shall land or permit to be landed any alien on any foreign shore, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such certificate to any such alien entitled thereto, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while any alien employed thereon who is required by the provisions of this section to be detained on board is so detained, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry.

(f) Proof shall be taken, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, by the master or such agent of the vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such certificate, to any alien employed by the master on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States who shall desert or attempt to desert while in the United States, except seamen employed on such vessel during her stay in the ports of the United States.

(g) It shall be the duty of the immigration officer at the seaport of departure of such vessel to deliver to the master thereof a certificate showing the name of each alien who has been inspected and admitted to the United States, and no such master shall be granted a clearance for his vessel with such aliens on board until he shall have delivered such certificate. Any master who shall land or permit to be landed any alien on any foreign shore, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such certificate to any such alien entitled thereto, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while any alien employed thereon who is required by the provisions of this section to be detained on board is so detained, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry.

(h) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Labor to cause such alien to return on the vessel bringing him to the United States, except seamen employed on board such vessel, to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master of the vessel bringing him to the United States, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and the cost of his return passage shall be paid by the master of the vessel bringing him to the United States. If the master shall refuse or fail to return any such alien, or shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while any alien employed thereon who is required by the provisions of this section to be detained on board is so detained, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the final decision in the case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board of any alien who has been duly certified by the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection and before the vessel's departure from the port as entitled to admission to the United States, pending examination of his case by the board of special inquiry, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall have been notified that such alien is detained for special inquiry.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, steamboat company, or transportation agent, acting for the owner of the vessel in the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival full and complete lists of all passengers, including the members of the crew, who may be brought to the United States on such vessel, showing the following with respect to each: Full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination if any, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or by others or by what other person or corporation, whether in possession of money, and if so how much, whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or labor engagement, whether coming to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend and his name and complete address, whether going to join a society, club, or church, and if so what society, club, or church, whether a stowaway, whether ever deported or excluded, and if so why, whether going in pursuance of a prearranged plan, and if so by whom paid, whether ever in the United States military or naval service, and if so when, where, and in what organization, whether a member of the Mormon Church, whether a polygamist, whether coming in pursuance of a promise, agreement, or expectation of employment, and if so by whom, whether the person has been employed by the Contract Labor Law Division of the Department of Labor, whether the person has been in receipt of assistance from any charitable organization, and if so what organization, whether the person has a ticket through to his or her final destination, and whether the transportation was paid for by the person himself or herself or by others, and if by others by whom, the age, sex, nationality, race, and last occupation in the country from which he or she came of all persons in each family group, the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country from which he or she came, and the port at which he or she last landed in the United States, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, shall have been delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector, and the master shall have subscribed and sworn to the same before the officer to whom delivered. Such list may be corrected, altered, or added to before the departure of the vessel from the last port in the United States, and the master shall subscribe and deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of departure a list containing the names of persons who have been taken on board since the delivery of the original list, and the reasons why the persons named in the original list are not proceeding on the vessel. The list of persons so taken on board shall be sworn to before the officer to whom the original list was delivered. Such officer may, in his discretion, require the master to appear before him and make oath to the supplemental list. The master of any vessel who fails to deliver the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or to a fine twice as great as the amount of such penalty, but shall not be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or permits to be landed any alien (other than an alien seaman employed on such vessel duly cleared from the United States) who has been refused a visa by the consular officer to whom he applied for the same, or who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and has not been granted a hearing by the Secretary of Labor, or who has been excluded after a hearing by the Secretary of Labor, shall be fined $1,000 for each alien so landed, and may be arrested either before or after the departure of such vessel from the United States, and prosecuted to recover such fine. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel concerning which there is reason to believe that any violation of this section has occurred. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the application of this section in any case where such question is raised before the completion of the process of loading such vessel and the customs officer in charge of the port is notified of the existence of such question, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the payment of such fine as may be imposed after such determination is made.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall not be entitled under this Act or any other law or treaty to enter the United States, and every alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act or any other law or treaty, shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of the Act approved February 5, 1917, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he entered the United States prior to the passage of this Act and has since remained therein, or shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide alien seaman coming to the United States solely in pursuance of the business of his vessel and intending to depart therein, and is not likely to become a public charge, and that the cost of his return to the country whence he came is guaranteed by the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or by the steamship company or line operating such vessel, or that a sufficient sum of money has been deposited to defray the cost of such return, and that he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the country to which he intends to return, if such country requires passports and visés: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this subdivision in the case of any alien who was lawfully admitted to the United States and who shall apply within one year from the date of his departure therefrom for the privilege of returning thereto, if such alien is found by the Secretary of Labor to be returning in good faith to the United States for the purpose of residence therein and to be otherwise admissible.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the refusal of any country to receive such alien, or for any other reason, he may cause such alien to be detained at such place as he may designate pending the removal of such alien from the United States, or pending the determination of his right to enter the United States, or pending his deportation to some other country, and may release such alien upon his giving a bond, with sufficient surety, in such sum and containing such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or upon the deposit of such sum in lieu of bond, and upon such release may issue to such alien a certificate in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, identifying him as one who has been released under bond, and stating the conditions upon which such bond was released. Such bond may be declared forfeited by the Secretary of Labor for violation of any condition upon which it was released, and such sum deposited in lieu of bond shall be covered into the Treasury as a head tax collected from such alien. Any such bond may be cancelled by the Secretary of Labor, and any such deposit refunded, upon the departure from the United States of the alien in connection with whose release such bond was given or such deposit was made, upon proof satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor of the death of such alien prior to his departure, or upon his admission to citizenship.

(d) Every alien arrested in the United States under the provisions of this section shall be taken before the United States commissioner within the district in which he is found for a hearing, and the warrant of commitment issued by such commissioner shall fix a reasonable time within which the alien may obtain the release herein provided for. Pending the hearing before the commissioner and the execution of the warrant of commitment issued by him, the alien may be released from custody upon the giving of a bond in such reasonable sum and with such sureties as may be required by the commissioner. Any alien who shall fail to obtain his release on bond within the time fixed by the commissioner in his warrant of commitment shall be committed to the custody of the Secretary of Labor, and may be released from custody by the Secretary of Labor upon the giving of a bond or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the head tax and expenses of his maintenance during detention, or upon the payment of such head tax and expenses. Any alien who shall fail to obtain his release on bond within six months after the date of his commitment shall, upon the application of such alien to the United States district court in the district in which he is detained, be entitled to have his case inquired into by the court. The court may release such alien upon bail or may dismiss the proceedings against him, as the ends of justice may require.

(e) Any alien who shall be released from custody upon the giving of a bond as provided in this section, and who shall fail to perform any of the conditions of such bond, shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section, and shall be arrested upon warrant of the Secretary of Labor and taken into custody. Upon the production to the Secretary of Labor of such alien, the bond shall be declared forfeited by the Secretary of Labor, and may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States in the district in which the bond was given. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts of the United States to enforce the provisions of this section, and to recover the amount due upon any bond given hereunder.

(f) Every alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who are found to be in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law or treaty.

(g) Every alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who are found to be in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law or treaty.

(h) Every alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in the case of aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who are found to be in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law or treaty.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of ship membership shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (Form 638) but not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving, and such changes shall be noted on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively taken on as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner, before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner, to deliver to each immigrant inspector boarding such vessel a list containing the names of all aliens employed as crew who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel, which list shall show the name in full, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien who has been admitted or is applying for admission to the United States, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor; and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall furnish to each such inspector boarding such vessel a certificate stating the number of aliens, if any, who have been discharged from such vessel during the period intervening since the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, and the names of those, if any, who have been buried at sea during such period, and the reasons therefor. Such certificate shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the first port of arrival in the United States, and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall furnish a like certificate at the time of the departure of such vessel from each port in the United States at which such vessel shall touch prior to sailing therefrom for a foreign port. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner and upon such forms as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the forms shall be furnished by the immigration officers at the ports of departure in sufficient time to enable the masters to procure the same before sailing. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector boarding such vessel the list or lists of aliens required by this section, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the certificate above required, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure the certificate above required, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigrant inspector at any port in the United States the certificate above required, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of the Secretary of Labor relative to the information to be furnished by him, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a time report is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act remain open, after the deposit specified in rule 55 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman, certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall, before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and before such seaman is admitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board until such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure, pay a tax of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such direction upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof thereof by the collector of customs.

(d) Front shall an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the inspector, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such seaman as required by this section, but such presumption may be rebutted to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or plain memoranda pertaining to the list shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien desires to [illegible] "MOTEWAY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival their manifests of all passengers and members of the crew, respectively, who may be transported on board of the vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the vessel's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifically those of the said vessel who may be found on board or who may have been landed at any port in the United States, and such other information in regard to each of them as may be required by the rules and regulations hereinafter prescribed; and it shall be the duty of each master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien who may be found on board of such vessel, at the time of inspection by the immigrant inspectors, a card of admission, and to collect the same from each of such aliens as they are severally landed from the vessel, at the port of arrival, and before they are admitted into the United States, and to deliver all such cards so collected to the immigrant inspector boarding such vessel at the time of inspection. Before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each such immigrant alien, as soon as discovered, all cards in his possession intended for such aliens, together with a description of each alien, forthwith duly verified by him, information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien all such cards in his possession intended for such alien, and to require each of such aliens to write his name in the presence of such officer, and to sign his name to each of the cards so delivered to him, in such manner as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and to report to the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection the name of every alien who may have been found concealed on board, and the failure to report and deliver any such alien as herein provided shall be deemed a violation of this section on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines rendered by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been [illegible], and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 36 of said act pending need served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except such seamen (except such inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), after having been inspected such seamen (except such seamen who remain on board while such inspection or to deport such seamen if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do or, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of to who fails to detain such seamen on board while such inspection or to deport such seamen if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do or, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except after clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the outbound immigrant of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall remain in the United States for a longer period than the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, or who shall land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or all payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 583) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any alien signing articles as a member of the crew of a vessel at any port in the United States from which such vessel departs for a foreign port shall be subject to the provisions of the immigration laws relating to aliens coming to the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to any port in the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, or the Philippine Islands, or upon departure of any vessel from any port in the United States to any port in the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, or the Philippine Islands, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival or departure a complete list or manifest, signed and sworn to by the master, in the English language, of all the persons on board such vessel, including the master, the members of the crew, and cabin passengers, their nationality, last permanent residence, and destination, whether they have been naturalized, and if naturalized, the court, place, and date of their naturalization, whether they have been in the United States previously, and if so, when and how long, whether they have been deported or have ever been refused admission to the United States or have ever been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are coming in pursuance of previous engagement to labor in the United States, whether they have a ticket or passage paid by any person in the United States, the name and address of such person, whether they have in their possession more than $50 in money, and whether they are in possession of a through ticket to their destination. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses to deliver such list, or who fails to exercise due diligence to prevent the escape of any alien therefrom to the United States, or who connives at the landing in the United States of any alien not duly listed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. Any alien who shall not be in possession of a valid immigration visa at the time of his application for admission to the United States, unless he is specifically exempted from the payment of the head tax or from the immigration visa by the provisions of this Act, shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Any alien who shall be deported shall be ineligible to subsequently enter the United States, except by special permission of the Secretary of Labor, and

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector, possible the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 598) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the latter who are to be landed at the port of arrival; to place conspicuously on board of such vessel, and keep so posted until the vessel leaves the port, a description in such form as the Secretary of Labor shall direct of the requirements of this section as to the manifesting of such aliens, and to furnish to each alien employed on such vessel, at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, a printed notice in such form as the Secretary of Labor shall direct, containing a statement of the provisions of this section and of the penalties for violation thereof; and before the departure of such vessel from such port to deliver to the master thereof a certificate, signed by the principal immigration officer at such port, stating that the provisions of this section have been complied with to the satisfaction of such officer, and that he has given the master of such vessel the descriptions required by this section of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and that he has delivered to each alien employed on such vessel who was to be landed at such port a notice in the form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. It shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the name of every alien employed on such vessel who was not included in the lists required to be delivered before the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, and also the name of every alien who shall have been employed on such vessel and who shall have been discharged, and the cause of such discharge, from such vessel since the departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place, and the names of those, if any, who have been left behind sick in hospital; and a description sufficient for the identification of such sick alien, and the cause for which he was left behind, and the intended destination at the time of such vessel's departure from such port or place of each alien so left behind. Such master shall also deliver to such officer a certificate that the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not manifested by him as required by this section have been reported, and that no alien has been employed on such vessel except as stated in such certificate. Such master shall also report and deliver to such officer before the departure of such vessel from any port in the United States the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been left behind in the United States at such port, and the cause for which they were left behind, and the destination of each at the time of such vessel's departure. Such master shall also report the name of every alien employed on such vessel who shall desert while in port, and shall deliver to such officer before the departure of such vessel from such port a list containing the names of those deserters employed on such vessel who have not been reported as deserters and accounted for.

SEC. 37. That any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, if required by this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified as grounds for exclusion in section 3 of this Act, or who is an anarchist, or who is a member of one of the classes of aliens excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who is not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter the United States under this Act or any other law or treaty now or hereafter in force, or any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who has been refused a visa by the consular officer to whom application was made therefor, or who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be inadmissible to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be a member of the anarchistic classes mentioned in section 3 of this Act, shall be fined in the sum of $1,000 for each alien so brought, or in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor in such amount not exceeding $1,000 for each alien so brought as the circumstances of the case may in his opinion require, and may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding one year. Such fine shall be a lien upon the vessel which shall continue until the fine is paid or the vessel has been released under bond in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding the amount of the fine imposed, conditioned upon the payment of such fine as may be finally imposed. Such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart, and may be cleared from any port of the United States by the collector of customs, notwithstanding the pendency of such proceedings, upon the deposit with him of the amount of such bond or fine. Clearance may be refused to any vessel reported by the immigrant inspector at any port of the United States as refused a clearance on account of the failure of the master to report or deliver lists of aliens or to pay head taxes as required by this Act, until such lists are reported and delivered and such taxes paid, or a bond given for the payment thereof, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor on appeal. Such vessel may be cleared by the collector of customs upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(a) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place, and every alien who shall come in transit through the United States from any foreign country to any adjacent country, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and for the purpose of such examination the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel in which such alien arrives shall, when required by the immigrant inspectors, detain such alien on board such vessel or other vessel in which he arrives at such port until completion of the examination of such alien by the immigrant inspectors, unless such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall elect to take such alien to a station house or other place provided for the detention of aliens for examination before landing, and shall give a bond to the United States in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500, conditioned to return such alien to such vessel when required to do so, or pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated the sum of two dollars per day for each alien detained for such purpose after the first twenty-four hours of detention, unless the Secretary of Labor shall extend the time in his discretion, and in default of such bond or payment such alien shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens found unlawfully within the United States at any time after entry. Masters, agents, consignees, or owners of vessels may appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the immigrant inspectors, and pending such appeal the alien shall be detained as provided in this section. Upon the final decision of the Secretary of Labor that any alien so detained is entitled to enter the United States, upon payment of the charges for detention, if any, and the refunding of the head tax, if any has been collected from such alien, the bond shall be canceled and no further liability shall exist thereunder.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place, and every alien who shall come in transit through the United States from any foreign country to any adjacent country, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, and for the purpose of such examination the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel in which such alien arrives shall, when required by the immigrant inspectors, detain such alien on board such vessel or other vessel in which he arrives at such port until completion of the examination of such alien by the immigrant inspectors, unless such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall elect to take such alien to a station house or other place provided for the detention of aliens for examination before landing, and shall give a bond to the United States in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500, conditioned to return such alien to such vessel when required to do so, or pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated the sum of two dollars per day for each alien detained for such purpose after the first twenty-four hours of detention, unless the Secretary of Labor shall extend the time in his discretion, and in default of such bond or payment such alien shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens found unlawfully within the United States at any time after entry. Masters, agents, consignees, or owners of vessels may appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the immigrant inspectors, and pending such appeal the alien shall be detained as provided in this section. Upon the final decision of the Secretary of Labor that any alien so detained is entitled to enter the United States, upon payment of the charges for detention, if any, and the refunding of the head tax, if any has been collected from such alien, the bond shall be canceled and no further liability shall exist thereunder.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(d) Every alien who shall not be clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to land by the immigrant inspectors, or who shall be certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival to be inadmissible to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or who shall be certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival to be a member of the anarchistic classes mentioned in section 3 of this Act, shall be detained on board or at such place in the United States as may be designated by the immigrant inspectors until he shall be landed or shall be sent back to the country from which he came, in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or shall be sent within a period of one year from the date of the order of the Secretary of Labor to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, as the circumstances may require: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien to land temporarily for medical treatment, or may grant such temporary permission to any alien seaman who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival to be inadmissible to the United States under the provisions of this Act, as he deems wise, upon the deposit of such sum of money as may be required in each case by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival, not exceeding $500, to guarantee the payment of the head tax and the expenses of detention and the ultimate deportation of such alien, and upon the further condition that such sum will be forfeited to the United States unless such alien shall depart from the United States within such period, not exceeding six months, as may be specified by the immigrant inspectors at the time of the deposit.

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who has been refused a visa by the consular officer, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified as grounds for exclusion in section 3 of this Act, or who is an anarchist, or who is a member of one of the classes of aliens excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who is not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter the United States under this Act or any other law or treaty now in force, or who has been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival to be inadmissible to the United States under the provisions of this Act, shall pay a tax of $10 for each alien so brought, and in addition to the penalty of deportation provided for in section 37 of this Act, shall be liable to the penalty of $1,000 for each alien so brought, unless the master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer of the vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien was afflicted with any of such mental or physical defects or diseases, or was an anarchist, or was a member of any of such classes of aliens excluded from admission into the United States, or was not clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to enter the United States under this Act or any other law or treaty now in force, or could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien had been certified by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival to be inadmissible to the United States under the provisions of this Act, or could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien was not entitled to enter the United States under this Act or any other law or treaty now in force, and that a bona fide effort was made by him to prevent the bringing of such alien to the United States.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(i) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(j) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(l) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(m) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(n) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(o) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(p) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(q) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(r) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(s) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(t) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(u) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(v) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(w) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(x) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(y) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

(z) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have rendered a decision in such case within ten days after the report of the immigrant inspectors to the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may file with the Secretary of Labor a petition stating that such decision is unreasonably withheld, and specifying the facts in the case, and thereupon the Secretary of Labor shall cause inquiry to be made concerning the matters complained of in such petition, and render his decision thereon with all convenient speed.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the fines rendered by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been transmitted, and no such clearance shall be granted by any collector of customs when notified by the immigrant inspectors that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel refuses to deposit the amount of such fines as may be imposed by section 38 of said Act, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor on appeal, if such appeal has been taken, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified that the case of such alien seaman has been given special inquiry by a medical officer, and that such alien seaman has been found not to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified as grounds for exclusion in section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or any amendment thereof, or any other provision of law, and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has given a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrives or upon some other vessel within thirty days after the date of such certification, or upon the departure of such vessel without such alien seaman, if such departure occurs within such thirty days, and conditioned also to indemnify and save harmless the United States from any and all costs, charges, and expenses which may be incurred in the maintenance, detention, and deportation of such alien seaman. Such bond shall be in addition to any bond required by the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or any amendment thereof, or any other provision of law, and shall not be required of any alien seaman who is a citizen of a country which is a party to a treaty with the United States providing for the reciprocal exemption of citizens of the United States and citizens of such country from the requirement of such bonds.

(b) Every alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or other disposition of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), before any alien is landed on board such vessel for such inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor or the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated the sum of $10 for each alien seaman, and may also withhold the payment of such sum, or so much thereof as may be necessary, from the wages of such alien seaman, unless such master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman had, prior to the determination of the immigrant inspectors, been granted clearance papers by the United States authorities, or that such alien seaman had been duly discharged in a foreign port, or that such alien seaman had been in the employ of such master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer for a period of more than two years prior to the time such alien seaman arrived in the United States. Such sum shall be a lien upon the vessel which brought such alien seaman to the United States, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the United States district court for the district in which such vessel may arrive or depart, and may be cleared from any port in the United States by the collector of customs notwithstanding the pendency of such proceedings, upon the deposit with him of the amount of such bond or fine. Clearance may be refused to any vessel reported by the immigrant inspectors at any port of the United States as refused clearance papers until the payment of the head tax and the expenses of detention and the ultimate deportation of such alien seaman is provided for, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor on appeal, if such appeal has been taken.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list is changed so often that no form (Form 688) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternative manifest is used, the notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or the place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival there conveniently located on such vessel, a manifest the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, the capacity in which they are to act during the voyage, and the final destination of each of them, so far as the same is known by the master, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered in such form and manner as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and a list of the aliens employed thereon as the case may be, to the vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each immigrant alien a printed slip containing a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel, before it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigrant alien a further list containing the names of those who were employed thereon as the case may be at the time of the vessel but who left vessel prior thereto as the case may be, stating the cause of the departure of any such person from the employment of the vessel, and also the names of those, if any, who may have been left behind, and of those who may have been detained at the port of arrival for special examination, and the cause of such detention, and the final destination of each alien named in such list so far as known by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs until the master thereof has deposited with the collector of customs a bond in a sum sufficient to cover the head tax and the cost of the return of each alien who may be found by the Secretary of Labor, prior to the granting of such clearance papers, to be unable to land for any reason, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall have been relieved from such obligation by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 39. That any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required of him by section 38 of this Act, or who shall refuse to deliver to any immigrant alien any such list required by said section, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the Secretary of Labor, or to such person as he may authorize to receive the same, any such list or any part thereof, or who shall refuse to furnish to the Secretary of Labor, or to such person as he may authorize to receive the same, any information required by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of section 38 of this Act concerning any such list or any part thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer any question asked him by any inspector in relation to any such list or any immigrant alien carried thereon, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such refusal or neglect.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted over vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 10 to 20 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment to cure a curable disease, or for burial of a relative, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or by permission of the Secretary of Labor upon a certificate by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived that the cost of maintaining and returning such alien will be borne by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, or by the steamship company operating such vessel, or by the underwriters of the vessel on which he arrived, and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned upon the deposit of such alien, or within such time thereafter as may be prescribed, in such sum not exceeding $300 as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and under such regulations as he may prescribe for the administration of this section. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of any alien seaman on board thereof, but such inspection of or report concerning such alien seaman may be made and such certificate issued prior to the arrival of the vessel at a port of the United States as may be necessary to avoid undue detention of the vessel after arrival. Any vessel which shall have landed any alien seaman in violation of this section shall be required to remove such alien seaman to the country from which he came, or to any other country which will accept him, upon the demand of the Secretary of Labor, and shall pay the cost of his removal. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any regulations made thereunder, or with any demand of the Secretary of Labor for the removal of any alien seaman illegally landed, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of any alien seaman, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination in the case of any alien seaman as to whom the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has deposited the bond or undertaking required by this section in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, and shall be ineligible to subsequently enter the United States except upon such special warrant as may be issued by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Proof shall be upon the alien seaman who may apply for a visa as a seaman and who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, or who has been granted a visa and has been refused admission to the United States by an immigration officer, that he is entitled to be admitted to the United States notwithstanding the provisions of this section.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any information required to be furnished by this section is withheld by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, or that any such information furnished is false, he may cause a fine of not more than $1,000 to be imposed upon such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer. Such fine may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any information required to be furnished by this section is withheld by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel, or that any such information furnished is false, he may cause a fine of not more than $1,000 to be imposed upon such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer. Such fine may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Frank McMahon, of the SS. Caledonia do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly on said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 11 and 39, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of crew (Form 080) shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien member of crew is discharged from the vessel, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or the place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, charterer, or person in charge of the port of arrival [list continuing the manner of all] applied to and obtained, the descriptive [those to be handled in the port of arrival; it lists coordinate as those on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively] [illegible] landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of the said vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and all such persons shall be subject to the provisions of this Act relating to aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may thereafter be employed thereon as the case may be. It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who is not a citizen thereof to deliver to each such alien, before the departure of such vessel from the port, a card or paper containing the following information, written in the English language: Name in full, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and whether in possession of money, and how much, and whether the head of a family or not, and whether going to join such relative or friend or not, and whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, and whether a ticket has been purchased to such final destination, and who purchased the same. Any master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to each such alien the card or paper containing the information above required, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly any question concerning any such alien propounded by any such immigration officer, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above as aforesaid, to be recovered: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been transmitted or tendered: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of being rendered physically unable to proceed to sea during the period the vessel is in port, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except for such time as may be necessary to enable him to depart therefrom as a passenger, or to secure his discharge or transfer to another vessel, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any such seaman who is permitted to land temporarily by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be deported as soon as practicable in accordance with the provisions of this Act applicable to the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of being rendered physically unable to proceed to sea during the period the vessel is in port, shall be required to pay the head tax and the immigrant inspection fee imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, for each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has otherwise satisfied himself that such seaman is not subject to exclusion under the immigration laws, and has given to the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel a certificate to that effect, or has collected the head tax and immigrant inspection fee from such seaman. Such certificate may be withdrawn by the Secretary of Labor or by any officer in charge of any port of the United States at any time within two years after the date of issuance, and the head tax and immigrant inspection fee collected thereunder refunded, if application for such refund is presented to the Secretary of Labor or to the officer in charge of the port at which such certificate was issued within six months after the date of departure of such alien from the United States. Any such certificate withdrawn by the Secretary of Labor or by any officer in charge of any port of the United States shall be surrendered to the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel upon which such seaman arrived, and such master, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall be liable to the payment of the head tax and immigrant inspection fee in respect of such seaman in the same manner as if no certificate had been issued. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such head tax and immigrant inspection fee, or while any such head tax and immigrant inspection fee remain unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such head tax and fee, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned to pay the head tax and immigrant inspection fee if the same shall be finally determined to be due, and to indemnify the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel on which such seaman arrived against any loss or damage which may result from the detention of such seaman on board the vessel after the date of departure specified in the certificate issued in his behalf.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside the United States, except for the purpose of entering the United States as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain a certificate from the Secretary of Labor or from the officer in charge of the port at which such vessel arrived, and the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall be liable to the payment of the head tax and immigrant inspection fee in respect of such seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to report to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival then coordinate the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such officer to inspect all persons employed thereon, to ascertain the number of those who have been lawfully admitted to the United States, and to report the names of any such persons who, in his opinion, should not be permitted to land from the vessel. It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to furnish to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as practicable, all cases of deserters from vessels since the last preceding report, and also the names of all persons employed who were not employed when the vessel last arrived at a port in the United States, and the cause of the separation from the service of each person employed. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each person employed on board such vessel in respect of whom such refusal or neglect occurs. Such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose, upon a statement of the facts being rendered under oath. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in relation to the information required by this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and such data unless noted on manifest to the administrative officer prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, or any insular possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands), or the Panama Canal Zone, or the island of Cuba, or the island of Newfoundland, or the Dominion of Canada, or the Republic of Mexico, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to be entitled to land in the United States under such conditions as may be prescribed by him.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intending to depart therefor, shall, before such vessel departs from a port of the United States, deposit with the collector of customs at the port of arrival the sum of $300 for each alien seaman (white or colored) employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified to the collector of customs that such alien seaman has been duly accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or that the case of such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of by the Secretary of Labor. Such deposit shall be refunded to the depositor by the collector of customs at the port of arrival from which such alien seaman departed, or at any other port of the United States at which such alien seaman may be lawfully landed, upon the certification of such immigration officer that such alien seaman has been accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or upon the certification of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of in accordance with law. Such deposit shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien seaman (white or colored) employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified to the collector of customs that such alien seaman has been accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or that the case of such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of by the Secretary of Labor. Such forfeiture shall be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the payment of the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located while any such deposit required by this section remains undischarged, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival then coordinate the names of all persons employed on such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the payment thereof to the collector of customs.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to accompany the vessel upon her departure therefrom, or intended to depart therefor, shall be admitted to land in the United States under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to be entitled to land in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intending to depart therefor, shall be permitted to land in the United States under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intending to depart therefor, shall, before such vessel departs from a port of the United States, deposit with the collector of customs at the port of arrival the sum of $300 for each alien seaman (white or colored) employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified to the collector of customs that such alien seaman has been duly accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or that the case of such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of by the Secretary of Labor. Such deposit shall be refunded to the depositor by the collector of customs at the port of arrival from which such alien seaman departed, or at any other port of the United States at which such alien seaman may be lawfully landed, upon the certification of such immigration officer that such alien seaman has been accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or upon the certification of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of in accordance with law. Such deposit shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien seaman (white or colored) employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has certified to the collector of customs that such alien seaman has been accounted for in the manner provided by section 16 of this Act, or that the case of such alien seaman has been otherwise disposed of by the Secretary of Labor. Such forfeiture shall be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the payment of the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located while any such deposit required by this section remains undischarged, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to accompany the vessel upon her departure therefrom, or intended to depart therefor, shall be admitted to land in the United States under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to be entitled to land in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intending to depart therefor, shall be permitted to land in the United States under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury certified by the medical officer of the port, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such sickness or injury, or because of shipwreck, or to attend a relative dangerously ill, or to attend the funeral of a relative, or for such other reason of like character as may be prescribed by regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, nor shall any such seaman be permitted to land temporarily for any purpose unless specifically consented to by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and upon such terms as he may prescribe. Such consent may be withheld in the case of any seaman who has been certified by the medical officer of the port as suffering from a contagious disease, or who is afflicted with any mental disease or defect, or who is a member of the anarchistic class, or who is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, teaching, advocating, or suggesting any of the principles above mentioned, or who has been convicted of or admits the commission of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is a stowaway, or who has been deported within one year prior to his application for a visa, or who has been found upon examination by an immigrant inspector at the time of application for admission to the United States to be an alien who is ineligible to citizenship, unless he is a person of the exempted classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport or other travel document visaed by the consular officer for the country to which he intends to depart from the United States, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa is required under the provisions of this Act, or who is not in possession of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor issued under the provisions of section 9 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired certificate of identity and nationality when such certificate is required by regulations made pursuant to section 23 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States.

(a) The master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien seamen employed on such vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by said medical officer), and specifying (1) the nationality, last permanent residence, and present address of each alien seaman employed on such vessel; (2) the date and place of the last entry of each such alien seaman into the United States; (3) the capacity in which each such alien seaman is employed on such vessel; (4) whether each such alien seaman has been issued a certificate of identity and nationality, and, if so, the number, date, and place of issuance thereof; (5) whether each such alien seaman has been issued a visa, and, if so, the number, date, and place of issuance thereof; (6) whether each such alien seaman intends to depart from the United States, and, if so, whether as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived or otherwise; (7) the port for which each such alien seaman intends to depart from the United States; (8) the name and address of the nearest relative or friend of each such alien seaman in his own country; (9) whether each such alien seaman has been deported or has ever applied for admission to the United States, and, if so, when and where; (10) whether each such alien seaman is a polygamist; (11) whether each such alien seaman is an anarchist; (12) whether each such alien seaman believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or advocates the assassination of public officials, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, teaching, advocating, or suggesting any of the principles above mentioned; (13) whether each such alien seaman has been convicted of or admits the commission of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; (14) whether each such alien seaman is a stowaway; (15) whether each such alien seaman has been certified by the medical officer of the port as suffering from a contagious disease, and, if so, what disease; (16) whether each such alien seaman is afflicted with any mental disease or defect; (17) whether each such alien seaman is a member of the anarchistic class; (18) whether each such alien seaman is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; (19) whether each such alien seaman is a person who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government; (20) whether each such alien seaman advocates the assassination of public officials; (21) whether each such alien seaman is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, teaching, advocating, or suggesting any of the principles above mentioned; (22) the last permanent address in his own country of each such alien seaman; and (23) such additional information relative to each such alien seaman as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the efficient administration and enforcement of the immigration laws as to such seamen. Such lists shall be certified by the master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and by the chief medical officer of the vessel, if there be one, and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Such lists shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the original thereof shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and a duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the master of each such alien seaman at the time of his departure from the United States. The Secretary of Labor shall have the power to require such additional information to be furnished by masters, charterers, agents, consignees, or owners of vessels touching the movements of alien seamen while in the United States as he may deem necessary, and to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper execution of the provisions of this section.

(b) Every alien seaman shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act if he was at the time of his entry a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act, or if he has been convicted of or admits the commission of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude committed before his entry, whether or not he was sentenced therefor, or if he has been convicted of two misdemeanors involving moral turpitude committed before his entry, whether or not he was sentenced therefor, or if he was at the time of his entry afflicted with any of the diseases or mental defects which would be ground for the exclusion of an alien seaman under section 3 of this Act, or if he was at the time of his entry a member of the anarchistic class, or if he was at the time of his entry a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or advocates the assassination of public officials, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, teaching, advocating, or suggesting any of the principles above mentioned, or if he was at the time of his entry a person who has been deported or has ever applied for admission to the United States, and, if so, when and where, or if he was at the time of his entry a polygamist, or if he was at the time of his entry a stowaway, or if he was at the time of his entry afflicted with any mental disease or defect

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall on no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 588) shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an arriving alien is ordered "detained," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival three corresponding lists of the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the capacity in which they intend to land, which lists shall be verified by the oath of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to the effect that the same contain a correct list of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief no alien employed on such vessel has been left behind, except such as have been certified to the proper immigration officer, with the reasons for so leaving. Such lists shall be produced from time to time and at any time upon the demand of the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and additions shall be made to the lists of persons employed and of those who have left the vessel and the reasons therefor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person acting in behalf of such vessel who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to produce the same or any of them when demanded, or who refuses to make additions to the lists as herein required, or who refuses to make oath to the same or any of them when required, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year. The Commissioner-General of Immigration shall have power to remit fines and penalties incurred under the provisions of this section or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival three corresponding lists of the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the capacity in which they intend to land, which lists shall be verified by the oath of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to the effect that the same contain a correct list of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief no alien employed on such vessel has been left behind, except such as have been certified to the proper immigration officer, with the reasons for so leaving. Such lists shall be produced from time to time and at any time upon the demand of the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and additions shall be made to the lists of persons employed and of those who have left the vessel and the reasons therefor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person acting in behalf of such vessel who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to produce the same or any of them when demanded, or who refuses to make additions to the lists as herein required, or who refuses to make oath to the same or any of them when required, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not more than one year. The Commissioner-General of Immigration shall have power to remit fines and penalties incurred under the provisions of this section or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the allowance therefor, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, (other than Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the West Indies, Bermuda, Panama, the Canal Zone, or the Philippine Islands,) shall be required to detain on board the vessel such alien seamen employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen or until a bond has been given by the master of such vessel, in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman, to guarantee the payment of the hospital dues and the expenses of maintenance and treatment of such seamen provided for by section 32 of this Act, and to guarantee the deportation of such seamen if required. Such inspection shall be completed and the bond given, if any is required, within such time after the vessel's entry as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Upon the completion of the inspection of any seaman, the immigration officer shall issue to him a certificate to that effect, and such seaman shall be entitled to leave the vessel at any time after the certificate has been issued. Upon the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to produce any seaman for inspection or to deposit such bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, such seaman shall be entitled to leave the vessel, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall not be entitled to obtain the clearance papers for the vessel until the certificate of inspection of such seaman has been issued or the bond required by the Secretary of Labor has been deposited with the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been granted a certificate of inspection by the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be entitled to a landing permit from the Secretary of Labor, which permit shall be valid for such period of time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, not exceeding the period during which the vessel on board which the alien arrived remains in port, and such alien seaman shall be entitled to leave and return to the vessel without let or hindrance. Every alien seaman who has been granted a landing permit shall be entitled to a renewal thereof upon application therefor, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has reason to believe that the alien seaman intends to violate the immigration laws of the United States, in which case he may refer the application for renewal to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without a landing permit, or who shall remain in the United States after the period of time for which such permit was granted, or who shall violate any of the conditions of such permit, shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(e) It shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who shall be granted a landing permit to cause such alien seaman to depart from the United States on said vessel or some other vessel, and it shall be unlawful for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to refuse or fail to cause any alien seaman to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or to refuse or fail to pay the cost of the maintenance, detention, and removal of any alien seaman who shall desert or remain in the United States in violation of this section, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent such desertion or such failure to depart, or that such desertion or such failure to depart was occasioned by circumstances over which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer could have no reasonable control.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(g) The Secretary of Labor shall make such rules and regulations and issue such instructions not inconsistent with this section as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 4 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the detention of alien seamen for the proper safeguarding of their personal effects, for the disposition of effects of deceased alien seamen, for the relief of alien seamen in distress, or for the expenses incident to the maintenance, medical treatment, burial, and repatriation of alien seamen.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens required to be prepared in quadruplicate for each vessel arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port or place (888 Form) must not be destroyed or mutilated, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien arriving commences a voyage "coastwise" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port to which such vessel is destined and at which the immigration officers are stationed a list or manifest of all the aliens who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place, whether they are destined to the United States or not, and shall also deliver to the said officer a true list or manifest of all aliens who may be on board such vessel when she arrives from a foreign port or place at any port of the United States, which list or manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, and nationality of each alien who may be on board such vessel, the country of which he is a citizen, the last permanent residence of such alien, whether he has been in the United States previously and how long, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has the money with which to pay his passage, whether his passage is paid for by himself or by others, whether he is in possession of $50 and if not the amount he has with him, whether he is coming to join relatives or friends and if so what relatives or friends, whether he has ever been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the care of the insane or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or is opposed to organized government or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such belief, whether he has ever been deported from the United States or excluded and the cause therefor, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously arranged contract or offer of employment, and if so the details thereof, whether he has been convicted of or admits having committed any felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and whether he is coming to the United States for the purpose of performing any act for any purpose or benefit of the Government of any foreign country, state, province, colony, or subject thereof, and such other information regarding the history, character, and identity of such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest, or who refuses to detain any alien on board of such vessel when requested so to do by any such immigrant inspector, or who refuses to assist such immigrant inspector in the performance of his duties in respect to any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers while the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is in default under the provisions of this section. Upon the refusal of the master of any vessel to deliver such list or manifest, or to permit the same to be inspected as herein provided, or upon the refusal of any such master, agent, consignee, or owner to pay any fine imposed upon him under the provisions of this section, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse or revoke the clearance papers of any such vessel, and may, by himself or any officer employed by him for the purpose, go on board of such vessel and search for, detain, and examine, or cause to be detained, searched for, examined, and brought before him any such alien, and may issue warrants for the arrest of any such alien who may have entered the United States in violation of law, and may take such other steps as may be necessary to secure the proper execution of the immigration laws as to any such alien.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any vessel is about to depart from any port of the United States with any such alien on board who has not been duly reported, examined, and granted a landing certificate or permit, or against the provisions of this section, he may, in his discretion, forbid the departure of such vessel from the port until such certificate or permit is granted, and may employ such force as may be necessary to prevent such departure and compel compliance with the provisions of this section.

(d) Every alien who shall not be clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to admission shall be detained for a further examination and action by the board of special inquiry.

SEC. 37. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to return any such alien on any such vessel when required so to do as provided in section 36 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall knowingly bring to the United States from any place outside the United States, or who shall knowingly transport or aid or abet any alien to come to the United States, by means of any false or fraudulent papers, or by means of any concealment device, or who shall attempt to do any of the foregoing, or who shall conspire with any other person or persons to do any of the foregoing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) Any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to land in the United States at a place other than a designated port of entry or at a time other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall connive with any master, agent, consignee, owner, charterer, or person in charge of any vessel or any other person to bring to the United States any alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) If any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper immigration officers any alien brought to the United States on such vessel, or to detain such alien on board such vessel or at such place as may be designated by the proper immigration officers until a permit has been granted for the landing of such alien, or shall refuse or neglect to return any such alien on any such vessel when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, such master, agent, consignee, owner, charterer, or person in charge of any such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a true report of the number of such aliens as above provided, and no clearance papers shall be granted to any such vessel while any fine imposed under this section remains unpaid or while it remains subject to retention: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted over vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been duly verified, and not then unless notice of illness to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to such other time as may be allowed, in the case of any alien certified in lieu of a bond.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness or injury requiring his detention in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, but shall be deported in the manner provided in section 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country from which he came to the United States or to the country in which he resided before coming thereto, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

SEC. 20. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall bring to the United States any alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to return any such alien on any such vessel when required so to do as provided in section 18 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall knowingly bring to the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall knowingly transport or aid or abet any alien to come to the United States, by means of any false or fraudulent papers, or by means of any concealment device, or who shall attempt to do any of the foregoing, or who shall conspire with any other person or persons to do any of the foregoing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) Any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to land in the United States at a place other than a designated port of entry or at a time other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall connive with any master, agent, consignee, owner, charterer, or person in charge of any vessel or any other person to bring to the United States any alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) If any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper immigration officers any alien brought to the United States on such vessel, or to detain such alien on board such vessel or at such place as may be designated by the proper immigration officers until a permit has been granted for the landing of such alien, or shall refuse or neglect to return any such alien on any such vessel when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, such master, agent, consignee, owner, charterer, or person in charge of any such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a true report of the number of such aliens as above provided, and no clearance papers shall be granted to any such vessel while any fine imposed under this section remains unpaid or while it remains subject to retention: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 632) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board the vessel at the time of its arrival; or lists containing no names of such aliens, and the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof, and of such of the crew, agent, consignee, or master as may be ordered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, to report such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who may not have been reported as the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure; and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to and discharged, and of such aliens, if any, who have deserted or landed, and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to do so report either of the those, if any, who have been hired to and discharged, and of such aliens, if any, who have deserted or landed, and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to do so report either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom every such correct list is not delivered to or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be cleared thereafter during the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid: not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless boiler of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act, if same have been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 11. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or treatment to such hospitals as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ailments deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, failing to deport on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection of to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every such an alien seaman who not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrives in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be more reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

I, [illegible], master of the [illegible], do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly on said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

The list specified below shall be posted on board each vessel in addition to the list required to be posted by section 2 of the act of February 6, 1907 (Supplement, page 1213), and shall be posted in the place where it can be most readily seen by the immigrant inspectors. Any master of a vessel who refuses to post such list or who removes it from the place where posted before the vessel leaves the last port at which she touches before entering a port of the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917.

SEC. 36. That every alien physically capable and seventeen years of age or older who seeks admission to the United States shall be required to read the English language, or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, sufficient to enable him to read not less than thirty nor more than forty consecutive words in ordinary use, printed in such type as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and in default thereof shall not be admitted into the United States if that be his desire: Provided, That nothing in this section shall exempt from the requirements thereof persons who can show that they are seeking admission to the United States to avoid religious persecution in the country of their last permanent residence, whether such persecution be evidenced by overt acts or by laws or governmental regulations which prohibit the free exercise of religion or subject persons to persecution for the practice thereof; nor shall any such persons who are otherwise admissible be excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this act because they are unable to read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, if they can show that they are in possession of sufficient money or other property to enable them to become self-supporting, unless the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival shall be of the opinion that the person making such claim is likely to become a public charge: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall exempt persons coming to the United States to escape religious persecution who are in possession of sufficient money or other property to enable them to become self-supporting, unless the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival shall be of the opinion that the person making such claim is likely to become a public charge: *And

The law prescribes a penalty of $10 for each person who may be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place in violation of the provisions of section 2 of the immigration act of February 20, 1907, and the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place is liable to the payment of the penalty of $10 for each alien who may be found to have been brought in violation of said section, and such alien will be deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. The master of a vessel will be required to detain any alien on board his vessel who may be ordered to be deported by the Secretary of Labor, and will be required to return such alien to the port from which he came at the time he arrived at the port of debarkation. The cost of the maintenance of such alien while on board ship and the expense incident to his return will be required to be paid by the master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States.

The act prescribes before what persons and in what manner examinations of aliens may be made, and provides that the decision of the inspector in charge at the port of arrival may be appealed to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final.

Any alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his arrival in the United States from any cause not affirmatively shown to have existed before his landing therein shall be deported as provided by law, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly certified by a consul of the United States, or who shall bring into the United States any alien afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be deported in the manner provided by law.

Any person who shall encourage the immigration of any alien to the United States by knowingly making any false or misleading representations, either by word of mouth or by printed matter, for the purpose of inducing said alien to come to the United States, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall aid or assist any alien to enter the United States, knowing that he is not entitled to admission under the immigration laws, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall solicit or encourage the immigration of any alien by means of any indecent or immoral picture, print, book, or other publication, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any woman or girl for the purpose of prostitution, or who shall keep, maintain, or harbor in any house or place for the purpose of prostitution any woman or girl who has been brought into the United States, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien for the purpose of employing such alien in violation of the contract labor law, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall aid or assist any alien who is subject to deportation under the provisions of the immigration act of February 20, 1907, to conceal himself or to escape from the officers of the United States, shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been deported shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded and deported shall be deported as provided by law.

Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been arrested

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, entering, clearing, or touching at any port or place in the United States, except temporarily for inspection or detention or such other time as may be necessary for the performance of the vessel's business in port, shall be deported to the country whence he came, or to the country from which the vessel last departed, if deportation to such country is practicable, or to any other country willing to receive him, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, within five years after entering the United States from any place outside thereof.

SEC. 19. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment, pending deportation, in all cases where such treatment is necessary before examination by a medical officer at the port of arrival and thereafter in cases where such examination (after such treatment) is required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, for the alien seaman (after such examination or at any time after the port of arrival and before such alien seaman on board shall have been examined by a medical officer) to a hospital or other place designated by the Secretary of Labor, or to any duly authorized agent, pending such examination, and for the cost of maintenance and treatment, pending deportation, of such alien seaman in a hospital or other place designated by the Secretary of Labor, or to any duly authorized agent, pending such deportation, and for the cost of such deportation, unless the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, except those employed as members of the crew, shall furnish a bond or undertaking approved by the Secretary of Labor, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such bond or undertaking is furnished, and with such sureties as may be required to guarantee the payment of such cost of maintenance and treatment, pending deportation, and such deportation, and to indemnify and save harmless the United States and all officers thereof against any such cost or liability. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such cost, or while the vessel may be prevented by order of the Secretary of Labor from landing any alien seaman, except those employed as members of the crew. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the deportation of such alien seaman if security for the payment of such cost of deportation has been given as provided in this section.

(b) Funds shall be made available to the Secretary of Labor for the maintenance and treatment, pending deportation, of alien seamen who shall become public charges within five years after entering the United States, and for their deportation, in the case of those who become public charges within two years after entering the United States, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and for the expenses of such care and deportation, and for the cost of bonds given under this section, and for the employment of such additional medical officers, matrons, and other employees as may be necessary for the proper execution of this section, and for the payment of such rewards as may be authorized by the Secretary of Labor for the apprehension of deserting alien seamen, and for the payment of such expenses of prosecution as may be authorized by the Secretary of Labor, and for the payment of such witness fees as may be certified to be due by any commissioner, inspector, or immigrant inspector, and for the payment of such fees and mileage of witnesses as may be certified to be due by any commissioner, inspector, or immigrant inspector, and for the payment of such witness fees and mileage of witnesses as may be certified to be due by any commissioner, inspector, or immigrant inspector, in cases where such witnesses are detained at a place other than their homes, and for the payment of such

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the port to which the vessel is due. The list of persons on board the vessel at the time of its departure from the last foreign port or place of sailing for the United States must be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When no arrivals occur, a "NONE" is to be noted on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel in the United States to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each person who may be brought in such vessel, whether such person is a cabin passenger or a steerage passenger, and whether in possession of a ticket through to destination or not, the sex, age, and whether married or single of each person, the calling or occupation of each person if any, the name and birthplace of each person, the last residence of each person, the name of the husband or wife of each married woman, the name of the father or grandfather of each person under sixteen years of age, whether such person is in possession of $50 and whether such person has ever been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, whether such person is coming in pursuance of a previously existing contract, and if so, the name and address of the person who sent for such person, whether such person has been deported or excluded from the United States previously and if so, the cause for such deportation, whether such person is going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend and the name and complete address of such relative or friend, the ability of such person to read or write, the race or people to which such person belongs, the country of which such person is a citizen, the country from which such person last came, and the port at which such person landed in the United States, and such other facts regarding the history, character, and identity of such persons as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all persons who have been refused admission to the United States at any port of arrival during the trip, the cause for such refusal, and the date of such refusal, and shall also deliver to such officer a list containing the names of all persons who have been taken from such vessel and detained in the United States during the trip, the cause for such detention, and the final disposition of each case. Such lists shall be prepared in such form and contain such additional information relative to each person listed as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the matters required to be stated in such lists, or who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the lists required by this section to be delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to assist such immigrant inspector in such inspection, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district at which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like penalty if such lists are not made as above required; and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, such vessel may be detained until it is paid or a sufficient sum to cover such fine is deposited to answer the same, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine. Such penalty shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in the nature of proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company, or any person or corporation bringing any alien to the United States, except foreign-built vessels temporarily touching at United States ports and not embarking or debarking passengers while in such ports, shall be severally liable to the head tax provided for in section 1 of this Act in respect of each alien on board such vessel, whether such alien shall have been brought to the United States for transportation in pursuance of a previously existing contract or not, and whether such alien has or has not been admitted into the United States, unless such alien shall have been in the United States at the time of the last departure of such vessel therefrom, or unless such alien is a member of the crew employed in connection with the vessel and is detained on board while the vessel remains in port, or unless such alien is in transit through the United States and has a ticket to a foreign country, or unless such alien is an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, or unless such alien is a citizen of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Republic of Haiti, or unless such alien is a child under the age of sixteen years who is accompanying his father or mother who has been admitted to the United States, or his father or mother who is entitled to admission under this proviso: Provided, That the exemptions provided for in this subdivision shall not apply to any alien seeking admission to the United States who is afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities which would be grounds for exclusion under section 2 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa is required under section 3 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if such passport or travel document is required by the regulations of the Secretary of State.

(b) Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or fail to deliver forthwith to the immigrant inspector any list required by section 12 of this Act, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver forthwith to the immigrant inspector any additional information in his possession required by such inspector touching any alien concerning whom a list has been delivered, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board such vessel any alien whenever such detention is required by such inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver such alien to the immigrant inspector for examination or to the officer in charge of the station to which such alien is ordered for examination, or who shall refuse or fail to prevent any such alien from landing in the United States before the inspection of such alien is completed and the landing of such alien is specifically permitted by the immigrant inspector in charge, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district at which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question nor shall any such master, agent, consignee, or owner be entitled to the remission of the fine imposed, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that it was impossible for such master, agent, consignee, or owner to detain such alien on board or to deliver such alien for examination or that such alien was a member of the crew employed in connection with the vessel and was detained on board while the vessel remained in port, or that such alien was in transit through the United States to a foreign country and had a ticket to such country, or that such alien was a citizen of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Republic of Haiti, or that such alien was a child under the age of sixteen years who was accompanying his father or mother who had been admitted to the United States, or his father or mother who was entitled to admission under this proviso, and that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel could not have prevented the departure of such alien from the vessel without the use of force sufficient to do violence to the person of some officer or employee of the vessel, or that such alien had been admitted to the United States or that the vessel had left the port before the master, agent, consignee, or owner had been notified of the intention of such alien to land. Clearance may be granted before the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Art. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fines prescribed by section 36 of said Act prior to February 5, 1917, have been furnished, or bond has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, unless a bond in the penal sum of $500 with sufficient surety or sureties approved by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose, is deposited to guarantee the return of such alien seaman on board or to the custody of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on board such other vessel as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, upon the departure of such vessel from the United States. Such bond shall be forfeited in the event such alien seaman (while temporarily in the United States) becomes a public charge, or in the event such alien seaman is found in the United States at any time after the expiration of one month from the date of the departure of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will hereafter be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the port of arrival, but in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to whom transportation may be issued at the United States consulate abroad, shall be printed to read in the United States, except temporarily for the inspection of each alien from the United States.

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign port, but such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such immigration station in the United States as the immigration officers may direct, and the cost of his detention and of his return to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived. Upon the certification by the immigration officers in charge at the ports of arrival that any such alien seaman has been landed, and that security for the cost of his detention and return is not required, or has been furnished, the master of the vessel may be relieved from the payment of the sum provided for such detention and return, but no such certification shall be made as to any alien seaman who shall have remained in the United States for a period longer than five years before the application for his return is made. Upon the certification by the immigration officers that any alien seaman has been returned to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived shall be entitled to a credit for the amount paid for such return. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who is excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who fails to detain on board his vessel or to return to the country from which he came any such alien seaman, or who lands or permits to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, any alien seaman who has been certified for medical treatment by the medical officer of the port, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel may arrive a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers, pending the decision as to the question of the payment of the sum or sums required by this section to be paid, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the bond of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in such sum as the collector of customs may require.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be liable to the penalties provided in the immigration laws of the United States in the case of aliens who may be brought in as passengers and who shall desert while in transit through the United States to a foreign country, unless he shall satisfy the proper officers of the United States that he was unable from sickness or injury to proceed on the vessel, or that the vessel has been unreasonably detained, or that the vessel has been wrecked, or that he has been left behind by reason of the quarantine regulations of the United States, or that he has been left behind by reason of the immigration officers refusing to permit him to proceed on the vessel, or that he has been left behind by reason of the fact that the vessel has been sunk, burned, or abandoned at sea, or that he has been left behind by reason of the fact that the vessel has been captured by the enemies of the United States during the war with Germany, or that he has been left behind by reason of the fact that the vessel has been destroyed by the United States Government during the war with Germany, or that he has been left behind by reason of the fact that the vessel has been requisitioned by the United States Government during the war with Germany, or that he has been left behind by reason of the fact that the vessel has been sunk by the United States Government

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the boat is arriving, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of arrivals of alien passengers (Form 598) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "nonquota" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the alien's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the said aliens, forming part of the crew, who are destined to the United States, and the intended final destination of each such alien; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs until the master thereof has delivered to the said immigration officer a list of the aliens employed on such vessel, stating the number of such aliens who have been discharged in the port of arrival; the names under which they shipped and the names by which they are known on board; the ports from which they severally came to the United States and their intended final destination; and such other information respecting them as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver any list required by this section, or who refuses or neglects to report, or who reports falsely or incorrectly in any respect concerning any alien employed on such vessel, shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or reported; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, and in the event such fine is imposed, suits shall be instituted or reported: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel that the fines provided by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been imposed, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act, unless good security, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention for hospital care, or for such other reasons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof shall cause each alien seaman employed on board such vessel (while in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to appear before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for examination by such immigration officer or his assistant, and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention for such care, or for such other reasons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied as to the admissibility of such alien seaman in respect of whom such inquiry occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States in violation of the provisions of this section shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is necessary for the enforcement of this section, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived will be unreasonably great, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board or otherwise, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall pay the cost of such detention at such rate as may be fixed by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on any vessel without having been granted a certificate by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he was lawfully entitled to enter the United States, or who shall fail to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival within the time prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is necessary for the enforcement of this section, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived will be unreasonably great, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board or otherwise, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall pay the cost of such detention at such rate as may be fixed by the Secretary of Labor.

The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form 688) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port or ports of departure.

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry their counterpart the manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold on the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped, and the intended final destination of each alien so employed, and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, and specifying those to be landed in the port of entry; or that there is no such alien on board of such vessel; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs until the master of such vessel has delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry the counterpart manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, and has made oath before such officer that the manifest is in all respects true and correct, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief no alien employed on such vessel has been left behind, except such as have been reported to the immigration officer at the port of entry and such as are specified in the manifest as destined to foreign ports; and such master shall also report to the immigration officer at the port of entry the name of every alien who may have been employed upon the vessel at any time during her stay in port who is not specified in the manifest, and the reasons for the non-employment of such alien, and shall furnish such information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The master of any vessel failing to report, or making any false statement in relation to the employment of aliens, or to the reasons for the non-employment of any alien specified in the manifest, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may be found on board of such vessel at any time after the inspection of the vessel by the immigration officer at the port of entry, shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor, who shall thereupon have the right to cancel the permit to land granted to such alien, and cause such alien to be deported to the country whence he came, in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, and shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the customs authorized by law to grant clearance papers to any vessel until the full penalty imposed by this section has been paid or a sufficient sum deposited to cover the same.

(a) Upon the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry the immigration officer in charge of the port shall have the right to go on board the vessel and to question the master, officers, crew, and passengers, or any of them, concerning the right of any person or persons to enter the United States, and for this purpose to administer oaths and to examine the master upon oath touching the manifest by him delivered. Any person who shall knowingly make false answer to any question put to him by the immigration officer under authority of this section shall be deemed guilty of perjury and shall be punished accordingly.

(b) Upon the arrival of any vessel at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a complete and accurate list, in the English language, of all the crew employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold on the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped, and the intended final destination of each alien so employed, and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, and specifying those to be landed in the port of entry; or that there is no such alien on board of such vessel; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the customs authorized by law to grant clearance papers to any vessel until the full penalty imposed by this section has been paid or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof entered into with and approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that all the provisions of law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States shall be complied with in respect to every alien member of the crew employed on such vessel, and that such vessel shall depart from the United States without unnecessary delay, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination as to the landing of any alien member of the crew when such landing is necessary in order to secure the prompt departure of such vessel, and that such vessel shall pay the cost of maintenance of any alien member of the crew while detained in the United States pending the determination of his right to land, and the cost of his deportation in case he shall be ordered deported, which cost shall be a lien upon the vessel, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien member of the crew, or while any such alien remains in the United States after being ordered deported, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay such cost, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety for the payment thereof, approved by the Secretary of Labor. If any master shall refuse or neglect to deliver any such list required of him by this section, or shall refuse to any immigration officer the right to question him or any member of the crew concerning the right of any person or persons to enter the United States, or shall refuse to administer oaths to any person or persons for the purpose of such examination, or shall refuse to detain on board his vessel any alien member of the crew when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien member of the crew, or while any such alien remains in the United States after being ordered deported, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay such cost, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) Upon the arrival of any vessel at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port a complete and accurate list, in the English language, of all the crew employed on such vessel, showing the position which each member of the crew shall occupy on such vessel, and the nationality of each, and the intended final destination of each alien who may be employed on such vessel, and the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, and specifying those to be landed in the port of entry; or that there is no such alien on board of such vessel; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the customs authorized by law to grant clearance papers to any vessel until the full penalty imposed by this section has been paid or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof entered into with and approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that all the provisions of law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States shall be complied with in respect to every alien member of the crew employed on such vessel, and that such vessel shall depart from the United States without unnecessary delay, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination as to the landing of any alien member of the crew when such landing is necessary in order to secure the prompt departure of such vessel, and that such vessel shall pay the cost of maintenance of any alien member of the crew while detained in the United States pending the determination of his right to land, and the cost of his deportation in case he shall be ordered deported, which cost shall be a lien upon the vessel, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien member of the crew, or while any such alien remains in the United States after being ordered deported, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay such cost, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Upon such alien as shall have been granted the privilege hereinafter provided for of entering the United States temporarily for the transaction of business for a foreign corporation, or as a nonquota immigrant, or as an alien entitled to enter the United States solely to carry on trade under and in pursuance of the provisions of a present existing treaty of commerce and navigation, or as an alien coming to the United States solely as a bona fide tourist, or as an alien coming in transit through the United States, or as an alien lawfully admitted to the United States who shall depart therefrom temporarily, upon the application of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which he arrived, to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum and containing such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, to guarantee the departure of such alien from the United States upon the expiration of the period of the temporary admission granted him by the Secretary of Labor or by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and upon the deposit of the sum of $10 for each such alien, the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival may, in his discretion, issue to such alien a permit to enter the United States, which permit shall be in such form and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Upon the departure of such alien from the United States within the period specified in such permit, the bond shall be canceled without prejudice, and the $10 deposit refunded to the depositor. Failure to depart within the period specified in such permit shall render the bond forfeit to the United States, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, extend the period specified in such permit for the departure of such alien, upon the payment of $5 for each such extension. Such permit may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time, in his discretion, and the alien departed from the United States as in the case of aliens refused admission.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the refusal of any foreign government to accept such alien after due notice from the United States, or by reason of the failure of any steamship company or other transportation company to comply with its agreements for the transportation of such alien, or by reason of the inability of the Secretary of Labor to obtain passage for such alien within a period of six months after the date when he is ordered deported, then the Secretary of Labor may cancel the deportation of such alien, and thereupon such alien shall be entitled to the remedies and privileges of the immigration laws relating to aliens applying for admission to the United States.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless to any deportation as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate deportation of each alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, delivering to the immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a list of the persons employed on board such vessel, showing the name and last known permanent address of each person employed on board such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold on the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped, and the intended final destination of each alien, complying in all other respects with the provisions of section 10 of this Act relating to the manifesting of aliens employed on such vessel, and who shall make oath before such officer that the list is in all respects true and correct, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief no alien employed on such vessel has been left behind, except such as have been reported to the immigration officer at the port of entry and such as are specified in the list as destined to foreign ports; and who shall furnish such information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall not be required to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of entry the manifest of aliens employed on board such vessel, as required by section 10 of this Act, but shall deliver such manifest to the master of the vessel, who shall deliver it to the last immigration officer at the last port in the United States from which the vessel departs with passengers for a foreign port. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or who shall refuse to any immigration officer the right to question him or any member of the crew concerning the right of any person or persons to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to administer oaths to any person or persons for the purpose of such examination, or who shall refuse to detain on board his vessel any alien member of the crew when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien member of the crew, or while any such alien remains in the United States after being ordered deported, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay such cost, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the Secretary of Labor.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the refusal of any foreign government to accept such alien after due notice from the United States, or by reason of the failure of any steamship company or other transportation company to comply with its agreements for the transportation of such alien, or by reason of the inability of the Secretary of Labor to obtain passage for such alien within a period of six months after the date when he is ordered deported, then the Secretary of Labor may cancel the deportation of such alien, and thereupon such alien shall be entitled to the remedies and privileges of the immigration laws relating to aliens applying for admission to the United States.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless to any deportation as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate deportation of each alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, delivering to the immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a list of the persons employed on board such vessel, showing the name and last known permanent address of each person employed on board such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold on the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped, and the intended final destination of each alien, complying in all other respects with the provisions of section 10 of this Act relating to the manifesting of aliens employed on such vessel, and who shall make oath before such officer that the list is in all respects true and correct, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief no alien employed on such vessel has been left behind, except such as have been reported to the immigration officer at the port of entry and such as are specified in the list as destined to foreign ports; and who shall furnish such information in regard to such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall not be required to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of entry the manifest of aliens employed on board such vessel, as required by section 10 of this Act, but shall deliver such manifest to the master of the vessel, who shall deliver it to the last immigration officer at the last port in the United States from which the vessel departs with passengers for a foreign port. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or who shall refuse to any immigration officer the right to question him or any member of the crew concerning the right of any person or persons to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to administer oaths to any person or persons for the purpose of such examination, or who shall refuse to detain on board his vessel any alien member of the crew when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien member of the crew, or while any such alien remains in the United States after being ordered deported, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay such cost, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the Secretary of Labor.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien cannot be effected by reason of the refusal of any foreign government to accept such alien after due notice from the United States, or by reason of the failure of any steamship company or other transportation company to comply with its agreements for the transportation of such alien, or by reason of the inability of the Secretary of Labor to obtain passage for such alien within a period of six months after the date when he is ordered deported, then the Secretary of Labor may cancel the deportation of such alien, and thereupon such alien shall be entitled to the remedies and privileges of the immigration laws relating to aliens applying for admission to the United States.

Men on arriving vessels to sign "TWENTY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which or from which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied, or engaged, and specifying those to be landed in the port of arrival; it shall be the duty of such immigration officer, in which any such vessel shall arrive from any foreign port or place, to go on board of such vessel, examine the lists and ascertain the names of all persons who may have been left behind, and report the same to the Secretary of Labor with information thereof; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed then on board as the case may be, and specifying the cause for the detention of any alien who may have been left behind, and the intended movements of such alien, and to report the sickness or death of any alien employed on such vessel, and the cause thereof, and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, or in case any alien employed on such vessel shall have been illegally landed or left behind without the permission of the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and specified in the list required to be delivered by this section, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act prevail need entered, the deposit specified in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has entered on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as may render such alien incapable of proceeding to such alien's final destination, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from foreign contiguous territory, or any person who knowingly or negligently causes any alien (except an alien lawfully entitled to enter the United States upon the certification by a consular officer of a visa) to come to the United States in violation of law by any such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so brought, or for each alien who shall not be lawfully entitled to enter the United States upon the certification by a consular officer of a visa or who shall not have been duly admitted by an immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to be not subject to detention or deportation under any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, and in addition thereto a sum sufficient to provide for the maintenance of each alien detained from the time of his arrival until he shall have been finally admitted or deported or otherwise departed from the United States or shall have been granted a visa as the case may be, and for the return passage of each alien ordered deported, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by the Secretary of Labor or any person suing for the same in the name of the United States and shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the final determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending, not in excess of the amount of the bond hereinafter required to secure the payment thereof, and such vessel may depart from any port in the United States with the consent of the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or upon the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, such bond and surety to be approved by the collector of customs.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that a master has refused to obey the lawful order or request of any immigrant inspector or other officer in charge of the port, or any person in charge of the vessel on which an alien has arrived, in the United States, or any master who has refused to detain on board or at quarantine any alien when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any master who has refused to receive back on board his vessel any alien duly demanded by the master thereof who has been ordered deported from the United States, or any master who has refused to take on board such alien and return him on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any vessel which may be sailing between the port in the United States from which such alien was deported and the country to which he was deported, or any master who has refused or neglected to pay the expenses of such alien while in custody awaiting deportation, or any master who has refused or neglected to comply with the orders or regulations of the Secretary of Labor, such master shall pay a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or neglect, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien with respect to whom any such refusal or neglect occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the fine imposed, and in the event a fine is imposed, such vessel may be granted clearance pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for remission or mitigation of such fine, but no such application shall be considered unless and until the master shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the fine imposed in the case of each alien with respect to whom such application is made, and such deposit shall be returned to the master if the fine is remitted in full, but shall be applied to the payment of the fine in the event it is not remitted in full. Clearance may be granted such vessel pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for remission or mitigation of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to cover the fine and costs which may accrue, and upon the execution of a bond to the United States with sufficient surety in double the amount of such probable fine and costs, conditioned that the master will pay the fine imposed, or such part thereof as may be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor to be due, and will indemnify and save harmless the United States from any and all claims that may arise or be made against the United States on account of the refusal to permit the landing in the United States of any such alien, or account of his detention prior to the final determination of the question of his landing, or account of his deportation under the provisions of this act, and will pay all judgments that may be obtained against the United States in any suit or proceeding brought against the United States on account of any such alien, or on account of the refusal of the master to receive any such alien back on board his vessel or his employment thereon, or for the return of any such alien to any foreign port or place, and will reimburse the United States for any costs or expenses incurred in defending against any such suit or proceeding. Clearance may be granted such vessel pending the execution of such bond and the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the application for remission or mitigation of such fine, but no such application shall be considered unless and until the master shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to pay the fine and costs which may accrue, and such deposit shall be returned to the master if the fine is remitted in full, but shall be applied to the payment of the fine in the event it is not remitted in full. Clearance may be granted such vessel pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for remission or mitigation of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has entered on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as may render such alien incapable of proceeding to such alien's final destination, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from foreign contiguous territory, or any person who knowingly or negligently causes any alien (except an alien lawfully entitled to enter the United States upon the certification by a consular officer of a visa) to come to the United States in violation of law by any such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so brought, or for each alien who shall not be lawfully entitled to enter the United States upon the certification by a consular officer of a visa or who shall not have been duly admitted by an immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to be not subject to detention or deportation under any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, and in addition thereto a sum sufficient to provide for the maintenance of each alien detained from the time of his arrival until he shall have been finally admitted or deported or otherwise departed from the United States or shall have been granted a visa as the case may be, and for the return passage of each alien ordered deported, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by the Secretary of Labor or any person suing for the same in the name of the United States and shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the final determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending, not in excess of the amount of the bond hereinafter required to secure the payment thereof, and such vessel may depart from any port in the United States with the consent of the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or upon the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, such bond and surety to be approved by the collector of customs.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that a master has refused to obey the lawful order or request of any immigrant inspector or other officer in charge of the port, or any person in charge of the vessel on which an alien has arrived, in the United States, or any master who has refused to detain on board or at quarantine any alien when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any master who has refused to receive back on board his vessel any alien duly demanded by the master thereof who has been ordered deported from the United States, or any master who has refused or neglected to pay the expenses of such alien while in custody awaiting deportation, or any master who has refused or neglected to comply with the orders or regulations of the Secretary of Labor, such master shall pay a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or neglect, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien with respect to whom any such refusal or neglect occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the fine imposed, and in the event a fine is imposed, such vessel may be granted clearance pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for remission or mitigation of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the collector of customs to cover the fine and costs which may accrue, and such deposit shall be returned to the master if the fine is remitted in full, but shall be applied to the payment of the fine in the event it is not remitted in full. Clearance may be granted such vessel pending the application to the Secretary of Labor for remission or mitigation of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector possible the vessel is the port of arrival. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form 888) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "seaman" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port to which it shall be the duty of the master, steamboat companies, or transportation agents to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position or rating of each alien employed, and where each were respectively born; and it shall be the duty of such master, steamboat companies, or transportation agents to deliver to the Secretary of Labor such information in addition to the foregoing as he may require, relating to the movements of such aliens employed on such vessel, stating a description of such aliens, together with such information as may be in the possession of such master, steamboat companies, or transportation agents concerning the right of such aliens to enter the United States under the terms of this Act; and it shall be the duty of such master, steamboat companies, or transportation agents to report to such immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival all cases in which any such alien has deserted, and to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have deserted such vessel at such port since the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port, and the cause of such desertion, if known, and the last known address in the United States of such deserting alien. Any master, steamboat company, or transportation agent who shall refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties required of him by this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or to whom the permit to land has not been granted, or who has been granted a landing permit subject to the provisions of section 19 hereof, and in addition shall pay the sum of $10 for each alien who has deserted and in respect to whom a certificate of such desertion has not been delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure, or who has been granted a landing permit subject to the provisions of section 19 hereof, and who has not been reported as having departed from the United States, unless the master, steamboat company, or transportation agent shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that due diligence has been exercised in attempting to prevent the desertion of such alien, and that the failure to report such desertion was occasioned by sickness or injury of such alien, or by reason of his detention by reason of his having been permitted to land temporarily or otherwise, or that such alien is dead: Provided, That clearance shall not be withheld by reason of the failure of the master to deliver the list herein required in the case of any alien who shall have been a member of the crew of such vessel when she arrived at a port in the United States if such alien shall have been certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as a seaman specially employed by the month to perform certain work when in port, and as not destined to the United States, and who shall have been issued a certificate to that effect by the United States Commissioner-General of Immigration, which certificate shall be delivered to the master, steamboat company, or transportation agent, to be produced by him upon the inspection of the vessel at each port in the United States at which it may touch before departure therefrom, and who shall have been entered on the list of the crew of such vessel when she departed from her last foreign port or place: Provided further, That clearance shall not be withheld by reason of the failure of the master to deliver the list herein required in the case of any alien who shall have been a member of the crew of such vessel when she arrived at a port in the United States if such alien shall have been duly certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the last foreign port or place from which the vessel departed as being ill and unable to proceed to sea with the vessel without serious danger to his life, and who shall have been left behind in a hospital in such port or place, and a certificate to that effect shall have been issued by such medical officer to the master of the vessel: Provided further, That the master of any vessel who shall have complied with the provisions of this section relative to the list of the crew shall not be required to deliver a list containing the names of persons who may have been employed on board such vessel as members of the crew after her departure from the last port in the United States.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to do so satisfactorily explained, has been received from the administrative official prescribed by section 32 of said act, except as provided in rule 22 and rule 23.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be inserted on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the port. When an alleged seaman is in fact an immigrant, the master of the vessel is subject to the penalties of section 2 of the act of February 26, 1903 (32 Stat. 1213), as amended by section 1 of the act of March 4, 1907 (34 Stat. 1228).

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if any of the crew, except officers, connected, or seamen rejected by the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, have contracted the disease in the port, or if any such seamen have been on board of any vessel which has been within any infected area, as defined by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, during the period of the quarantine period from the date of sailing from such infected area, such vessel shall be detained in the port at the discretion of the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and such seamen shall be detained on board or in such hospital as may be designated by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, or by such other officer as the Secretary of Labor may designate, for such period as may be necessary for the treatment of such seamen and the disinfection of their quarters and personal effects: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any of the crew of any vessel, including those afflicted with any of the diseases above mentioned, to land temporarily under such precautions as he may prescribe for the protection of the public health: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any of the crew of any vessel, including those afflicted with any of the diseases above mentioned, to land temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment
